Our Special column is decidedly interesting in a local point of view, and profitable reading to outsiders who want to save money.

Robins, bluebirds and base ball players have already put in an appearance in some portions of this State.

Rev. J. Kistler, of Tyrone, will preach in the Lutheran Church, in Clearfield, on Wednesday evening of next week, Feb. 28th.

There was a slight fall of snow in this region last Sunday night—just enough to make a right nice mud when the sun came out.

A dwelling house in Philipsburg, Centre county, belonging to and occupied by the family of Thomas Williams, was destroyed by fire on the 12th inst.

Wm. Reed has just returned from the east, and is receiving a fine assortment of new spring goods, especially in white goods, embroideries, carpetings, etc., etc.

As we go to press this (Tuesday) afternoon, the election of borough and township officers is in full progress. Who will come off finally "first best," is not very plain just now.

Judge Holt removed his family from his farm in Bradford township to Clearfield borough last week. He occupies the property owned by Mr. John Stewart, on Market street.

No services will be held in the Clearfield Presbyterian Church next Sabbath, the pastor being absent filling an appointment of Presbytery at the Bradford Church, in Bradford twp.

From the Altoona Sun we learn that Alexander Dobbins, of Hollidaysburg, has been appointed assessor of bank taxes for the counties of Blair, Bedford, Cambria, Clearfield and Somerset.

There was a large turnout at the Democratic primary elections for Lawrence township and Clearfield borough last Saturday afternoon and evening. There were 262 votes polled in the borough.

The oil excitement has not yet died out in this place. Keep it up until a test is made, and then, if a dry hole is the result, it will at least be satisfactory evidence that we are not on the oil belt.

Houtzdale and Osceola boroughs, in this county, have recently lost several citizens, they having gone to Texas to live. Blair county has also contributed a colony of immigrants to the "Lone Star" State.

Mr. J. A. Stewart, for a number of years past a resident of this place, took his departure last week for New Paradise, Lancaster county, where he intends to embark in the coal and lumber business. Success to him in his new home.

Five thousand three hundred and two postal money orders have been issued from the postoffice at this place, since it has been established as a money order office. It is a cheap, convenient and perfectly safe method of transmitting money.

Hon. Jas. T. Leonard, of this place, celebrated his 77th birth-day, on the 20th ult., by a family dinner party, at which were present five of his brothers and sisters. Their ages, including the Judge, aggregated 428 years, or an average of 71 years.

A cardinal red nose indicates a cheerful soul—so just look about you and see what a mighty cheerful set we are, anyhow. Then get at it and read T. A. Fleck & Co.'s advertisement in today's REPUBLICAN, and see what bargains they offer to purchasers of their new spring goods.

The dwelling house of Dr. Hafer, in Osceola, was burned down last Friday night, the 16th inst., and on Saturday last, the 17th inst., the dwelling of Andrew Kephart, in Decatur township, was also destroyed by fire. We have no particulars in regard to either of these fires.

Mrs. Susan Fleming and Mrs. Mina Stone were voted for at Curwensville yesterday for School Directors. Their opponents were Daniel Faust and S. J. Gates. Who are the successful parties it is yet too soon to chronicle. We hope the ladies succeeded in making the rifle.

The arbitration suit between J. W. Kizer vs. J. M. Ellis & Son was concluded in this place last week, the arbitrators making an award of $1,400 in favor of Mr. Kizer. This is, we believe, the second award that has been given in favor of the plaintiff in this same suit. The parties all reside at Osceola.

Petitions are in circulation throughout this county, praying the Legislature to re-enact the Local Option Law. Hundreds of these petitions from different parts of the State have already been presented to the Legislature; but what action that body will take in the matter remains to be seen.

A series of meetings were commenced in the Presbyterian Church at Curwensville on last Monday evening, under the direction of Rev. Henry S. Butler, of this place, who will be assisted a portion of the time by Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Birmingham, Pa. The meetings will be continued throughout the present week, and longer, if deemed necessary.

