The Republican.

GEORGE B. GOODLANDER, Editor.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 29, 1878.

Reader, if you want to know what is going on in the business world, just read our advertising columns, the Special column in particular.

MAXIMS FOR THE DAY.

No man worthy the office of President should be willing to hold it if counted in, or placed there by any fraud.
U. S. GRANT.

I could never have been reconciled to the seclusion by the smallest aid of mine of a person, however respectable in private life, who must forever carry upon his brow the stamp of fraud first triumphant in American history. No subsequent action, however meritorious, can wash away the letters of that record.
CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

Under the forms of law, Rutherford B. Hayes has been declared President of the United States. His title rests upon disfranchisement of lawful voters, the false certificates of the returning officers acting corruptly, and the decision of a commission which has refused to hear evidence of alleged fraud. For the first time are the American people confronted with the fact of a fraudulently-elected President. Let it not be understood that the fraud will be silently acquiesced in by the country. Let no hour pass in which the usurpation is forgotten.
ADDRESS OF DEMOCRATIC M. C.'S.

One hundred years of human depravity accumulated and concentrated into a climax of crime. Never again in five hundred years shall they have an opportunity to repeat the wrong.
DANIEL W. VOORHEES.

I would rather have the endorsement of a quarter of a million of the American people than that of the Louisiana Returning Board, or of the Commission which excluded the facts and decided the question on a technicality.
THOS. A. HENDRICKS.

Democratic State Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR,
HON. ANDREW H. DILL,
OF UNION COUNTY.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
HON. JOHN FERTIG,
OF CRAWFORD COUNTY.

FOR SECRETARY INTERNAL AFFAIRS,
HON. J. SIMPSON AFRICA,
OF HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

FOR SUPREME JUDGE,
HON. H. P. ROSS,
OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

In Baltimore strawberries are selling at five cents per quart, in Harrisburg at 10. The crop is said to be unusually plentiful throughout Maryland, and the shipping season is seventeen days ahead of last year.

STERRETT.—This is the name of the Cameron candidate for Supreme Judge. He was the Radical nominee last year, but the people Ster-retted him off the bench and put Judge Trunkey in his place. This year he will be anchored by Judge Ross.

Two burglars entered the house of Mrs. Trumbull, in Bradford, Pa., early Tuesday morning, and after obtaining $40 demanded more, threatening to kill her if she refused. She fired at them, wounded one, when both fled. They were tracked some distance by blood stains, but escaped.

ASSAULTING GENERAL BANKS.—The Washington Post believes that "If fifteen years ago General Banks had shot off his cannon as he now shoots off his mouth, he would not be pointed out by small boys as he walks along the streets as the Union Commissary General of the late Confederate army."

"THANK GOD."—The Columbus, O., Herald, one of the Radical organs of that State, in alluding to the proceedings of the late Radical Convention, in this State, says: "Not one single man in the Republican State Convention of Pennsylvania opened his mouth for Hayes. Thank God that sham and treachery are beginning to receive their just deserts!"

OFF.—Judge Bently, the Labor-Greenback-ete., nominee for Supreme Judge, does not see things in that light, and therefore declines to run for Judge on that ticket. Judge Agnew, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and who was defeated in the Convention, and also in the Cameron Convention, has been jumped on to fill the vacancy.

HEAVY ON THE SENATE.—Our State Senate seems to be the nursery of statesmen this year. The Radical State Convention gobbled up two of them—Stone for Lieutenant Governor and Dunkle for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and the Democratic Convention selected Dill for Governor and Fertig for Lieutenant Governor. Thus robbing the Senate Chamber of four of its members within a week.

