

my letter to the Committee, as also their reply, by which you will perceive that your suggestion does not meet their approval, and that, for reasons stated at length, I ought not to accede to your proposition. It is therefore respectfully declined.

I am, yours, truly, WM. F. PACKER.

Lebanon Advertiser.

Lebanon, Pa. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1857.

A NATIVE VOLCANO.—In the Broad Mountain of the Schuylkill coal region, a subterranean vein of Coal has been burning for twenty years.

The Rolling Mill of the Cambria Iron Company was entirely destroyed by fire, on the 1st inst. The loss is about $60,000. It will be immediately rebuilt.

It is reported that Thomas J. Rusk, U. S. Senator from Texas, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, at his home in Texas, on the 29th ult. No cause is given for the act.

LOUIS RITTER, Esq., has withdrawn from the Reading Adler Printing Establishment, and the whole concern is now under the sole proprietorship and management of Col. Charles Kessler.

Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, Ex-Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, and one of the noblest old line Whigs in all Massachusetts, is to be the Democratic candidate for Governor of that State this fall.

AN EDUCATIONAL "HARVEST HOME" is to be celebrated at Millersville, Lancaster county, on Saturday, the 22d inst. Gov. Pollock, other notables, and the friends of education in general will be present. The Normal School subject will be discussed and explained.

THE AUGUST ELECTIONS.—A few words will suffice for the elections held this month. It is the old story—democratic victories!

Kentucky gives about 10,000 Democratic majority! Alabama—no opposition—all the vote majority!

Missouri.—Democratic Division. In doubt. North Carolina.—The Democrats have carried the State by a large majority.

Texas.—The Democratic candidate for Governor, D. F. Reynolds, is elected Governor over Sam. Houston, by about 15,000.

We publish on the 1st page, the correspondence, in relation to stumping the State. Since Wilmot is so very anxious to stump the State in company with an adversary we would suggest the propriety of him challenging Mr. Hazlehurst, who has already announced his intentions on that point. The public would derive much information and amusement from the contest.

Mr. Hazlehurst is to be in Lebanon on the 19th inst. We hope Mr. Wilmot will also find it convenient to be here. The people might then learn how hopeless the chances of either are for ever being Governor of Pennsylvania.

A New Kink in the Pig's Tail!—Our Republican opponents have of late talked and printed considerable about "fusion between Americans and Locofocos," &c. The "Americans," as they pretend, in their estimation, are only a "miserable portion of semi-lococo side-door arrangementists" and at best not of much account.

Thus their professions. Now for the reality. We find there are some Black Republicans so much afraid of the "Americans," that they are courting, and holding out inducements for a union of themselves with the Democratic party against these same "Americans!" As an earnest of sincerity on the part of the B. R.'s, a faction of their forces last week held a meeting in Philadelphia, and struck from their ticket the name of William Millward, their candidate for Canal Commissioner, and inserted the name of Nimrod Strickland, the Democratic candidate. Of course the Democrats will look upon all propositions of alliance with contempt, but the offer for fusion by the Black Republicans is palpable. We presume they expected the Democrats to follow suit and strike one of their candidates; then the B. R.'s would strike another of theirs until a complete fusion ticket was formed! Oh, no; the Democrats will have every tub stand upon its own bottom.

Banks and Banking in Penn'a. It ought never to be forgotten by any Democrat, that the policy of his party, is against all class legislation, the results of which is to make the rich, richer, and the poor, poorer. Our party has been engaged in a struggle against all forms of it ever since it originated, and this constitutes the true distinction between it, and every other party, whatever name the other may assume.

That form of class legislation which has resulted in the establishment of Banks, has always been denounced by it, and no man has ever received its confidence, known to be in favor of them. It cannot be denied, that nominal democrats, have very much aided in making them, what they now are, a constitutional sore in the body politic, which must be tenderly handled.

