VENTILATING COAL MINES.

AN ACT TO SECURE THE HEALTH AND SAFETY OF PERSONS WORKING IN BITUMINOUS COAL MINES IN THIS STATE.
For some cause or other our legislators are constantly tinkering about mining, ventilation, etc., and yet few of the practically know anything about the subject matter. The following important bill was up in the House, at Harrisburg, on the 22d of January, and lay before our readers on the 23d of the same day. The bill is in the nature of an amendment to the law relating to the ventilation of coal mines, and is intended to secure the health and safety of persons employed in the bituminous coal mines of this Commonwealth.

ANECDOTE OF STONEWALL JACKSON.

Stonewall Jackson, at sixteen, was a constable of the county of Louisa, Virginia, with his uncle, Cummings Jackson, as his security. The first execution that came into his hands was against a widow living some twelve miles from the county house. Jackson summoned a man named Charlie Post to accompany him and to assist him in driving away the cattle which he proposed to levy upon. When he arrived there he found that the old woman had but one cow—the principal means of her support. So soon as he learned this, he turned to his companion and said: "Charlie, I will not levy this execution upon that poor woman's cow, as poor as I am, I would rather work night and day and pay the debt myself." Upon that he left there and stated the facts to his uncle, his security in his official bond. He listened to his narrative and then said: "Tom, I pay you never born to be a constable, my boy; resign your office at once, and I will pay the execution."

THE TOBACCO TRADE.

Although tobacco is produced to a great extent in several counties of this State, Lancaster is the largest county in regard to the quantity of this article raised. In Lancaster city alone there are ninety-two tobacco warehouses. The whole number in the county reaches about forty. The city is the headquarters of the trade, and from it the bulk of the tobacco is shipped. The tobacco firms who lay in Lancaster county spend annually there from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The buyers or packers run all the risk of purchasing the tobacco, and either make large or moderate profits or sustain great losses. The producers or raisers run no risk at all, except it may be in the failure of the crop or the gathering of a poor one, which seldom occurs. They receive their pay as soon as the tobacco is delivered and weighed in the warehouse, whereas the buyers or packers incur all insurance, the expense of storage and shipment, and must sustain the loss by shrinkage which is occasioned by the process of fermentation or sweating. The buyers or packers are also required to keep a record of the quantity of the farmers or raisers from whom the tobacco is purchased, together with the number of pounds bought, for the use of the Internal Revenue officers of the Government.

A SAD STORY.

A remarkable story of accumulating disaster is told in the New York papers of Saturday, which record the death, at the asylum for the insane at Poughkeepsie, of James H. Elmore, at one time a wealthy merchant, and a successful and successful operator in real estate. He was engaged in business in New York, but at the outbreak of the oil excitement became interested in the celebrated Noble well on Oil Creek, which brought him an enormous sum of money. He was a man of high standing in the community, and his death was a great loss to his family. He was a man of high standing in the community, and his death was a great loss to his family. of this act and of the penalty imposed thereby for such violation, and in case of such notice being disregarded for ten days, they shall institute a suit against the owner of the mine in the name of the Commonwealth for the recovery of the penalty, as specified in section 10th of this act; in any case, however, where, in the judgment of the inspector of either district, delay may jeopardize life or limb, he shall at once notify the inspectors of that other district, whereupon they shall at once proceed to the mine or colliery where the danger exists, and if, after full investigation, they shall be of the opinion that it is necessary to suspend all work in and about such mine or colliery, whereupon said notice, if the cause appear to be sufficient, shall issue their writ to restrain any mine or colliery, and the same shall remain in force until the same is removed, and the costs of said proceeding, including the charges of attorney prosecuting said application, shall be borne by the owner of the mine or colliery.

PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN.

Whenever by reason of any explosion or other accident in or about any bituminous coal mine, loss of life or serious personal injury shall occur, it shall be the duty of the person having charge and control of the mine, to give notice thereof forth with to the inspector of the district, and if any person is killed or injured in the course of the investigation, the person so notified shall be held liable for the cost of the investigation, and the cost of such investigation shall be paid by the county in which the same occurred, in the same manner as costs of inquests held by the Coroner or Justice of the Peace are paid.

PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN.

The court of common pleas of any county in the proper district, upon the application of any person who shall be a resident citizen, setting forth that any inspector of mines grossly neglects his duties, or is incompetent, or is guilty of a misdemeanor in office, shall issue a citation to the said inspector to appear on not less than fifteen days' notice a day fixed before said court, at which time the court shall proceed to inquire into and investigate the allegations of the complainant, and to determine whether or not the said inspector is grossly negligent of his duties, or is incompetent to perform the duties of his office, or that he is guilty of a misdemeanor in office, the court shall cause to be declared the office of said inspector vacant and proceed in compliance with the provisions of this act to supply the vacancy. The costs of said investigation shall be the charge of the complainant, but if the court shall find that the charges are not sustained they shall be imposed upon the petitioners.

PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN.

Any person who shall be appointed to the office of inspector of mines, shall be held liable for the cost of the investigation, and the cost of such investigation shall be paid by the county in which the same occurred, in the same manner as costs of inquests held by the Coroner or Justice of the Peace are paid.