RIGHT.—On Monday a bill was introduced into the House at Washington to forbid carrying through the mails all advertisements of lotteries, gift concerts, and raffles, and requiring postmasters to forward all such matter to the dead letter office at Washington. A penalty of not less than $500 nor more than $2,000 is attached to the violation of the act, one-half of the fine to be paid to the party giving evidence of its violation. Good; let the law be passed and then enforced.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

QUERY.—If John Sherman and Plenipotentiary Noyes, at Paris, are innocent of the Presidential larceny, why was it necessary for them to notify the Congressional Committee that they wanted to be subpœnaed? No other Cabinet Minister, or Plenipotentiary, has made a similar request! Reader, does it not look a little like the fellow who yells "stop thief," while he has the lost purse in his pocket? That is the light in which we see Sherman and Noyes. However, we are open to conviction on this point.

CHAIRMAN SPEER.—Among the wise acts done by the Pittsburg Convention, was the selection of Hon. R. Milton Speer, of Huntingdon, as Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. Mr. Speer is one of the ablest of our middle-aged men, endowed with executive talent, energetic, and a good parliamentarian, he will, no doubt, prosecute a vigorous campaign. With a Chairman like him, who possesses energy and talent, and candidates like Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa, the Democracy must win the battle in November. With a brace of men like these, Clearfield will tally 2,000 majority.

ELIZA'S OPPORTUNITY.

The editor of the Baltimore Gazette, in alluding to the appointment of the Potter committee to investigate the Florida and Louisiana election frauds, says:

> the way of a quickened conscience, or any available substitute therefor, now is her time. All the visiting statesmen, returning-board officials and "practical men," have been rewarded and either sent off on foreign missions, or to comfortable berths in custom houses or judgeships in far western territories. Eliza's claims have not been recognized. So long as she keeps silent her claims will be ignored. If she remains voiceless, blushing unseen and wasting her sooty sweetness on the bayou air, the more forward will continue to rush in and sell out their quickened consciences, and so "bear" the conscience market that there will be no money in it for her. At latest advices from Florida, conscience was quoted dull with a declining tendency. The thing is a mere drug in Florida. First-class Okefenokee remorse may be had in assorted lots to suit purchasers at panic prices. But the appointment of Packard and Sheridan so reduced the supply of political compunction in Louisiana, that a bold operator like Eliza Pinkston might step in and bull the market. She might even get a corner on John Sherman. If Eliza should now threaten to come forward and make a clean breast of it—as clean as the circumstances of the case would permit—and tell that the alleged murder of her husband by ku-klux was all a lie, and that he was beaten to death by Republican negroes because he was suspected of being a Democrat; if she would further state that the visiting statesmen knew these facts and put up the whole job craftily and deceitfully for political effect, and that the entire dramatic entertainment, including the indignation and grief of the visiting statesmen, was a fraud—if Eliza would only give intimations of a quickened conscience to this effect—she would soon find herself the recipient of something soothing and emollient. She might get the appointment of janitress of the Mrs. R. B. Hayes temperance association, custodienne of his fraudulency's conscience, purveyoress of claret punch at Executive hymn-singings, green tea caterings for the Secretary of the Interior, or some other of those lucrative offices which act as balms on bosoms torn by remorse, and which induce quickened consciences to slow up. Whoa, Eliza!

THE OLD, OLD STORY.—"The wicked flee when no man pursueth," is as old as creation. Adam, we believe, was the first man to hide, and transgressors have kept up the same dodge ever since. No sooner was the Potter committee appointed by Congress to investigate the larceny of the Florida and Louisiana electors, than Jno. Sherman, Secretary of the Treasury, sent a note to Chairman Potter, that he wanted to be cited before the Committee, and Ohio Noyes, who is Minister to France, was in such a hurry about it that he did not wait and write, and through due course of European mails inform the committee of his desire to attend, but he cabled an expensive telegram that he wanted to be heard before the Committee. Now, why has not Secretary Schurz, or Minister Welch, to England, acted in a similar manner? Reader, it is because the latter had no hand in the Presidential larceny—the other fellows engaged in the fraud. How they howl!