A rude effort to destroy them at once, would probably prostrate the patient, at least, for a time, yet so great are the evils of the system, that it is our firm opinion, that if every bank in the country were to be swallowed up by an earthquake, with every dollar of specie in their vaults, twenty years hence the country would be better off, provided no new ones were chartered, with the power of issuing bank-notes, or of discounting. Their only legitimate purpose is that which occasioned their original establishment, viz: exchange. Able and bad men have since found them so useful an instrument for extracting money from the labor of the community, without contributing their fair share of the sweat of the brow denounced as a curse on all men, that they are lothe to give them up. Hence it is, that by bribery and corruption of all sorts, bank-charters are forced through the Legislature, and when a weak man fills the gubernatorial chair, receive his signature also.

The consequence is, that in every community, some men are growing rich, and others poor, without most people being able to tell where their money comes from. This, they may be assured of, that however it may be obtained by such men, it springs from the labor of the masses. It is they who really pay the enormous rates of interest, which the banks are entitled to take by law, and the still more cruel usury which our abominable system of credits, forces men of business to pay, to meet their engagements, when through accident or otherwise, they are, what is technically termed, "short" or in other words out of money, and have to pay their notes or fail. How all this has been brought about, and how it is done we have not room this week to explain, but shall fully detail in our next and succeeding issues.

JAMES B. CLAY, son of Henry Clay, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Ashland District, Kentucky, is elected by about 100 majority. This result will excite the rejoicing of every Democrat in the land, when it is remembered that this district at the last Congressional election gave about 1600 majority for the opposition.

A brutal prize fight came off in Canada, on the 1st inst., between Dominic Bradley and S. S. Rankin, two Philadelphia Bruisers. The fight was for $1,000 a side, and occupied two hours and fifty-seven seconds, resulting in Bradley obtaining the victory, 157 rounds were fought, and about 4000 spectators were present.

The Burdell Murder!

Mrs. Cunningham re-arrested—A Fictitious Child Birth—Mrs. Cunningham surprised with a Marked Child from the Hospital—Astounding Disclosures—Dr. Catlin, a Nurse, and others arrested with Mrs. C.

Public excitement about the great Burdell mystery—almost dead through lapse of time and lack of interest—was revived yesterday with tenfold vigor. Mrs. Cunningham re-arrested?—Why? When? How? Has there been another murder, or has the well kept secret at last from that unparalleled tragedy for which Emma Augusta Cunningham was tried and acquitted? How is it that she was again arrested? It will be remembered, that shortly after the conclusion of the trial of Mrs. Cunningham for murder, a rumor prevailed that she was with child by Dr. Burdell, and that in due time living pledge of the union would be produced.

Dr. Uhl was sent for by Mrs. Cunningham to wait upon her. Dr. Uhl had been her medical adviser previous to the date of the murder, had attended her during the inquest, and was a prominent witness in the investigations which grew out of the murder and the claim for the property. Dr. Uhl accordingly went to see her, and was by her informed that she was enclente by Dr. Burdell and expected to be confined about the middle of August. She asked him to become one of her medical attendants upon the accouchement, and Dr. Uhl consented. In a few days he called again, and advised with her about her condition. Upon pressing some certain medical inquiries, his suspicions became aroused. Up to this time Dr. Uhl had rather favored the idea that Mrs. Cunningham was entirely innocent of the charge of murder. He visited her again, and his doubts about her "interesting situation" became almost certainties. He immediately laid the matter before David E. Wheeler, Esq., his counsel, who directed him to go to Dr. Burdell, and make a necessary affidavit. Dr. Uhl then called on Mr. Hall—this was about the date of July 10—and stated the facts, asserting, however, that he would not make an affidavit, as he did not wish his professional confidence to be at issue. Mr. Hall told him that if such a thing was contemplated by Mrs. Cunningham, it was a very serious felony, and punishable by imprisonment in a state prison not exceeding ten years.