The scarcity of potatoes, which has been growing more and more marked as the season advanced, is due not to any desire to "corner" the market, but to the fact that the crop was a light one, and the larger share of those on hand are held back for the spring planting. The potato-rotting frost and the drought afterward played sad havoc with the crop, and the excessively cold weather of the winter has done much to injure those on hand. But the crop in Canada was excellent, and shipments from that place have commenced. A steamer arrived at Philadelphia one day last week with 68,400 bushels of potatoes on board, the product of Ireland, Scotland and England, and $2.45 per bushel was asked for them when put on the market. The main trouble will be that potatoes will command a high price all the season and until a new crop comes in, but beyond this advance there need be no fear.

List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Postoffice at Clearfield, for the week ending February 19, 1877:

Joseph Brooks, Chauncey Robinson,
Peter Gearhart, George Richardson.

P. A. GAULIN, P. M.

RATHER SPIRITUAL.—The editor of the Warren Ledger, last week said that an impressive incident connected with the services in the Presbyterian Church, at Warren, on Sabbath, was the baptism of a lady with water from the river Jordan. She brought the water with her from Palestine some years since.

RESIGNED.—Adam Breth, Esq., residing at Ostend, who has been acting in the [illegible] New Washington, has sent in his resignation to Prothonotary Bloom in due time to allow the citizens of that township to elect another Justice in his stead.

The following new advertisements appear in this issue for the first time:—

Special Legislation—For a free bridge one and one-fourth miles east of Curwensville borough.

SOME ON TRAVEL.—We notice that one of the County Commissioners of Lycoming county traveled 4,018 miles during the past year, making his mileage foot up the sum of $251.12 and his time bill $312.50. In this county the Commissioners receive no mileage, while in many other counties this fee is allowed. The Legislature should pass a uniform bill, allowing all mileage, or else none.

A HOG STORY.—A correspondent at East Freedom, Blair county, sends the following to the Hollidaysburg Register: "Two men named Fred. Mosei and Daniel Jones, cut down a tree in Greenfield township, the other day, and on splitting it open they discovered in the part that was about seventy-five feet from the ground a living hog, weighing over a hundred pounds, which is still living. This can be proved by the parties concerned." Well, well!

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT.—The Greensburg Democrat says: "A very sad affair occurred in the Court room last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Jacob Walters, of South Huntingdon, who was in attendance at Court as a witness, had been called to the stand and had just taken the oath, when he sank down and was taken out of the room lifeless. He was summoned on the assault and battery case of McMichael against a negro of West Newton. He leaves a wife and five children. It is supposed his death was caused by heart disease."

Emory C. Read, of this place, was unfortunate enough last Friday to sprain his ankle, while returning home from a visit to the Clarion county oil field. The roads being in bad condition for traveling, especially with a sled, the passengers were necessitated to walk up the hills. Mr. Read, in getting out of the conveyance for this purpose, at a hill between Reynoldsville and Brookville, accidentally alighted on a clod of frozen mud, or a stone, causing his foot to turn under and cripple him severely. He is now using crutches as a means of locomotion.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The last issue of the Clinton Democrat says: "On Monday a witness was called in Court, and came forward to take the oath. The keen eye of Judge Mayer saw the maudlin look of the man, and when he reached the spot where expected to swear, the Judge called the Sheriff and told him to take charge of the drunken man and keep him confined till he got sober. It was laughable to see the sudden change that came over the spirit of that witness! He learned a good lesson, that was taught with deserved promptitude."

SCHOOL AFFAIRS.—An effort is being made in our Legislature to pass an act, preventing County Superintendents from teaching or managing any private schools. The bill has passed the Senate, and is so amended that it only disqualifies those Superintendents whose salaries exceed $1,200. There is also a bill reported in the House which prevents any person from being employed as a teacher within the School District where the parent of such person holds the office of School Director. This bill will "raise a dust" before it becomes a law, and it will not improve the harmony of the system.

LEONARD GRADED SCHOOL.