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

EXACTLY.—The Philadelphia Record tartly remarks: Some silly Congressmen, echoed by equally silly newspapers, denounce the attempt of the Democrats to investigate election frauds as revolutionary. These people hallooed before they are hurt. There is no reason to believe that any investigation instituted will be able to connect President Hayes with the frauds practiced in Louisiana and Florida. But it, contrary to expectation, he should be found to have connived at the rascality by which he profited, the Republicans would be as swift as the Democrats to ask for his impeachment. Such a result would not put the Presidency into the hands of a Democrat; it would morels put it out of the hands of a rascal.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

THEIR HOMES.—Hon. Andrew H. Dill, our nominee for Governor, is a citizen of Lewisburg, Union county; Hon. Henry P. Ross, our nominee for Supreme Judge, is a citizen of Norristown, Montgomery county; Hon. Jno. Fertig, our nominee for Lieutenant Governor, is a citizen of Titusville, Crawford county; Hon. J. Simpson Africa is a citizen of Huntingdon, Huntingdon county, but at present Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg. Those of our citizens who wish to address either, or all, of the candidates have their postoffice address. Hon. R. Milton Spear is Chairman, his address for the present will be Huntingdon, Penn'a.

A CHANGED CARPET-BAGGER.—R. K. Scott, ex-Governor of South Carolina, who is in Washington, has been interviewed by a Post commissioner. He confesses the sins of several of the South Carolina scalawags and carpet-baggers, but of course insists that his own hands are clean. In reply to a question as to what prospect the Republican party has in the State, he replied: None whatever. It is dead; and even if it were possible to resurrect it I would not favor the movement. If Governor Hampton is a candidate for re-election next fall I shall support him as I did before, believing that he will subserve the interests of the State better than any other man."

DOVELIKE INNOCENCE.—The Harrisburg Patriot says: Mr. Hayes had no knowledge whatever of the frauds by which he was seated. He is perfectly guiltless. He just stepped innocently into office, and threw his appointments around indiscriminately without intending them for anybody in particular, and if by unaccountable coincidence they happened to fall into the hands of the very men who did the dirty work, why bless his soul, he never intended that they should! How can anybody suspect Mr. Hayes of such a thing?

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

AN OVATION.

After the Legislature adjourned on Friday last, Senator Dill started up the North Central railroad, to his home, at Lewisburg. At every station along the road crowds had gathered to greet him. At Sunbryn the people had gathered by thousands, blockaded the road and stopped the train until the crowd extracted a speech from the Senator. On his arrival at Lewisburg all the people of the borough had turned out to greet and welcome him home. In his passage from the depot to his residence, his carriage, containing Senator Peale, of Lock Haven, Senator Allen of Williamsport, and Judge Bucher, was bombarded with boquets. Flags were flying on every side, and men, women and children with beaming faces rushed to bid him welcome as he alighted in front of his home. His house had been festooned with wreaths, flags and evergreens by the Spyker Graham post of the Grand Army of the Republic, No. 52. Flowers were strewn upon the threshold and from the hands of an impromptu committee of lovely misses.

The Senator received an armful of bouquets. In a word the whole population seemed to have given themselves up to gladness and spontaneous welcome.

There has not been such a popular outbreak of public opinion, over a nomination in this State for many years, election day only, will show how far the tide has rolled. With such men on our ticket as Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa, the Democrats must win, and no mistake. Reader, what kind of a reception was given to Hoyt, on his return home. We heard of none, did you? "Straws" etc.

KNAVERY.—The Radical members of Congress, defeated in their cowardly efforts to prevent an honest inquiry into the frauds which so disgracefully placed Mr. Hayes in the Presidential chair, are out in an address designed to fire the Northern heart. They characterize the Potter resolutions as a revolutionary attempt to oust Hayes and place Tilden in the White House. In the interests of peace and the suffering business in the country, they seek to turn the tide of public sentiment against the investigators, and loudly call upon all who labored to put down the rebellion in 1861, to rise and protect the thieves who stole the Presidency from shame and exposure. This address is pitiful in its low, demagogical appeals, and is eminently worthy of the principals whose names are signed to it—little Hale, of Maine, an educated demagogue, and George C. Gorham, of California, one of the most corrupt men that that State ever sent east of the Rocky Mountains. Such are the men who endorse the larceny of a President. Just the work that knaves and demagogues engage in.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

