EXCELLENCE OF THE CANDIDATES. An exchange publishes the following: Governor Hayes was brought up in the Presbyterian faith by an uncle on his mother's side of the house; and appears to be a member of the same church, and to it, as he now, although not a member, attends the Methodist Episcopal church with his wife, who is in full communion. Governor Tilden is a Presbyterian, and has been a member of the Madison Square Church in New York city, until lately under the pastoral care of the Rev. Dr. Wm. Adams. Governor Tilden does not, like Governor Hayes, go to church with his wife, one reason being that his wife is unmarried. Mr. Wheeler is a member of the Congregational Church at Malone, N. Y., the place of his nativity and residence. He accompanied his wife as long as she lived to the same Church, but he has been a member of a short time. Governor Hendricks is the son of a Presbyterian elder, and has some relatives in the ministry of the Presbyterian church. He was reared in the Presbyterian faith, and might be expected, but his wife being an Episcopalian he has thrown aside the Confession of Faith and adopted the Thirty-nine Articles.

IT WILL BE SEEN, that if the history is a Presbyterian, and that Tilden and Adams are the most stable churchmen. Neither of them has ever changed his religion, but each one abides in the faith in which he was raised in youth. But Gov. Tilden is not entitled to any credit for retaining the same faith as his father, or he had no wife to turn away his heart from the principles in which he was trained in early life. Hayes and Hendricks have both bowed from Presbyterianism, and we do not wonder, being that the churches will give their apostasy.

A PRINTER'S DREAM. A printer sat in his office chair, his boots were patched and his coat threadbare, while his face looked weary and worn with care, while sadly thinking of business debt, old Morpheus slowly crept in, and the printer knew that he would sleep, and he dreamed that he was dead, from trouble and toil his spirit had fled, and that not even a cow bell tolled, for the peaceful rest of his couch. As he awoke, he found his boots and coat as usual, and he was not a bit wiser, but he dreamed that he was dead, from trouble and toil his spirit had fled, and that not even a cow bell tolled, for the peaceful rest of his couch.

TALKING TO HORSES--Horses cannot understand our language except so far as they are able to associate with it. To teach a colt to stop we must first pull on the halter or bridle and then say "who!" If he obeys, we should always cross him or give him something to eat, and thus continue until he is thoroughly trained. In the same way we should teach him to go, touching him lightly with the whip as we give the word. If he obeys, reward him with a pat on the head, and if he does not, whip him with the whip as we give the word. In the same way we should teach him to stop, pulling at the halter, or to reproach him for shying, and for a dozen other things, he should be taught to do them.

NO MOTHER. The other day when a stern and dignified judge ordered a prisoner to stand up and offer objections, if he had any, to being sentenced to prison for a long term of years, the prisoner rose and said: "I never had a mother to shed tears over me!" His words entered every heart in the courtroom. He was young, had had a mother's love, and he had been convicted of burglary, but he had never shed a tear for his mother. He was a mother's son, and he had never shed a tear for his mother. He was a mother's son, and he had never shed a tear for his mother.

FALL PLANTING. The question is often asked, when is the best time to plant fruit trees? We answer that the best time is in the fall. The fall is a season of comparative leisure with the farmer, and ample time is afforded him to prepare the ground, and to dig the holes for the trees, and to plant them in the most perfect manner. In the Spring a thousand jobs are pressing on the farmer, all demanding his immediate attention, and the orchard is usually deferred to the last, when every other crop must suffer loss by the delay.