Dr. Uhl said he would reflect upon the matter. He did so, and on the following day told Mr. Hall that he would place himself entirely at his disposal and at the disposal of the authorities, and engage in any plan which Mr. Hall might project. The advice of the District-Attorney was that he should go, and concealing his doubts and suspicions, learn from Mrs. Cunningham her full views and arrangements.

Upon another interview Mrs. Cunningham admitted to Dr. Uhl that the approaching confinement was a humbug, and "the unborn child" a myth, and offered him $1,000 if he would undertake the job of providing a child and assisting at the accouchement. Whereupon Dr. Uhl apparently assented, and returning to the District-Attorney reported. The latter functionary said he had a great many things on his hands—that these things worried him more or less, and that therefore the sooner the crisis was reached the better. He then laid down this plan: That Dr. Uhl should invent the fable of a California widow, whose husband being away, was indiscreet and was ready to present her lord with a "responsibility" for which in law he was not responsible; that being sent for to go to California, she was anxious to bestow it upon any one. This mythical matter was to be located near by in Elm-street; that on any convenient day a child should be "borrowed" for a few hours from Bellevue Hospital and sent for to the Elm-street place of refuge of the distressed California widow by Mrs. Cunningham; that the latter should be in travail for a few hours, and then while in possession of the "little stranger" suddenly be restored to a delighted convalescence with a variety of minor dramatic touches.

The plan was given to Mrs. Cunningham, who was highly pleased with it, and became impatient for the denouement. Dr. Uhl asked her when it would be most convenient for her to become a mother. July 28th was the shortest time for the "ordinary gestation," (as spoken of by Judge Dean,) under the theory of the marriage before the Surrogate, and so the first week in August became the settled upon time. On the 1st day of August, Mr. Hall found it necessary to find another physician who should take charge of the child and care for its health, whilst it was in a state of loan, and also to obtain the infant. He sent for Dr. De la Montagnie and to him confided his plans. The Doctor promised to lend his aid and came down to New-York for that purpose. District Attorney Hall had an interview with Mr. Warden Daly, of the Bellevue Hospital, on Monday last, and examined into the state of the "lying in" Ward. It was found favorable. The child would be forthcoming.

Dr. Uhl and Dr. De la Montagnie were then brought together by Mr. Hall at his office and after a consultation they started out to find fitting apartments where to might come the messenger of Mrs. Cunningham with a basket and wherein (in the apartments and not the basket) the mythical widow of California has to reside. Elm-street was found to be particularly full of "apartments," but there were none private enough except some in the house of Mr. —, a larger bier gentleman of No. 190 Elm-street.

A card with the name upon it was given to the worthy host of 190 Elm-street—rooms were selected—and by 12 o'clock, noon, of Monday Aug. 3 the first act of the drama of "My Little A" adopted" was over.

The denouement of this strange story now rapidly approaches. It was necessary to furnish the room in Elm-street, for it was probable that a messenger from Mrs. Cunningham might come to see it. Accordingly the District-Attorney sent from his residence a cart-load of furniture. It arrived and was sent to the room a few minutes before Mrs. Cunningham in person walked past to take a survey! She found it all satisfactory. Pending the dispatch of the furniture, Dr. De la Montagnie proceeded to Bellevue in a coach—removed the child in his Hospital clothes, and a nurse named Mary Regan for the occasion. The child—a female one—is the daughter of a poor woman in the hospital, named Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Anderson, and was born about 10 or 11 o'clock, last Saturday morning. Dr. De la Montagnie arrived at the house No. 190 Elm-street about 8 1/2 o'clock on Monday. In the meantime the furniture had been put in place, and a gentleman in the vicinity went to be the afflicted widow in case Mrs. C.'s messenger insisted upon seeing the bona fide lady. Thus, all was arranged, including a basket belonging to Mr. Hall, with a nest pillow in it ready for conveyance of the petite enfant.

