WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1876 THE BONG OF THE CENTURY I'm houry and old, and my race is most run;
"Twill end on the Pourth of July;
And here I'll recount all the deeds I have done.
That their memory never may die;
For I've been as busy as busy could be,
Working wonders from first to the last;
Doing more for maniford, as you plainly may a
Than ten of the centuries past.

When I owne on the stage, this nation was low
And things were most sailly confused;
The mother was dealing the daughter a blow,
And each thought their rights were abus
But suce the young eagle arose in his might,
And the lien growled back is his lair;
And the flag of the free, bathed in Heaven's o
light,
Was proudly flung out to the air.

A people arms so make and free,
That the nations stead gazing in doubt,
And Kings, in derision, were waiting to see
The problem of freedom worked out.
Soon the fame of our glory was apread in wide,
As a refuge for all the oppressed;
And the weary once came to our shores
And found here a haven of rest.

To build up the nation I gave them the size,
Where the miner might dig out the gold;
And awift to the west rush'd a venturescene ors
With visions of riches untold.
I built up large cities, and opened wide marts
For the traffic and trade of the world.
And orweded the harbors with ships from all par
That lay with their hanners unfuried.
