The Governor has signed the warrant for the execution of Samuel Reigley, in Westmoreland county, on Wednesday, the 20th day of January, for the murder of Joseph Kerr.

EXTRA TRAIN.—The Mail train ran an extra trip on New Year's day, an accommodation which many of our citizens enjoyed in a ride over the road.

WATCH MEETING.—A watch meeting was held in the M. E. Church, in this place, on New Years eve. The services were conducted by Revs. A. D. YOUNG and Wm. H. DILL, and were very impressive and affecting.

The Governor has signed the warrant for the execution of Samuel Reigley, in Westmoreland county, on Wednesday, the 20th day of January, for the murder of Joseph Kerr.

EXTRA TRAIN.—The Mail train ran an extra trip on New Year's day, an accommodation which many of our citizens enjoyed in a ride over the road.

AN OPPORTUNITY.—A. L. SHAW, respectfully informs the public that he has a few elegant articles of dress, including a coat, which he will sell at a reduced price in order to clear out. This is a rare opportunity for obtaining these beautiful articles, as they will be sold very low.

We have it from hear-say, but do not give it as a fact, that Cranwell, daughter, for many years a resident of New Washington, and whose parents removed to Virginia, died about ten days ago. Mr. Gallagher was well known to many citizens of this country, and to lumber dealers along the Susquehanna.

DR. JOHN B. MITCHELL, formerly of Bedford, and at one time Treasurer of Centre county, died at Chester, Delaware county, Pa., where he had been residing for some years, on the 20th ult., of gastric fever. His remains were taken to Lewistown, Pa., and interred there on Tuesday the 22d ult.

CHANGE IN PROPOSITIONS.—R. NEWTON SHAW, late proprietor of the Shaw House, in this place, has disposed of his interest in the same to D. R. FULLERSON, who will henceforth be found behind the counter in the office. "Ray's" is an accomodating fellow, and we have no doubt will fully sustain the reputation of the house. See card in another column.

A FAILING OFF.—The lumber shippon on the West Branch ran aground, for 1874, foots up at 12,678,527 feet at Williamson; 22,649,000 feet at Lock Haven; and 4,810,445 feet at other points between Lock Haven and Williamson. The total shipment for the year from the West Branch region, by rail and canal, to Det. 618, 1874, was 235,78,269 feet, a decrease of 4,977,429 feet, as compared with the same time last year.

DEAD.—Robert Wallace, Esq., father of Senator Wallace, died in his home in Wallaceburg, Saturday last, in the 83d year of his age. His remains were brought to New Washington, and are now resting in the vaults of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Professor has made himself famous throughout Europe and America.

"He gave the best entertainment we ever had in Pittsburgh." The St. Louis Republican says: "His experiments are now starting." We shall see him again. Admitance, 25 cents.

A LECTURE.—We understand that Maj. Gen. Klaproth, of cavalry fame, and one of the leading lecturers of the day, will deliver a lecture in Arnold's Hall, at Curwensville, on Friday evening, January 8th. His subject will be "American Platform Speaking." The lecture will be over in time to catch the 10 o'clock train east. Tickets can be had at Arnold & Hartshorn's store, in Curwensville. Admission, 25 cents; Reserved seats, 50 cents.

MARVELOUS ATTRACTIOM.—The vise and inviteable Prof. Miller, the world-renowned illusionist and traveler, will give one of his grand performances in Westmoreland on Friday evening, the 11th inst. The Professor has made himself famous throughout Europe and America. The Pittsburgh Commercial says: "He gave the best entertainment we ever had in Pittsburgh." The St. Louis Republican says: "His experiments are now starting." We shall see him again. Admitance, 25 cents.

OUR RAILROAD EXTENSION.—The first passenger train passed over the extension of the Tyrone & Clearfield Railroad to Curwensville. Two trains daily passed over the road during the winter past, filled with passengers both ways. It gave up the river neighbors a taste of the "traveling hotel," and the arrangement of paying between the two places is decidedly pleasant and most profitable. Whatever enhances the prosperity of the one will not work injury to the other.

A regular time table for running the road is not before us; hence we are unable to state when the train will pass regularly over the road.

THE INVESTIGATORS.—The Clean Field County Teachers' Institute convened in the Open House last week, at our programs. Mr. Gregory and the teacher of our country are entitled to great credit for the talented display of this session. Although we had but little time to "sit" with the "schoolmen," we noticed remarkable progress in every stage of the proceedings. The lectures acquired themselves as only first-class lectures can, and the teachers followed them closely. We propose to lay the proceedings of this session in a book, before our readers next week, so as to give them more fully to appreciate the work of the local Teachers who are like mother—the ones they prefer their calling, the more perfect they become. Sleep is good, but practice is far better.

DISTRICT TREASURER.—Behaver will furnish a complete list of the names of the trustees elected to the office of District Treasurer in the several boroughs and townships of the county, at the last February election. The County Commissioners, two weeks ago, called a black bountiful, with a copy of the Act, to those elected, and we presume by this time all have been filled up, properly endorsed by the Auditors, and filed with the Prothonotary. The term of the old officers expired on the 1st day of December, 1873.

BUREAU OF REVENUE.—Treasurer,

DEATH OF THE OLIVER IRISHMAN.—Oliver Irishman, the white male child of Mrs. Philpotting, died suddenly at his residence in Morris Township, Clearfield county, on Thursday, Dec. 21, 1873, in the first building erected in Philpotting, on the premises now belonging to Dr. Ferrell. His parents came from Daley Ridge, Valmy, where Mr. Welsh learned the trade of blacksmithing. He returned to his native town, finally settling in Morris township. Clearfield county, about three miles from that place, where he had resided, the past forty years, suffering previously from the effects of a fall, from which, however, he had sufficiently recovered to go about, and to attend to his business. About two months before his death he had walked to the door of the kitchen, appearing in good spirits, and ordered his dinner, returning to bed. His wife, Mrs. Oliver, and his son, John, were present, and John, as usual, assisted his mother to bed. He died in the afternoon, and his wife, John, and son, John, remained with him until his death.

BUREAU OF REVENUE.—New.—Clearfield.—John J. Morgan, of Caldwells, and his wife, Mary, have just received a general assessment of Wagon and Cartage, Woods, etc., also Fall River Springs and Axles, which we offer cheap for cash. H. F. Bieler & Co.