Roll of honor for the month ending Feb. 6th, 1877: Willie Bridge, Minnie Bridge, Victor Guinsburg, Huston Hastewick, Lois McGaughey, Alex. Reynolds, Emma Watson, Irwin Shaw, W. C. Tate, Preston Wilson, Susie Brown, May Hemphill, Helen Irwin, Martha Kennard, Mary Powell, Dave Thompson, Sophia Whitehill, Miles Porter, Harry Bridge, Ginnie Reed, Jennie Row, Nannie Shaw, Mary Cleary, Ruth Weaver, Annie Worrell, John Kennard, Willie Lamont, Eddie Reed, Jennie Young, Julia Kettlebarger, Theodosia Reilly, Clara Howe, Jennie Jordan, Sophia Hesselbenthaler, Agnes Mallory, Ida Thompson, Jennie Shaw, Kate Weaver, Emma Worrell,

B. C. YOUNGMAN, Principal.

A bill has been introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature, to punish improper assemblies upon the public streets. The bill provides that if any three persons shall remain for a quarter of an hour in front of any public house, or church, and shall engage in any profane, obscene or loud talk, or in making invidious or abusive remarks, or in obstructing the highway, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This bill ought to pass by all means, as we believe it would meet with the general approval of law-abiding and respectable people throughout the State. Such a law will be beneficial to Clearfield, and there is hardly a town in the State to which it would not apply.

A FAT TAKE.—The Butler papers publish the names of one hundred and eighty-seven persons who will apply at the March term of Court for license to sell liquor. Well, it is no wonder that that county always elects the Radical ticket. The vetere howl "temperance!" and then they turn around and patronize the distillers better than any "Copperhead" county in the State. This is another illustration of the fact that preaching one thing and practing another are two very different things. Butler county will build up the State Treasury equal to any county in the state, all else being equal. "Uncle Jake," it's no wonder we have "a new era in English literature" in Butler!

CLEARFIELD COAL TRADE.—Statement of Coal and other freights sent over the Tyrone & Clearfield Division, Pennsylvania Railroad, for the week ending Feb. 10, 1877, and the same time last year:—

CURIOUS DEATH OF A BIRD-HAWK.—The Millintown Sentinel says: "Last Friday a bird-hawk, in passing over town, swooped down at a bevy of English sparrows that were feeding in the street, at the corner of Main and Bridge streets. The nimble little birds were too quick for the hawk and scattered. One little fellow nearest the hawk curved around the glass corner of the Bedford building. The pursuing bird was not acquainted in that locality, knew nothing of the glass corner, which to his eye seemed like an open space, concluded to take the short-cut on the little bird that was describing so nice a curve in front of his hawkship. The hawk directed his course straight across the corner and encountered the outside glass with such force that it passed through to the inside by a hole of its own making, only several times larger than its own body, and then dropped dead to the music of quivering window and falling glass. The boys say the sparrows held a jubilee that day over the death of a bloody enemy."

GAME ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED.—The Clearfield Game Association held a meeting at the office of A. W. Walters, Esq., in this borough, last Friday evening, for the purpose of completing an organization. A Constitution and By-Laws were adopted, and the following officers elected:—

President—Wm. D. Bigler.
Vice Presidents—David McGaughey, Robt. M. McNeally.
Treasurer—Henry Bridge.
Secretary—Al. M. Row.
Managers—Wm. D. Bigler, D. R. Fullerton, Joseph Stephenson, M. H. Cowdrick, A. W. Walters.

A. W. Walters, Esq., was appointed attorney—without fee, he says—to procure a charter of incorporation at the March term of Court. About thirty charter members were present. The object of the Association, as we stated last week, is to prevent the unlawful destruction of game; and those sportsmen who are in the habit of hunting out of season had better "look a leetle out" for brothers, as the members of this Association intend to prosecute all violations of the game laws.

Lorillard's celebrated brands of Navy Tobacco, "Defiance" and "Our Choice," at Lytle's, sole agent for Clearfield county.

We think we are perfectly correct in announcing that no parade or public demonstration of any kind will take place in Clearfield to-morrow, the 22d—Washington's birthday.

