SET A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Nothing is so easily done as to preach and talk of oblightions which we are under to do justly . and walk humbly; but it is altogether a different matter to write and preach, and talk simply by example. And yet though the former be useful, how much more valuable and effective is the lat-ter. What are those most beautiful essays on the cardinal virtues, compared with the excellence of the life in which these virtues have a living and vital existence? It was not along the doctrines, advanced with such dignified and persuasive elo. quence by our Saviour, nor the wonderful mira ter outside, went the launch, hurried along before Mr. Alvin, the owner of the ship her hushand cles performed by him, which made the hearts of the strong breeze which added to the strongth of commanded, to await those who had gone forth men follow him ; these were rendered doubly of fective by the example which he set at all times. even under the most trying circumstances.

And so it is now, in an humble sense, by mere human hopes. Men may preach and the world will listen, but profit comes by example. A parent, for instance, inculcates gentleness to his children by sound precepts; but they see him treat his beast in a rude angry manner, and in consequence, his instructions are worse than lost, for they, are neither beeded nor respected., His example, as a gentle, humane, man would have
