ABSENCE. RY BLLA WREELES Upon untradden places grass will grow, Time always marks its changes; This is the anddest, truest truth I know Absence estratges!

Dear hearts, wherein I held so warm a place, Ye cannot help forgetting! Ye cannot always think to miss the face My tears are wetting. The lives that seem to being around my user, And blossom but about one. Thro these long days of absence must have gr To bloom without me.

Ye thought the days would exermise.
And and when I departed.
But now again ye sing the olden song
All lightcome hearted.

SOUTHERN OUTRAGE MILLS. The committees recently sent by Congress to investigate affairs in Loni. siana and Alabama, are making sad havor with the agents who have been manufacturing Southern outrages for oniginal pesigns in Terra cotta church of which he was a trustee and With improved machinery, first class manufall and said skilled workness, we can warrant all our manufactures to be equal in if not suparior to any in the market.

brokecessors. This one is also likely to prove a failure.

Below will be found some extracts, taken from the report of the committee sont to Alabama, to which we call the attention of our readers. The testimony of the witnesses does not read much like "White League intimidation," but precisely the reverse. Democrats are estracized by the church, in the way of marriage socially and in every other way possible. And yet the agents of Grant's drunken Attorney-General keep an outrage mill running in every counts, ty down South, for the purpose of determined the content of this country since the Government of this country since the Government of this country since the down and all the arts that dorn and embellish civilized life.

In this business, as in all others the first thing to do is to discover mist takes, and then remedy them. Until within a hundred years it is a very doubtful matter whether the world had, for two thousand years, made any to his regal papa's arms in high dudg con. When Gov. Curtin was re-cailed from St. Petersburg, at the expiration his ministerial term of office, the Carr and the Emproes saked the Minister to take their kindest regards to the people of the United States. The force the was cultivated even fifty years ago.

One great drawback to the diffusion of correct views on this subject is the same drawback we meet with in disseminating truths on all others that adorn and embellish civilized life.

In this busines, as in all others the first thing to do is to discover mist takes, and then remedy them.
