Veridapondence of the "Lebanon Advertiser." LETTER FROM THE SOUTH.

The following, as will be seen by the signature, is from our respected fellow-citizen, Er. M. Richards, Esq., of the corps of Engineers, now surveying a rathroad from Vera Cruz to the city of Tractio. It is highly interesting. Would that the first news he receives from home could be otherwise than overwhelming with sorrow. It will be intelligence of the loss of a dear child, which is karrowing enough to any one, but doubly so to is harrowing enough to any one, but doubly so to one like Mr. R., of a domestic and intensely affectionate nature. Far away from home, we trust be may be able to bear the tlow with a true Christian resignation. We can feel with, and sympa-thize for, him and estimable wife in their affliction:

For the Lebanon Advertiser.

The party to which I was attached left Philadelphia at 1, o'clock, p. m., on Tuesday, the 23d December, bound for New Orleans by the Southern mail route, through Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Wilmington, N. C., Augusta, and Atlants, Ga., and on to Montgomery on the Alabama river. The journey had nothing whatever of interest connected with it. The country was poor, and everything seemed in backward condition ren North rather than in the part of the "Sunny into eternity."

We did took steamboat and proceeded down the river to Mobile: Owing to the frequent stoppages to take in cotton, the average speed of the boat through, was less than 71 miles per hour, including stops of course. Still I would advise travelers to New Orleans to take this mode of conveyance from Montgomery to Mobile in preference to jolting 168 miles in a stage, even at the expense of a little time. New Orleans was reached in 162 hours low rate of speed is caused by the everlasting breaks of line, and changing of cars. It is miserable policy that compels a break at every petty town on the route. From New York to Montgomery, Alabama, but one break is absolutely necessary, that one between New York City and Jorsey City. See what a vast saving of valuable cars, and eaten leisurely and comfortably, instead of bolted at the various dining houses along the lines, as they now are. If in addition to this, the night cars were fitted with berths, or even good sleeping seats, the traveler would steam along his journey at an average rate, including stops, of twenty-miles per bour, with less fatigue than he increase of the running speed. The stoppages on some of the extreme southern lines are perfectly sbominable. From Mobile the connection with New Orleans is by steamboat, and a short piece | get the nomination. of Railroad. LETTER FROM LANCASTER

Court Week Excitement—Trial of the Murder-ers.—Suicide of Jacob Herzog—Col. Forney's Lecture—City Election—'Local' Matters, &c.

LANCASTER, Jan. 23, 1858. Mr. BRESLIN, - Dear Sir . - This is the week on which all persons who have a taste for criminal actions of the meet disgusting kind, make their appearance in the city from all parts of the county. All the ill-bred, ignorant portion of the community attend this week's court; and indeed, they Though I weekly admire his interesting and out- for the sufferers. Every effort was made to relieve look forward to the time as they do for a holiday. "Tow Hill," that interesting locality in Columbia, where none but colored people reside, is represented by a more than "double delegation," and consequently our Court is employed two-thirds of the time with negro cases. This week, though, their is an unusual representation on account of | their actions and deeds, for that is the best critethe trial of the murderers. The Court room is constantly crowded with people during the daily sessions of the court, and from present indications, it will be the most expensive Criminal session ever held in Lancaster County.

Anderson and Richards, the murderers, were brought into Court on Monday afternoon, in order to assign them counsel to take charge of their case. The Court selected Alexander Harris and F. S. Pyfer, Esqrs. It was not generally known that they would be brought into Court on Monday, but it soon spread like wild fire, and in a very short time the room was densely crowded, all an tip-toe to obtain a glimpse of these blackhearted villians. The Grand Jury found four bills of indictment against them: two for murder together, and one against each for the same crime On Thursday morning Anderson was first arraigned before the Court, and plead not guilty, when this all exciting case was commenced. The regular list of 48 jurors was exhausted after obtaining eight men, when the doors were closed and a special venire of twenty-five men was summoned, and the other men to constitute the twelve were selected therefrom. This consumed nearly the whole morning, when the Commonwealth called their first witness, Dr. John L. Atlee, Jr., who made the post mortem examination with Dr. Bowman. The next witness was Mr. Garber, husband of Mrs. Garber, one of the murdered women, who was deeply affected at the afflicting recital of how he found them weltering in their own blood when he returned home. The prisoner appeared somewhat restless as this point of the testimony; and in small, dull eyes were in constant motion. In the afternoon the room was perfectly jammed with spectators, and anally the door were locked permitting neither egress nor ingress. Mr.

noon, remarked that these men may have gone there to rob, when they were attacked by the women, and in self defence killed them and this could not be considered murder in the first degree: this produced a great excitement, amid hisses by the udience, which was promptly check by the court.