STILL HAPPY.—The able Associated Press agent in Washington takes pains for the fortieth time to assure the anxious public that Mr. Hayes is calm and undisturbed in the midst of the troubled waters which roll about his de facto feet. No ray of disquietude has rolled across his peaceful face. He continues to draw Mr. Tilden's salary with a sincere belief that no matter what may happen to other people there is no likelihood that it will happen to him. We trust that the able press agent in Washington will keep us advised as to the state of Mr. Hayes' pulse. If the able p. a. should strain his intellect or warp his constitution in this arduous service, he would, of course, be promptly retired on a $1,200 clerkship in the Treasury Department.

TAKE THAT!—Congressman Goode, who represents the Norfolk district of Virginia in Congress, in discussing the question of Southern claims, truthfully said: "All the claims that had been paid were to loyal men. The Confederates did not demand a single dollar. They staked their all on the issue of war. They lost it and accepted the result like men." And he might have added, the Richmond State says, they do not waste their time in lamenting the loss of their spilled milk and broken eggs.

BADLY TREATED.—Mr. Hayes and Speaker Randall have been treated very shabbily by their respective Conventions in this State. Hayes was ignored at Harrisburg, and Randall was kicked overboard at Pittsburg.

SENATOR DILL'S SPEECH.

A staff correspondent of the Philadelphia Times thus alludes to the winding up of the Democratic Convention [illegible] after the ballots for candidates was announced a committee of five was appointed, with William V. McGrath at the head, to notify the candidates of their nomination, and, on motion of Senator Wallace, R. Milton Speer was unanimously elected chairman of the State Committe. The Convention then resolved itself into some confusion while the districts were called for members of the State Committee. Buckalew was good natured, the house was as crowded as at any time, and all hands waited for the appearance of Senator Dill. The candidate soon came upon the stage and was received by the whole mass of people getting on their feet and cheering and swinging their hats while the band played that familiar old air, "Hail to the Chief." Senator Dill spoke for a quarter of an hour impressively and in almost perfect taste. He had clearly captured those who had opposed him before he had spoken a dozen sentences. Senator Wallace followed briefly in response to calls, and Randall was loudly demanded, but was not present, and the Convention was dismissed with a benediction by Chairman Buckalew. The Senator spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: I come before you as an humble member of your party to thank you for the honor you have conferred in making me the candidate of the Democracy for the Governorship of this great State. I salute the nomination more highly because it has been conferred without any personal solicitation on my part; not that such action by the representatives of a great party is not an object worthy of the highest and purest ambition, but because I was unwilling to become the judge of my own fitness to this high position. I feel the great personal and political responsibility of this nomination. I know that it will take all the vigor of a strong man, and I know that in its results it means the political control of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. When you consider the unparalleled condition of the people, their prosperity blighted, their business without remuneration, their labor unemployed; when you consider how its commercial strength is shattered and how lawlessness has threatened social revolution and financial chaos, I want you to remember that the political party which is responsible for these calamities is intrenched in office, having the will and the means to debauch the sentiment it cannot coerce. This is the foe we are to meet and we today see something of the battle that is before us. If we are to gain a victory it can only be achieved by the determined assault of a united, a harmonious and enthusiastic party. The Republican party pleads for a continuance of power because its mission is not yet ended. For nearly twenty years it has had, with temporary exceptions, complete control of the destinies of the nation, and has swayed to its own uses its Executive, Judicial and Legislative Departments, and what has it done? With full power to increase the tariff it has lowered it. It found this country with wealth generally diffused, with few millionaires and no squalid poverty. What do we now see as the result of its policy? At one end of society the nabob, at the other the tramp. If the mission of the Republican party is not yet ended, it ought to end, for now the mission of the Democratic party begins, and this is a mission, I firmly believe, that will lift the country out of its despair—not by a vain search for a new principle of political economy, but by the application of the homely principles of republican government—by the reduction of public expenditures, in order that a tax-burdened people may be relieved; by an administration of the State Government conformable to the new Constitution; by the practical solution of practical questions and by enforcing in State affairs the same management that is now administered in our homes—a management of economy, a retrenchment of expenses, a cutting off of luxuries. I know of no other standard of duty for a public servant than fidelity to the Constitution and the law, and if the nomination that is now made shall be ratified by the people, I promise you that the Constitution and the laws of this great State shall be my guide in official conduct, and that from now until the election I will devote to the service of my party all my abilities and power, and if chosen by the people I will then devote to the service of the entire State the same measure of fidelity and duty.

