Men, Measures and Principles. It is the glory of the Democratic party, that none of its leaders is essential to its triumphant progress. All of them, from the President to the verriest gutter-politician, might disappear from its ranks to morrow, and its measures and itsprinciples would soon secure as proud a phalanx of defenders as it possesses at present. MR. EDITOR:-"I guess there'll be bully times fore the anniversary of our independence

"Very likely," I replied, "I suppose you will be there to keep the boys in order "No sar-ee—not me; I never did go in for the way the people profane the holiest day the sun ever shone upon. The young people don't know what they go for except for devilment, and we sensible old folks stay at home, and thank the Almighty and meadows are my own; this valley with its beautiful farms and woodlands belongs to me and my neighbors; and no menial satellite of a foreign prince have we here as "Lord of the Manor." to tell us how to act and speak and think—all these bless-ings are the answers to the prayers of our fathers." Thus speke the old man, and tears bediumed his eyes, and his voice faltered. Again he resumed:
"It was an overruling Providence that raised up relied for strength and wisdom-and victory; effort unhinged his mental powers, and he became a maniac. Poor shote! A good lesson for John Bull. he was sant out to quell the Whiskey Insurrection. The half of the people here don't know that their mountain village was ever honored by his presence. O, I wish I could see his like again, but remember well; I was a boy, and went with my father to Strasburg. After a little I saw a very large man on a white horse ride up to the tavern. horse, and my father, who had been a soldier of the Revolution and knew him, walked up and shook hands with this strange personage. As soon as I had opportunity I said to my father:

"Who was that big man with the big nose that you shook hands with a while ago?"
"My son, that was our good Genoral Washington, about whom I have told you so much.— Never forget this precious hour in your life's history; keep the image of this great man always before your mind; pattern after his glorious example, and in goodness, at least, if not in greatness, strive to be like him—and, my son, you will never be put to shame."

DAVID WILMOT'S CHOICE. - A couple | blackhearted Opposition was routed and slain. I excuse me, Mr. Editor, I have already trespussed on your columns.

Next day was the glorious Fourth, the 81st anniversary of the ever memorable '76, and in spite of what the old man said about frolicing on that day, I started early for Chambersburg to see this "frolic." The celebration was opened by the firing of cannon, the ringing of bells, and with grand martial music. Next came an immense train least fifteen in number, each preceded by bands of We have but one remark to make upon this fierce and unctions profanity, and that is, that Mr. Wilmot has picked and coined his party. the general parade, was that of a man dressed and painted like an Indian, scated on one of the en-gines. No one could have perceived that he was a "pale face" except by close inspection. With amusing self-possession, he smoked the pence-pipe, as a token of friendship and good will between the different companies. Peace and har-mony should always reign among these useful orcanizations; and whenever anything should occur o break these pleasant bonds asunder, all should

"Smoke the calmut together,
And as brothers live henceforward." After parading several hours the firemen proseeded to the front of the Court House, where eac company was presented with a handsome wreath and an address was delivered to each company separately. Among the speakers I noticed Mr Haideman, of Harrisburg, who so faithfully sorv ed the Democracy in the great campaign of last fall. The speakers were loudly applauded as they severally left the stand, some anid showers of ocquets prepared by the ladies. The Declaration of Independence was read by W. Carlisle, Esq., and then followed the Fourth of July Oration by Mr. Brewer, of Chambersburg. Of this part of the performance I hardly know how to speak.— The oration was anything but a spontaneous out-burst of heartfelt patriotism, having been too carefully written in regard to style and mere ver-bal beauty. Elaborate, and of fine classic finish, but to be a portrayal of those stirring realilies—"the times that tried men's souls." Mr. B.'s style is entirey too florid to be pleasing, and while he was de-ivering his carefully prepared dreams, the majority of his audience were either dreaming themsolves about something else, or paying no atten tion. When will orators learn to speak to those tion of newspapers? Yet I would not speak to the disparagement of this gentleman as a writer and their literary performances is scarcely thought of. Cicero, the greatest Roman orator of his time, and alike distinguished for his pride, was always laud-ed at the close of a speech, as follows: "What a Pardon the digression. In conclusion I would say that this was the most complete fourth of July celebration I have ever witnessed. Though so many thousands of our fellow-citizens from all quarters were here assombled, yet the most perfect order prevailed; which, may Heaven grant, may ever prevail on each recurring birthday of our nation's liberties! HONEY is universally admitted to be agreea ble to the taste of every person, and the proper place to get it is known to be the bee hive; conequently every person desiring their taste suited, need but remember that the Bee Hive is the place o call.

The superiority of this Great Hive, aside from the enormous stock constantly in Store, is also evident from the fact that those Bees assume quite a different disposition, with regrard to their gatherings, to what other Bees do: instead of driving visitors away by flying at them in a haughty manner, and humming some unintelligible lan-guage in their ears, and send them away lamenting and crying with disappointment and pain, for having to leave without getting a bit of good Honey, and being badly stung in the burgain,—they are kindly disposed to solicit the friendship, and cherish the visits, of neighbors and strangers, and endeavor, in every way, to treat them with inducements that will make them call soon again. They cheerfully dispose of any quantity of their sweet stock, at trifling prices, and never fail in sending away customers laughing and rejoicing, with the Great Bargains, and frequently exclaiming, with overwhelming joy, "Behold this is the

It will also be found that the bees of this great Hive have not been lying idle during the winter and particularly since the first appearance of Summer, when a portion of them immediately flew off to the flowery East, where their gather-ings nover failed to be the most choice of the season. Having just returned from their third tour this Spring, from the city, they are prepared to show their numerous friends the handsomest selections ever brought to this Borough, embracing in variety a collection of every article in their line hat necessity, fancy and fashion can conceive .in short, their store is complete, and an invita-ion is extended to all who believe in the truth o ioney being sweet, or value the satisfaction of naving their taste suited. Step into the Bee Hive Store. The large swarms that are continully moving to and fro, in and out, around and bout, is another evidence that their labors have not been in vain, or remain unappreciated by a patronizing public. The merits of this great Hive have not only become apparent at home, but its fame is also fast spreading itself throughout the land.

