DUST TO DUST.

The remains of President Garfield, the twentieth President of the United States, were placed in a vault at Lake View Cemetery, near Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday afternoon.

The President has issued a proclamation calling for an extra session of the Senate to meet October 10.

Dry Up!—An exchange says: "General Bailey shouldn't complain of Mr. Wolf; he has been a better himself. Last year Bailey refused to support the regular Republican nominee for Congress in his district, and led a bolt in behalf of the Greenback candidate."

A GOOD BARGAIN.—It is stated by our exchanges that Mr. Garfield left about $25,000 worth of property, $35,000 of life insurance; Congress will vote his family the year's salary of $50,000 and it is confidently expected the Field fund will run up to $500,000. Drexel & Co. have given $10,000 and Col. Benson increases his subscription from $5,000 to $10,000.

A THIRD TERM.—An exchange says: "The Republican candidate for State Treasurer, General Bailey, was a third term man and voted for General Grant on every ballot in the Chicago Convention, and against General Garfield. His election as State Treasurer would be an endorsement of third term pretensions and repudiations of President Garfield, as well as a positive condemnation of those who preferred General Grant's nomination."

A TRUE TEST.—The "lickers" against our present system of nominating can learn a good lesson by consulting the popular vote table in this issue. The real test was on Treasurer, because all the other offices to be filled had double candidates. The aggregate vote cast for the office indicated was nearly 3,000, and if the Crawford system had been in vogue, the returns show that all the candidates nominated on Tuesday last would have been nominated anyhow under that system. Democrats, remember that changes are not always improvements.

A TWO-SIDED CASE.—There is a town called Texarkana, lying partly within Arkansas and partly within Texas, with a broad street marking the boundary. It has two Mayors, and the State laws governing on one side have no binding force on the other. Arkansas made a severe enactment against the free sale of firearms, whereas the hardware merchants moved their stores to the other side of the street, thus going into Texas, where the sale of revolvers, like their use, is free. The Arkansas Mayor issued a proclamation against the sale of liquor on Sunday, greatly to the advantage of the saloon men in Texas, until the vendors on the other side moved over and regained their customers.

TWICE SWORN.—Vice President Arthur, who was at his home in New York at the time of President Garfield's death, was notified of the death and occurred by Attorney General MacVeagh, in the absence of Secretary of State Blaine. General Arthur took the Presidential oath before Judge Brady, in New York, early on Tuesday morning, the 20th inst., and so notified the Cabinet, all of whom except Blaine and Lincoln were at Long Branch when the President died. He is now as fully President of the United States, by the result of Guiteau's bullet, as though he had been elected to that exalted position by the voters of the country. He was afterwards sworn again at Washington by the Chief Justice. We hope he will stick to his oaths on this occasion; because, if Mr. Hayes and Secretary Sherman took the truth five years ago, he practiced the reverse. The reporters sent out the word that he was sworn with emphasis, "So help me God." We presume Hayes and Sherman will give him a card to that effect.

A DAY OF MOURNING.

In accordance with the proclamation of President Arthur, endorsed by similar action on the part of several of the State Governors, Monday was generally observed as a season of humiliation, fasting and prayer. Public opinion recognizes the propriety of this, and it was met in an earnestly responsive spirit in every section of the country. At the first shock of the great affliction the souls of men stood dumb and not a few were disposed to murmur because the long and fervent petition of the nation for the recovery of the President had not been granted. These doubts are now beginning to give way to the wiser second thought of that serene and submissive faith which sees in every event of life the hand of One who doeth all things well. The President over our open grave we mourned as if he were a representative of the great Republic, to the insignia of whose sovereignty he had just succeeded. The disaster which culminated on September 19th was not simply personal to him and family and friends; it was a Providential visitation upon the whole body of the people. It was to meet that the day of his obsequies should be dedicated to an acknowledgment of sins, national and individual, to humble and penitent submission, and to an earnest invocation that the Divine grace and favor may rest upon the United States and all its citizens.

SURFACE INDICATIONS.