The case was submitted to the Jury at 6 o'clock the same day, and swelve minutes thereafter they returned with a verdict of guilty in the first degree. The prisoner received the news with the same calm indifference as he exhibited during the seven boys, between the ages of 6 and 10 years, trial. Yesterday the whole morning was nearly again consumed in order to obtain a jury to try Richards. Immeuse excitement existed in and about the Court House, and people were only permitted to go in, but not allowed to come out of the room. About the same time in the afternoon one day later the jury retired and brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree at 1 after 6 o'clock. A plea of insanity was set forth by his counsel but the District Attorney proved clearly that this was not the case at the time of the murder. Before sentence of death was passed upon both prisoners, on Friday evening, they were asked whether they had anything to say for themselves, when Richards remarked that Anderson compelled him to go with him from Lebanon, to the house of Mr. Garber, where the murder was committed by Anderson, and half the spoils were given to him to keep quiet. Anderson insists on it that he is innocent, but does not deny that he was at the house on that day. Rounds of applause greeted him as he in his eloquent language portrayed the different characters of our distinguished countrymen, especially when he mentioned the name of time to the traveling public would be effected by Breckenridge, which brought down the house in this. It would be an easy matter to have it so a rapturous shout. I think we shall have more prominent man, in my opinion, before the National Democratic Convention in 1860, for the Presidency, and in all probability will gain the nomination.

entirely silent at all times as to the character and conduct of others. There are many occasions for speaking of others, and for speaking the TRUTH of rion to judge by. Our own acts alone can injure our characters. All the members of any community are interested in knowing the true character of each other. The knowledge that this character may be known, is one of the most salutary correctives of erroneous conduct, and one of the strongest inducements to pursue that which is commendable. This is certainly not denied by the "Local Reporter." I know not of any law which holds it to be "immoral, low, insinuating, &c.," to speak of any one from good motives and for justifiable ends, and I opine never will. Indeed, it is all-important that this principle prevail in a free country. Surely I will not fold my arms and close my lips, when I see one bent on mischief: nay, I consider it an imperative and high moral duty to declare openly what men and women are, and what they are aiming at, in many supposable cases. There can be no surer guide than the motire and the end. Inquiries are sometimes made, in matters of great or less importance and where the inquirer needs to be truly informed. The party inquired of has of course a right to be silent. There may be also, and there frequently aré, discussions on various topics, by confidential friends (not private cliques, of would-be ladies, if you please,) who have no particular end in view. If the conventional laws of society are held in view, I must confess my disapprobation of the

> [From the N. Y. Times of Tuesday, Jan. 19.] cred to be on fire. There were nearly 900 pupils present at the time the fire broke out, and in the excitement attending their exit from the building were crushed and suffocated by their companions on the middle landing of the lower stair-

The fire was first discovered about 21 o'clock, as near as can be ascertained, by Miss H. M. Beebe, a teacher in the primary department, second story, in a lathed-and-plastered partition wall, through which pass the tin heaters. It was undoubtedly from these beaters that the fire was communicated to the wood works. Miss Beebe, with great presence of mind, locked the door and informed the principal privately of the fire. In this manner the presence of the fire was made known to all the teachers, and without creating any unnecessary alarm. Miss Beebe had sixty small children under her charge, and after having notified the principal of the fire she dismissed the children, and they taking their cloths and books, left the premises in very good order and without accident .-All the children in this end of the building escaped with great rapidity toward Navy street. A few of the children jumped from the windows; only one of these, however, was injured, and this one, a boy, had one of his legs broken. .

Not many minutes had clapsed after the first general alarm before there was a panic among the cholars in the Navy-street and of the building. By this time many of the boys had gained the street, and had been going out in good order, obedient to the orders of the teachers. But when the smoke came drifting up the stairway, and it was noised about what the trouble was, the boys who were behind become unmanageable, and rushed in every direction to escape—a few to the windows but the majority to the Navy-street stairway. The great rush was on the stairs immediately leading to the stairs. These were filled with small boys; the older ones, in their anxiety to escape, rushed upon them until the whole space was packed with children. Of course the little ones were pressed down under the weight, and here seven boys lost their lives not by fire or smoke, but actually mothered to death.

The teachers acted very creditable, and were the last to leave the building. A number of the scholars also exercised a discretion much beyond their years, and at the height of the panic, endeavored to restore order, and rendered "valuable assistance"

This yard, in the rear of his (Herzog's) store, in North Brown then took the body to the station house; it was subsequently identified and taken to his father's house.

> Soon after three others were taken to the office of Dr. Stow, on Nassau street; two were dead before reaching the office, and the third died in a fow minutes; the others were immediately identified and taken to their parents. Miss L. French, one of the teachers, particularly distinguished herself in aiding the children to to do with Mr. Breckenridge in 1860. He will be escape from the building. It is said that she lowered as many as a dozen out of one of the second-story windows. A boy named Martin, leaped from a window in the third story on Concord street. His fall was broken by the people under the window, and escaped without injury.

A scholar related that a little girl in the Primary Department was one of the first to discover the fire, and gave a scream. Before she could direct attention to the cause of her alarm her teacher had her under subjection, and thus a panic in that room was prevented.

