PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN.

Commissioners by borrowing money on levee bonds, when the bonds would not bring but a small part of their face were defrauding the State.

ON GRANT'S VILIFICATIONS ON HANCOCK. The unworthy Work of an Ex-President, who has been so long and so loudly denouncing the Administration of Gen. Grant.

ORDER NO. 40. A Succinct Review of the Real Inner History of that Great Document—What It Was.

Ex-President Grant's Vilification of Gen. Hancock. N. Y. Hancock Veterans.

The veterans who have hitherto regarded the name of U. S. Grant with high esteem, and who have been content to be mortified and grieved, their idol has come down from its pedestal.

has been engaged. The General who has fought only for victory or a conquest, or has been engaged only to promote schemes of ambition or gratify feelings of hate, has been taught upon the battlefield only lessons of love and violence.

With intellects quickened by the dangers and excitements of the strife they see more clearly than other men the value of obedience to laws and the duty of sacrificing all things for their country's good.

It was in this school that Washington learned the grand duty of laying down his sword and retiring to private life when the world thought he would claim a crown as reward.

It was in the same school, under the influence of that noble and patriotic spirit, that the young men of the Revolution learned the duty of justice and equity towards the oppressed.
