

BLOOD MONEY.—An exchange says: "Of all the infamous political bargains ever brought to the light of day, the trading of the Republican leaders, with Henry M. Hoyt as Chairman of the State Committee, for the Mollie Maguire vote in 1875 to secure the election of Hartman, is entitled to pre-eminence. The payment of a sum of money, which was disbursed through Gen. Sigfried, of Schuylkill county, and immunity from punishment for some of the leaders of the Mollie Maguire, was the price of their votes. How well the bargain was carried out the election returns of 1875, the records of the courts of Schuylkill county, and the immunity from punishment of Jack Kehoe, all testify. An attempt is being made for a similar trade this fall, in the interest of Gen. Hoyt. But the fraudulent and desperate scheme has been early broken by the authorities of the Commonwealth and will certainly fail. All that Hoyt and his managers will make by this atrocious trick will be the humiliation and disgrace they deserve. If decent Republicans can vote consistently for a Republican candidate for Governor they had better recall their convention and place another name at the head of the ticket."

STATE TICKET.—Dill, Fertig, Africa and Ross. RICE OF MASSACHUSETTS.—In his attempt to reply officially to Gov. Hampton's stinging letter of rebuke, the governor of Massachusetts has belittled himself even more than by his refusal to deliver a South Carolina trial to the judgment of South Carolina law. Governor Rice says: "I beg to remind you excellently that any attempt to rebuke Massachusetts by South Carolina for non-observance of constitutional or statutory obligations is a refinement of sarcasm which renders any other defense of the form or state unnecessary. The treatment of the case of Hiram H. Kimpton by the authorities of the Commonwealth was unbecomingly personal or political consideration. Massachusetts has no quarrel with South Carolina, and no friendship for Kimpton, but was bound to extend to each their respective rights under the law. And then the Governor makes the crushing addition that he will not admit Hampton's letter to the official files of his State papers. We can easily understand why he should seek to keep from the archives of his Commonwealth this concealing commendation of his official conduct, but as the record of this is already—his letter to Hampton and his Attorney General's opinion—are in themselves monumental evidence of his ill-gotten and unconstitutional position, no further filing of documents is necessary to transmit the record of his shame. Moreover the public criticism that his refusal has provoked has universally sustained Gov. Hampton's position, and deprived Gov. Rice's protection of the feeling thing. When Gov. Rice says that his State was bound to extend to South Carolina as its rights under the law he gives up the whole point at issue, for this is just what he refused to do. When he says 'the decision was reached upon grounds of perfect impartiality and accordance with law and the facts and convictions of public duty' he is flatly contradicted by his succeeding words of defiance that 'the requisition did not appear for the purpose of trying Kimpton for a crime charged against him, but for a different purpose.' This is just what the law says. His State has no right to inquire and thus 'give himself away.' In turning Gov. Hampton's address away from placing it on file, Rice only shows the sensitive timidity of a man who, having done a wrong, is reticent to have a reminder of it lying around.—Lancaster Intelligence.

STATE TICKET.—Dill, Fertig, Africa and Ross. A GOOD NOMINATION.—The Norris town Gazette, published near Mr. Dotz's birthplace in Montgomery county, says: "Phillip Dotz, Esq. of Glen Hope, Clearfield county, was at the Democratic Convention recently held in that county, nominated for County Treasurer. This is a good nomination. He is a thorough Democrat and will make an excellent officer, for elected he certainly will be. Mr. Dotz is a son of the late Henry Dotz, Esq. resident at Pennsburg, in this county, and for three years a member of the Legislature from this county, and he is also a brother of Captain Henry H. Dotz, a well-known citizen of Pennsburg, at this time, and brother-in-law to Philip Soper, Esq. of the same place. Mr. Dotz has been residing in Clearfield county probably twenty years, during all of which time he was a subscriber to the Register, either under the control of the editor of this paper and now of the Gazette. The Democracy of Clearfield county made a wise selection and we congratulate friend Dotz upon his success."