Another correspondent of the Times, closes his letter as follows:

The nominee for governor is not a man of imposing presence, but there is magnetism in his looks, words and gestures, and you only need a glance to convince you that you may trust him with your last dollar, and—what is more to the point—with the good name of the Commonwealth. Senator Wallace was called upon for a speech and flushed with his victory gave the word for a forward movement of the party in a way that brought down the house. Randall, too, was demanded by the dissolving Convention, but as he was never in the hall from the first to last during the session, it was unreasonable to expect him to come around to preach his own funeral sermon. Father Buckalew, as the boys of his party begin to call him, seeing that even a Democratic Convention must come to an end, wound up the proceedings with a benediction. His little speech may well be called that without irreverence, for it was quite as soothing and much more effective, so far as the delegates were concerned, than was Father Junkin's prayer at the beginning. The most striking part of his remarks was the passage in which he pledged his word for the ability, integrity and absolute independence of Andy Dill—Speaking with the warmth of admiration and conviction, "Your Governor," said he, "will be no man's man," and 'Squire McMullen put on his hat and went out immensely relieved.

Dill. Ross, Fertig and Africa!

STILL FOR LYCOMING.—It seems that the Labor-Greenbackers, are determined to have a Lycoming county man on their ticket. What attraction there is down there we cannot see. Mr. Armstrong, of Williamsport, was their most prominent candidate for Governor, previous to the meeting of their State Convention, but he failed to make the landing. Then Judge Bently of the same city was nominated for Judge and declined and their nominee for Lieut. Governor having also declined, their State Committee has substituted a Mr. Steck, of Hughesville, in the same county for this latter place.

OUR FIGURES.—For the approaching election we claim 2,000 majority in Clearfield county and 25,000 in the State. Mark the prediction!

The Baltimore Gazette calls the new National Greenback party in this State the "N. G.," which, translated, means "no good."

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

This body assembled in Pittsburg, on last Wednesday. It was one of the most numerously attended of any Convention that has assembled in the State, for many years. It organized by electing [illegible] ex-United States Senator Charles R. Buckalew, of Bloomsburg, permanent Chairman. The nominees are among the ablest men in the State. All have been tried and are not found wanting. And with Messrs Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa, the Democrats will march on to victory in November next. Below will be found the ballotings for the several candidates as follows:

BALLOTING FOR GOVERNOR.

Whole number of votes, 250; necessary for a choice, 126.

CANDIDATES.	1st ball.	2d ball	3d ball.
Andrew H. Dill	92	113	138
James H. Hopkins	58	56	62
Wm. McCandless	47	41	—
George H. Jones	14	13	13
Robt. E. Monaghan	12	11	5
Victor E. Piollet	26	15	6
Levi Maish	11	—	—

Mr. Maish was withdrawn after first ballot. McCandless was withdrawn before proceeding to the third ballot.