To prevent tobacco chewers from being imposed upon, Lorillards have put a tin stamp in every plug of their tobacco. Take none unless so stamped. Lytle is sole agent for Clearfield county.

WANTED!—An active, honest man, to sell the Improved Elias Howe Sewing Machine in Clearfield county. To any one who wish steady employment, we offer extraordinary inducements. Write to our Special Agent, W. S. Potter, at Brookville, Pa., for terms, information, &c.
feb-8] THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

FIRE AT CURWENSVILLE.—We learn from the Curwensville Times that last Saturday, about noon, the large grist mill belonging to John Irvin & Brothers, at the east end of the iron bridge, at that borough, was discovered to be on fire, and in less than an hour was burned to the ground. The fire originated in the upper story of the mill, at the smut machine, and is supposed to have been caused by a hot journal. There were about three thousand bushels of grain, a lot of flour, bran and chop in the building, all of which was lost. John I. Bloom, of Pike township, had just unloaded two hundred bushels of wheat into the mill-bins, which was all consumed with the rest. The grain and flour belonged to the farmers in that region, and to Mr. Smith, the miller, and the loss is a material one to them. The residence of the miller was saved by dint of hard work, as the wind was blowing directly towards it. The loss of the Irvin Brothers, on the mill and machinery, is estimated at $12,00, and the loss of Mr. Smith and others, in grain and flour, is about $4,000. There was an insurance of $8,000 on the mill and machinery.

DEATH OF REV. ALEXANDER McLEOD.

Rev. Alexander McLeod, father of Mrs. Walter Barrett, of this borough, died at his home in Meadville, Pa., on Friday, the 9th inst., aged 77 years. The deceased was for many years a resident of this county, and was well-known to many of our citizens. His personal friends will regret to learn of his death. He leaves a wife, two daughters and two sons, the youngest of whom is about 14 years of age. The Journal, of last week, contains the following:—

"Dr. McLeod, as he was universally called, was educated for a physician and graduated at a medical college in Philadelphia. In the twenty-second year of his age he entered upon the practice of medicine and was soon thereafter induced to settle at our neighboring town of Philipsburg, by Hartman Philips, the founder of that place, who desired a competent family physician. He made his residence there for two or three years, practicing his profession throughout the then thinly settled surrounding county, and during 1824, when Clearfield county was visited by a terrible scourge of dysentery, he devoted himself day and night to the relief of the afflicted inhabitants. So literally is this true that he many times hitched his horse to a fence in the middle of the night and crept into a friendly barn to get an hour's sleep before visiting the family, knowing that if he went to the house first his attention would be so occupied by the sick as to make it impossible for him to get any sleep, for the scourge did not as a general thing afflict but a member or two of a household, but whole families. His services at that time endeared him to the people of Clearfield, and to the day of his death he was regarded with universal esteem.

"Finding the field for his practice too limited he removed from Philipsburg to Lewistown, afterwards to Pittsburgh, and finally to Meadville, where he married and spent most of his professional life. When he had reached middle age he had lost several children by death and then his wife. This affliction made such an impression upon his mind as to turn his thoughts in a different direction, and following the direction pointed out to him he abandoned the medical profession, passed a course in a theological institution in Ohio, and entered the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church. The last two or three years of his ministry were spent in the south—mainly in South Carolina and Mississippi—where he went about establishing congregations and looking after the interests of the Episcopal church in general.

"In 1845 he returned to Pennsylvania and accepted a call as rector of St. Andrew's Church, Clearfield. While here he was again married, to a New Jersey lady, who was possessed of the same generous, christian spirit, as her husband. The years now spent among our people only tended to strengthen the bonds which had united the people with this good man when he was only Doctor McLeod. He was loved by everybody, both old and young, and it was with sorrow that they saw him take his departure.

"This was in 1851, when he entered the army as a Chaplain. He served for two years as a volunteer Chaplain, and was then transferred to the Regular Army, and died holding the position. When on active duty, he was stationed first at Ft. Leader, and afterwards at Leavenworth, Kansas; but for three years past he has been at Meadville, Pa., having been relieved from duty on account of sickness, though still holding his position in the army."