About 9 o'clock Inspector Speight saw a female come out of house No. 31 Bond-street dressed in darkish clothes and a hood. She proceeded to the Bowery and got into a down going car. Inspector Speight also got in. Whilst there a friend came to him and said "there is Mrs. Cunningham," pointing to the lady who had emerged from No. 31 Bond-street. The Inspector turned it off and no more was said. At the corner of Broome and Marion-streets she got out. Mr. Speight tarried on the car half a block and then doubled and succeeded in seeing her enter No. 190 Elm-street.

She soon came up stairs and presented herself at the door. She contented herself with looking into the room merely. There were terrific moanings heard from the inside room, caused by the pains of the afflicted "paternal" mother, and the basket was delivered and taken out. So quick were her motions that Officer Walsh in the obscurity just missed her, but followed into the Bowery with Dr. Montagnie. The Doctor came close to her, but could not see her face. He however distinctly recognized the house, and one brought from Mr. Hall's house, and the one last seen in No. 190 Elm-street. She turned into Bond-street, seen by both Dr. Montagnie and Inspector Speight, and Patrolman Walsh carrying the basket.

A messenger was observed to go to Dr. Uhl's house from No. 31 Bond-street about half past nine o'clock on Monday evening, in a great hurry. Patrolman Matthews, of the Twenty-first, had been sent to Brooklyn to watch Dr. Catlin, (the physician, it will be remembered, who swore on the trial to Mrs. Cunningham's rheumatism.) About half past ten o'clock both physicians entered, and in due form Mrs. Cunningham was "brought to bed." A fictitious after-birth had been prepared, and a large painful of lamb's blood. The bloody sheets of Mrs. Cunningham's bed and placenta, stowed away in a cupboard, completed this mock confinement, which had also been systematically accompanied with imaginary pains of labor.

Mrs. Cunningham, however, despite her illness, arose from her bed to partake of a delicate lunch and then went back again. Dr. Uhl left first, and re-joining the Police, informed them how the land laid. Soon after Dr. Catlin left, and was arrested by Patrolman Wilson, as he was turning the corner of Bowery, and taken to the station-house.

Inspector Dilks, accompanied by Dr. Montagnie, as a physician, then went to No. 31, under and by virtue of that section of the Metropolitan Police Act, which authorizes Inspectors at all hours of the day and night to enter any house wherein they have reason to believe a felony is being committed. They rang at the door, and were admitted. Objection being made to their going up, Inspector Dilks courteously said he had been informed by a physician that there had been a birth of a child under curious circumstances, and it was his duty to inquire. They advanced up stairs, preceded by two "ladies"—one being an aunt of Mrs. Cunningham, and the other a nurse. The room in which Mrs. Cunningham was "confined" was the second story front room; the same in which Dr. Burdell was laid out for his funeral, and which he occupied as a bedroom in his lifetime. The back-room where the murder was committed—had been newly papered and painted, and was set out for a lunch.

As Dr. Montagnie and Inspector Dilks were entering, one of the nurses said, "Here are some gentlemen who wish to come in." Instantly her voice was heard saying quickly, "Shut the door, don't let them come in here." But Dr. Montagnie made known their business. The child was found lying every sweetly asleep by her side, and was unmistakably the child taken from Bellevue and delivered to Mrs. Cunningham in Elm-street. It may be here stated that the child was marked with lunar castles on the arms, on each ear, and very strong, capable of being identified, tied about the navel. The Doctor promised to lend his aid and came down to New-York for that purpose. District Attorney Hall had an interview with Mr. Warden Daly, of the Bellevue Hospital, on Monday last, and examined into the state of the "lying in" Ward. It was found favorable. The child would be forthcoming.

Dr. Uhl and Dr. De la Montagnie were then brought together by Mr. Hall at his office and after a consultation they started out to find fitting apartments where to might come the messenger of Mrs. Cunningham with a basket and wherein (in the apartments and not the basket) the mythical widow of California has to reside.