There was but one ballot for Supreme Judge, as follows:

H. P. Ross, of Montgomery	162
F. Sheppard, Philadelphia	71
E. S. Golden	19

The balloting for Lieutenant Governor was next proceeded with, as follows:

CANDIDATES.	1st ball.	2d ball.	3d ball.
Speer	56	47	54
Reighard	11	—	—
Fertig	68	74	162
Ziegler	56	59
Johnston	13	—
Shanahan	29	19
Hash	7	—
Fearne	22	19

There was but one ballot for Secretary of Internal Affairs, as follows:

Africa	133
Beach	61
Reid	6

J. Simpson Africa having received a majority of votes was declared the nominee for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

On motion of Senator Wallace, Hon. R. Milton Speer, of Huntingdon, was elected Chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

It will be noticed by the ballots for Supreme Judge and for Secretary of Internal Affairs, that there was no contest, as public opinion in Democratic circles had pointed out Messrs. Ross and Africa long since, and a ratification of that opinion was all that was necessary to place these two gentlemen upon our ticket.

The contest for Governor and Lieutenant Governor was lively. The candidates were numerous, and all competent and honest men fit to adorn any station in life. Hence, the contest was vigorous, and Messrs. Dill and Fertig, who carried off the prize, are to be congratulated for their success. No better tickets was ever before presented to the voters of Pennsylvania, and we have no doubt of its ratification by the people in November by not less than 25,000 majority.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

OUR HABIT.—The editor of the Curwensville Times, seems to be surprised that we attended the recent Radical State Convention. We attended a half dozen of such Conventions before the editor in question was a citizen of the county, and several since, and we never dreamed of asking leave of absence. More: The party had selected Messrs John M. Adams, as Senatorial and Wm. Arnold, as Representative Delegates, a pair of innocents abroad, who were placed at the head of the list of Delegates—we mean in alphabetical order—and knowing how well the Cameron ring had reirtled them we wanted to see how they would "Beaver" out of the snare. But they got away without much effort, from the fact that they, like scores of other innocents, had nothing to do but to ratify what had been agreed upon by "the ring," two months before. We have heard so much about rings, at home, that our curiosity lead us again to Harrisburg, to see a real "ring," visible to delegates and outsiders alike.

THE DIFFERENCE.—To show that the Democratic State Convention was not a set-up job, like the Cameron affair, the reader need only look at the ballotings in the two bodies. The three ballots for Governor, and Lieut. Governor in our Convention, and the numerous candidates voted for, shows that the members of the Convention acted intelligently, and not as though someone had ordered it to be done, at 12 o'clock the night previous. The difference in the conduct of the two bodies, is worthy of contemplation, by all thoughtful men.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

CUTTING OUT THE THIRD ACT.—A characteristic story is told of a burlesque writer. When a favorite domestic drama was once brought out a terrible wail occurred on the night of its production after the second act. The orchestra had exhausted its repertory, and still the curtain remained down. Presently a harsh, grating sound was painfully audible from behind—the sound of a saw struggling thro' wood. "What is that noise?" impatiently asked a gentleman of the author. "Well, I can't say," answered he mournfully, "but I suppose they're cutting out the third act."

THAT MINISTER.—Won't some member of Congress introduce a resolution demanding the recall of Noyes, Minister to France? Every American must feel humiliated that a leading party to the Florida fraud should represent our nation in Paris during the Exposition. Kasson, Minister to Austria, was only one of the Florida "pickers and stealers" of votes, and should be recalled if Congressional action can compel it. Both hold their offices as payment for services rendered Hayes, which disgrace them and dishonor the nation.

TOO BAD.—A rude local remarks: "At present the Spring bonnet fills the feminine mind." Another replies: "Well, if that is so, it takes but little to fill a femine mind these days." A third counters by remarking that the first must have been a sixteen-year old boy and the second a forty-five year old bachelor, and both are wholly unacquainted with what they write about. The young fellow may be improved; but the other one has passed the Rubicon, and can never be reclaimed.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

SHARP COUNTERFEITERS.—One of the most successful counterfeiting schemes is to issue a small quantity of notes on a certain bank with the name of the place, President, or Cashier misspelled. Upon discovery the bank sends a warning through the country, pointing out the error. Then the counterfeiters make a second issue with the name or names spelled correctly and circulate them boldly, knowing that marchants and storekeepers will look only for the indicated "catch."

