

GEORGE B. GOODLANDER, Editor. CLEARFIELD, PA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 8, 1888.

Reader, if you want to know what is going on in the business world, just read our advertising columns, the Special column in particular.

MAXIMS FOR THE DAY.

No man worth the office of President should be willing to let it be filled by a man who is not a citizen of the United States.

I would rather have the endorsement of a quarter of a million of the American people than that of the Louisiana Legislature.

Table with columns: CANDIDATE, VOTES, PERCENTAGE. Lists names like Grant, Hayes, and their respective vote counts.

MAXIMS FOR THE DAY. I could never have been nominated to the presidency by the smallest aid of mine of a person, however respectable in private life, who had never carried his own stamp of fraud.

I would rather have the endorsement of a quarter of a million of the American people than that of the Louisiana Legislature.

THE RADICAL DELEGATES.

Mr. Voorhees made a carefully prepared speech in the Senate on the 4th inst., which he summed up the evidence presented in the Exhaus investigation, showing beyond question the Republican conspiracy to get voters out of North Carolina into Indiana, for the double purpose of "redeeming" the latter State from Democratic control and weakening the relative power of the South before the census could be taken.

Mr. Windom made numerous efforts to interrupt Mr. Voorhees with irrelevant questions, but he was finally reduced to better deportment in a peremptory manner.

When the passions and prejudices which this exodus business have excited and festered, shall have been allayed by the lapse of years, the facts elicited by the investigation will stand as undoubted proof of all that the Democrats have alleged concerning the motive of those Republican leaders who set the movement on foot and aided in extending it.

FOULS.—The Radicals of Brooklyn N. Y., where Beecher preaches, intended to take the lead in celebrating the proceedings and nominee of the Chicago Convention, and fixed on Monday, the 7th inst. As that body was still in session on that day, the Brooklyn jubilee went over.

THE LAW OF PARTNERSHIP.

The following may be of interest to many of our readers, as it is probably not generally known that the law concerning visitors to bar-rooms and drinking saloons really is:

A case was decided at Philadelphia lately by which one of a party of four persons who had spent the evening at a saloon, was held liable for the whole bill, his companions having neglected to "pay up" their proportion of the expenses.

HOW IT WAS DONE.