Frederick Ward, jumped from a second-story window on Navy street and was caught by a pobe bold enough to assort that Laurel Hill could liceman, who landed him safely. There were in all about 900 children in the building, which was calculated to accommodate twelve hundred. At least five hundred and fifty attempted to have the Laurel Hill Cemetary, and have noticed every. building by the Navy street door. Many of these were from the other wing of the building, and they contributed materially to the excitement.

they contributed materially to the excitement.

The building cost the Board of Education $17, 000 in 1853. It was not insured, Many of the school-books and a great many volumes belonging to the library were saved.

The weather still continues pleasant and clear, prescuting no indications of a colder season.

Great Crowds---Low Prices. NE morning, last week, as a friend and myself, wern leisurely walking out Market street, and on arriving near the corner of Guilford street, our attention was at tracted to a large crowd of Ladles—and nearly all of whom were provided with large market baskets, and others with satchels langing to their arms, and were evidently intent upon the same object. Upon inquiry we found that in the Mansion House, on the corner of Guilford and Market streets, is located the extensive Dry Goods. Grocery, and Oueensware Store, of our wolfte and ford and Market streets, is located the extensive Dry Goods, Grocery, and Queensware Store of our polite and affable friends, FUNCK & BRO., who have just opened a large stock of Fall Goods, and that the great crowd of Lacies were their regular customers, who may be seen daily at their counters, purchasing their goods. All we saw were evidently satisfied with their purchases; were lond in the praises of the excellent quality of their stock, and all were of the unanimous opinion that FUNCK & BRO. sell the best qualities, at lower prices, than any of their competitors. So our advice would be to you, one and all, both great and small, to give Funck & Buo. a call, and they will surely try to please you.

FOR PRODUCING HAIR ON BALD HEADS. GREY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL COLOR. GREY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL COLOR.

Juils astonishing and unequalled preparation has never failed to produce a growth on Bald Herds, when used according to the direction, and turn half back to its original color, after having become gray and reinstate it in all its original health, lustre, softness and beauty.—Removes at once all scurf, dandruff and unpleasant itching, scrofula, cruptions and teverish heat from the sculp. It also prevents the hair from becoming unhealthy and falling off, and hence acts as a perfect.

HAIR INVIGORATOR AND TONIC. gentleman of Boston writes to his friend in New Bed-

A gentleman of Boston writes to his friend in New Bedford thus:—
To your inquiries, I would reply, that when I first commenced using Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, my hair was almost white, and had been so for the least ten years and it was very thin on the top of my head, and very loose, and pulled out freely; but I found that before I had naed all the second bottle, (which was eight weeks) my hair was entirely changed to its original color, light brown, and is now free from dandruff and quite moist. I have had my hair cut five or six times since the change, and have nover seen anything like white hair starting from the roots; and it is now as thick as it ever was, and does not come out at all. It has proved in my case all that I could wish to assume the control of the contr Yours, etc, _____,

[From the Boston Herald.]

Something Worth Knowing.—By using Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, gray hair can be permanently restored to its original color. The subjoined certificate from Johnson & Stone, Gardiner, Maine, is but one of the many instances that are daily coming to our knowledge, of its wonderful effects. It is no longer problematical, but a self-evident truth, as hundreds in our community can testify.

Soli-evident truin, as anuncross in our community can testify.

Gardiner, Maine, June 22, 1855.

Dear Sir:—I have used two bottles of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the hair. Before using it I was a man of sevenity. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours, respectfully,

DANIEL N. MURPHY.

BROORFIELD, Mass., January 12, 1855.

Dear Sin:—Having made a trial of: your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant itching tendency with which I have been troubled from childhood; and has also restored my hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. Lhave used no other article with anything like the pleasure and profit.

Yours, truly, J. K. BRAGG.

[From the Misseuri Democrat.]

Woon's HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its neculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color and appearance of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their foilet.

CURABLE BY INHALATION!!

Discusses of the Lungs and Throat

ARE POSITIVELY

CURABLE BY INHALATION!!!

Which conveys the

Remedies to the cavities in the lungs through the alpassages, and coming in direct contact with the disease, neutralizes the tubercular matter, allays the cough, causes a free and easy expectoration, beals the lungs, purifies the blood, imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving that tone and energy so indisponsable for the restoration of health. To be able to state confidently that Consumption is curable by Inhalation, is to me a source of unalloyed pleasure. It is as much under the control of medical treatment as any other formidable disease; ninety out of every hundred cases can be cured in the first stages, and fifty per cent. in the second; but in the third stage it is impossible to save more than five per cent., for the lungs are so cut up by the disease as to defy medical skill. Even, however, in whe last stages, inhalation affords extraordinary rollief to the suffering attending this fearful seourge, which an unally destroys ninety-five thousand persons in the United States alone; and a correct calculation shows that of the present population of the earth, eighty millions are destined to fill the Consumptie's grave.

Truly, the quiver of death has no arrow so fatal as Consumption. In all ages it has been the great enemy of life, for it spages meither age one sex, but sweeps off allies the brave, the beautiful, the graceful, and the girted. By the help of that Supreme Being, from whom someth every good and perfect gift, I am enabled to offer to the shifted a permanent and speedy cure in Consumption.