Miss Henrietta Dana, the youngest daughter of Hon. R. H. Dana, jr., who was educated in a Parisian convent, where Queen Mercedes of Spain was also a pupil, was the author of the article, "A Queen at School," in Scribner's Monthly.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

A HEAVY CONVENTION.

Erie, Venango and Warren counties compose the XXVII Congressional district, and is, of course, Radical to the core. The editor of the Warren [illegible] says:

"Two years since, when Colonel L. F. Watson was nominated for Congress in this district, there was a fearful strife, and the Convention met a score or more times, and balloted several hundred times, without any satisfactory result, till the candidates had agreed upon a basis of future nominations. Without any consultation with their constituents, the three candidates then before the Convention, (Mr. Reed, of Erie; Mr. Watson, of Warren, and Mr. Osmer, of Venango), agreed that hereafter the Congressional Convention should be composed of seventy-seven delegates from Erie, thirty-two from Warren and forty-two from Venango, and thus these high contracting parties have disfranchised Warren and Venango by giving to Erie more votes than the combined vote of the two remaining counties.

"At a first glance this little fix up might seem fair enough, but when it is more carefully examined, it carried the brand on its face, of a grand pipe laying fraud, for every one can see it is gotten up for a money making concern. No candidates in either Warren or Venango can ever secure a nomination without paying down the cash when the goods—the delegates—are delivered, and from our knowledge of politicians, and especially of Erie county politicians, we feel warranted in saying that prices will correspond with the capacity of the candidates' pockets. A grand pow-wow, or Indian green-corn dance, of these delegates, will assemble at Corry on the ninth of July, and all those of the old candidates are again on hand, ready, as they were said to have been two years ago, to adduce substantial arguments in favor of their nomination. Will it not be a sickening, and even a disgusting spectacle to see these delegates pulled and hauled about, and to see them ultimately yield, as one of oil, to a certain number of pieces of silver? Yet this is a certain and legitimate sequence to this bargain made by those candidates, for an office the salary of which does not pay half of the expense of a sojourn at Washington during the sessions of Congress."

TORNADOES.—MADISON, Wis., May 24.—Last night a heavy rain storm was accompanied by the remarkable phenomenon of a rain of sticks, stones, boards and twigs of various sizes and large hail. The cyclone came from the southwest, probably from Mineral Point, between Mount Vernon and Oregon. It was especially severe, and fifteen to twenty barns are reported destroyed. A Norwegian living near Mount Vernon narrowly escaped death, and his father-in-law, Narne Bergt, and brother, Herbard Bergt, were killed instantly, while his mother-in-law was seriously injured by the destruction of their dwelling. O. B. Daly, a wealthy merchant of Mount Vernon, was also killed. A number of prairie fires started during the evening. A report form Oregon, Wisconsin, says that many houses were torn down near Paoli and three or four persons killed. Great destruction of property and loss of life undoubtedly resulted from the storms. News comes in slowly, as telegraphic communication with that part of the State is wanting.

Dill, Ross, Fertig and Africa!

The speech of Walker, candidate for governor is to come yet. He didn't make a speech at the Convention. He interrogated the committee in a blob of about twenty lines the sum and substance being "I'll give up the spoils," yes, with a lavish hand. "I'll do that little thing if I am elected. The Republicans have sucked the public teat long enough, now we want a pull".—Curwensville Times.

We copy the foregoing as a literary curiosity, and for the purpose of showing our readers how much falsehood and how little truth can be couched in eight lines by some editors.

Of the many expedients adopted by churches for the prompt liquidation of its debts the one adopted by the Presbyterian church at Baraboo, Wisconsin, strikes us as being the most simple and effective. The whole amount was divided into 274 shares of $3.65 each, and these shares taken up by the members of the church and congregation. The plan is one that seems to be adapted to almost any locality.

The Prince of Wales gave King Alfonso a handsome cimeter as a wedding gift. The friends of Mrs. Alfonso should chip in and purchase her a cavalry sword, for in a warm discussion with Alf. in relation to who shall get up first and make the fires she will find that a rolling-pin or a broom-stick will not stand long against a cimeter.