As far back as 1836, my hair commenced falling off, until the top of my scalp became bald and smooth as glass, and it has continued to fall for a great many years, notwithstending I have used many celebrated preparations for restoration. Seeing fall for a great many years, notwithstending I have used many celebrated preparations for restoration. Seeing your advertisement. I was induced to give your article a trial, and, to my utter astonishment. found, after a few applications, that my hair became firmly set, and assumed a glossy and beautiful appearance; and by the time I had used a quart bottle, my bald head was covered over with a young and vigorous growth of hair, which is now from one to two inches in length, and growing fast.

Yours, truly,

Guartesony, Mass. Ang. 0.1855.

Gents:—Nothing but a duty and sympathy that I feel to communicate to others that are afflicted as I have been, would induce me to give this public acknowledgement of the benefit I have received from Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. When I first commenced using it, my ment of the benefit I have received from Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. When I first commenced using it, my hair was quite gray, and in spots entirely bald. I have now used the Restorative about five months, and my haft is entirely changed to its original color, brown, and the new hair is over three inches in length on the spots where it was bald. I have also been much gratified at the healthy moisture and vigor of the hair, which before was dry, and it has ceased to come out as formerly.

Respectfully yours, &c., Mrs. R. A. STODDARD.

Gents:—At your request, and being so highly pleased with the effects of the Restorative, I am free to state that my hair had become quite thin, and entirely white. I have, for the last five years, been in the habit of using dyes but hearing of the extraordinary effects of this article, I was induced to try it. My hair has been restored to its original thickness, and also to its former color, which is light brown. Yours, respectfully,
Mrs. INGALLS.

Prof. Woon—Dear Sir—Having made trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say, that its effects have been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant tendency to itching, with which I have been troubled from my childhood, and has also restored the hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article, with anything like the same pleasure and profit.

What is it you—This Wood's Hair Resonative?—Is a question asked daily by hundreds. We answer without hesitation or feur of contradiction, that it is the only article known which will do all it promises for the human hair. If will renew its onown—It will stop its falling—It will reserve its natural colon! It is not a Hair Dye, but a speedy and efficacious Restorative.

The Farms consist of the best limestone soil of the most superior quality for farming, in a rapidly improving place, into which an extensive emigration is now pouring. The property is located in Elk county, Fenn sylvania, in the midst of a thriving population of some 10,000. The climate is perfectly healthy, and the terrible plague of the west fever is unknown. It also has an abundance of the best quality of Coal and Iron. The price to buy it out is from $\tilde{S}$ to $\tilde{S}^20$ per acree, payable by instalments, to be located at the time of purchasing, or a share of $\tilde{S}^2$ acres eatitling to locate the sense for $\tilde{S}^200$, payable $\tilde{S}^2$ per month or $12\tilde{S}^2$ acres payable $\tilde{S}^2$ per month or $12\tilde{S}^2$ acres

Fourth-Three reffronds are laid out through this Fourth—Three reffroads are laid out through this property. The Sunbury and Erie Railroad gives us a market for our coal to the lakes—it runs from Erie to Philisdelphia. A large part of this road has been finished, and is now in running order. A heavy ferce is now working from Erie towards our land in the western direction, the means for the completion of which has been raised—it will soon be finished. The Allegheny Valley Ruilroad connects us with New York, Boston and Pittsburg. The Venango Road connects us with the West. There are already good Turnpite Roads running through this property, various other roads have been which has already taken place.

There is no opportunity equal to it now offered to the man who wants to provide himself a home in an easy way, and make a settlement where he can live in prosperity and ladependence in a climate PERFECTLY HEALTHY.

No case of the fever ever having been known to occur

No case of the fever ever having been known to occur Accessed the lever ever having been known to occur in this settlement. It is not like going to the backwoods of the West, among perhaps intolerant people, where there is no society, churches, or schools, where the price of land is high, and where the emigrant, after being us. hiest climate in the world, has to endure sickness, and pain, and perhaps ruins his health and that of his family. But here is a thriving sattlement, having three towns, containing churches, schools, ho-tels, stores, saw mills, grist mills, and everything desirtels, stores, saw mills, grist mills, and everything desired. There is a cash market at hand. The lumber trade last year amounted to over two hundred million feet of lumber. In a short time, owing to the coal, it will become still more valuable, as a number of iron works and manufactories will soon be started; they are at present starting them extensively at Warreu. Even for those who do not wish to go there, the payments are such that they can easily buy a farm to save their rising families from want in the future, or to gain a competence by the rise which will take place in the value of lands. By an outlay scarcely missed, a substantial provision can be made.

Persons should make early application; apply or write to E. Jeffries, Secretary, No. 135 Walnut street, below Fifth, Philadelphia. Letters carefully answered giving full information Shares or tracts of land can be bought or secured by letter enclosing the first instalment of five dollars, when the subscriber will be furnished with books, maps, &c. Warrantee deeds given. Persons can also purchase om our agents. Route from Philadelphia to Tyrone on the Pennsylva-ria Central Railroad, and thence by stage to the land. This is a delightful season to visit St. Mary's—the best total accommodation is afforded. Enquire for E. C. Schultz, Esq., the agent for the property at St. Mary's.