We will relate an incident that occurred at Long Branch last June, when our Editorial Association was in session at that celebrated seashore resort. When the large ball room was thrown open to the dancers and spectators, with others we took a seat in a "side pocket" to watch the fun. The ball opened with twenty-five "gay and festive" for their heels and toes. Finally, an old grandfather printer from the southwestern part of the State "hunched us in the ribs, inquiring: 'Who is that man with a white vest, white coat and white pants, who has been dancing for over three hours?' We joyfully replied that it was Governor Cooper, of Delaware. 'Oh,' said he, 'I never was down there in that par-han-dle.' A little explanation located him in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, and a Senator from that section of the State who wants to be Governor. 'That little red-headed fellow dressed in white muffs after the Governorship; no individual?' He is Chairman of the National State Committee, and his first circular reads as follows:

Dear Sirs:—After the first session of Mr. Wells' Independent candidate has passed, it is not to be expected that he will be elected as a candidate for the office of Governor. This policy has been pursued with advantage as a preliminary, and other arrangements, and it is with you, I think, more than ever apparent in the present issue. I have the honor to be, Very truly yours, J. W. Wright, Secy. T. Corran, Philadelphia, September 17.

THE NEW YORK SUN gives this statement: "The labors of Dr. Lamb at the autopsy were very long and trying, and the attention of the seven physicians who overtook his work was held upon a tense strain for nearly an hour. One who was present says that the internal organs, having been lifted out, were deposited, as is usual in autopsies, in a basin. Then Dr. Lamb began a search for the bullet near the pons muscle, where all expected to find it encased. He searched carefully, but it was not there. Then the search was extended to other parts of the abdominal cavity, and finally to points very remote from the place where it was supposed to lie. They examined very carefully the tissue of the trunk, from which the vital organs had also been removed, but still the bullet could not be found. Finally, in despair, search was made beneath the viscera in the basin, and there the bullet was discovered in its cyst. The tissue in which the cyst was formed had been cut away from the ribs by the surgeon's knife."

WHO IN THE WICKED PARTNER?—The Boston Herald properly raised the question a few days ago: "If having been asserted that Mr. Blaine, 'the Premier of the Administration,' does not approve of the lengths to which national aid and comfort have been given to the Virginia Readjusters, considerable curiosity is manifested to know who it is that is aiding the coalition with Federal patronage, consenting to the removal of recent office-holders at the behest of Mahone, and giving the consent of assent to political assessments. Is there a wicked partner somewhere in the administration? The President's only public words on the subject were strongly against any countenance of repudiation. Who is helping to make the Riddleberger robbery possible? There is a fraud somewhere, as the late Congressman John Covode used to spell it."

CAMBRON REMARKS.—Some of the more independent Republican newspapers, chagrined over the nomination of Bailey for State Treasurer, are publishing the following curt dialogue which took place a short time before the assembling of the Republican State Convention, between United States Senator Don Cameron, and State Senator Stewart, of Franklin county, who was among the hot breeds in the last Legislature. Read it:

Senator Cameron—"I won't admit of Senator Davis' candidacy for the State Treasury." Senator Stewart—"But, Senator, you remember you acquiesced in Mr. Davis' candidacy last Fall?" Senator Cameron—"Don't care, you may call it what you please, I won't care of it." Yet these same Republicans, "Independents," as they delight to call themselves, still bow their necks to the yoke, and will vote for Bailey.

How THINGS CHANGE.—A contemporary in alluding to current events says: "The death of Senator Burnside gives the Democrats a majority of three on the opening of the Senate, before the new Senator from Rhode Island and the two New York Senators are sworn in. Should all the Democratic Senators be present, and Mr. Arthur then President of the United States, there would be nothing to prevent the Democrats electing a President pro tempore of their own faith before allowing the new Republican Senators to be admitted. Once installed, a Democratic President pro tempore could not be ousted, as in a full Senate the Republican and Democratic vote would be a tie. Senator Davis, of Illinois, who might vote for a Republican for President pro tempore, would hardly vote to oust a Democrat once chosen."

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democratic delegates elected the preceding Saturday (17th) assembled in the Court room on Tuesday the 20th at 1 o'clock P. M. in accordance with the proclamation of the County Committee. The Convention was called to order by the Chairman, Dr. Birchfield. The first business in order was a call of the delegates from the several districts for the purpose of obtaining the names of the delegates. The following persons answered for their boroughs and townships:

At the conclusion of this ballot a motion was made and adopted to suspend the party rule that requires six ballots to be taken before dropping the name of the lowest candidate. The seventh ballot was then ordered and the name of the lowest candidate dropped. The following were the results:

THE NEW PRESIDENT TAKES A SECOND OATH.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President Arthur took the oath of office at the Capitol today in the presence of the Cabinet, the Justices of the Supreme Court, a few Senators and Congressmen, General Sherman, Grant and others, forty in all. Chief Justice Waite, in full robes of office, administered the oath. The President was calm and composed, and the response, "So help me, God," came in firm tones and without a tremor. The courtiers then read from manuscript copies the following address:

THE large and constantly increasing circulation of the Republican, renders it valuable to business men as a medium through which to reach the public.
