

GEORGE B. GOODLANDER, Editor.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1870.

Reader, if you want to know what is going on in the business world, just read our advertising columns, the Special Insert in particular.

MAXIMS FOR THE DAY.

No man worth the office of President should be willing to hold it if he cannot, or placed there by any force.

I could never have been reconciled to the election of the smallest class of men as a permanent responsibility to the people.

I would rather have the endorsement of a quarter of a million of the American people than that of the Louisiana Legislature.

Under the forms of law, Rufus W. Hayes has been declared President of the United States.

Address of Democratic N. C. Hayes. One hundred years of human depravity need not be mentioned in a political campaign.

A Busy Time.—The Boston Post gives a branch of "the government" which of this kind: Sherman says Providence helps those who help themselves.

"There's Millions in It."—The Cincinnati Gazette says: "Our advice from Illinois and Indiana are that the average sown to wheat in those States is the largest ever known."

The Hon. V. P.—A contemporary remarks: "Although Mr. Wheeler was compelled by moral cowardice to abdicate his self-respect at the bidding of Conkling, the great statesman of Malone is not without reserve."

GARDING AROUND OUTSIDERS.—Blaine seems to be attracting unusual attention in New York State.

No Yo Sab.—Senator Bayard will arrive in New York two days after the election.

The Difference.—Zachary Chandler was a fighting Republican, and Joe Hooker was a fighting Democrat.

Death of Gen. Joe Hooker.—This celebrated "fighting" officer died at Long Island, on Friday last, aged 64 years.

A Good Luck.—The Philadelphia Record says Hayes' Chief Secretary, Evans, a good luck in the following manner.

Sudden Death.—Hon. Zachary Chandler, one of the United States Senators from Michigan, was found dead in his bed at the Grand Pacific Hotel, in Chicago, last Saturday morning.

Indignant.—The "devil" informs us that the first copy of the Clearfield Citizen was returned to the publisher after his issues of Thursday last, was that addressed to the Chairman of the Radical County Committee.

Wanted.—At present the de facto Government wants two Plenipotentiaries. One for England and one for Russia.

We learn from an exchange that colored piracy has broken out on the Mississippi river.

Not only was the great building packed with attentive listeners, but the character of the audience was in many respects better than that which usually attends political meetings.

It was nearly half past eight when the general burst of applause signaled the appearance of Senator Wallace upon the stage.

It was a most interesting and stirring scene, and the Senator, who looked fresh and vigorous, bowing to the enthusiastic audience.

The Baltimore Gazette says: Hayes is improving as he grows older in the White House.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Notwithstanding the result of the election in Ohio, we firmly believe that the late civil war in America will one day end."

The Philadelphia Letter. The notion very generally held in regard to the Indians is that they are the real owners of this continent.

The private residence of Boss Shepley in Washington was sold at auction the other day.
