CO CHEWERS

TOBACCO CHEWERS

Or. Gustav Linnard's Taste Restorative Troches, the Great Substitute for Tobacco

The savell known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe Mental and Physical Disorders to which the race of inan is subject, as careful analysis and long and peinful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system; manicasting itself—as all who, baye ever used the noxious weed will bear testimony—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsies, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES.

Are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneful all effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco: and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigotate the whole system.

Persens whe are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immeditately and throw of the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Losenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 60 Cents per box. A liberal discount to the trade. Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all erders should be addressed.

PLANTING BOX.

Few people, except professed gardeners, know times less bottom than it ought to have. Box grows nearly as well from the branches as the roots. Now the trench in which the edging is to be planted, should be full spade deep on the border side, being a few inches shallower on the al-in tightly with soil, leaving only from one and a half to two and a half out of ground. There will be no danger of it not growing, or of producing full foliage at the ground. Of course no one would think of planting box without a line .--

Trimming box edging is rarely performed either skillfully or judiciously. Instead of cutting off the top squarely, and below the preceding year's growth, let it be pruned to an angle, like the let.

THE PATENT UMBRELLA.

ONE morning, last week, as a friend and myself, were leisurely walking out Market street, and on arriving near the corner of Guilford street, our attention was attracted to a large crowd of Ladies—and nearly all of whom were provided with large market buskets, and others with satchels hanging to their arms, and were evidently intent upon the same object. Upon inquiry we found that in the Mansion House, on the corner of Guilford and Market streets, is located the extensive Dry Goods, Grocery, and Queensware Store of our polite and affable friends, FUNCK & BRO., who have just opened a large stock of Fall Goods, and that the great crowd of Ladies were their regular customers, who may be seen daily at their counters, purchasing their goods. All we saw were evidently satisfied with their purchases; were loud in the praises of the excellent quality of their stock, and all were of the unlaimous opinion that FUNCK & BRO. sell the best qualities, at lower prices, than any of their competitors. So our advice would be to you, one and all, both great and small, to give Funck & BRO. each, and they will surely try to please you.

DR. MORSE, the inventor of Morse's Innua Roop Pints lias spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all discase arise from Imparity of the Blood—that our strength, health and life depended upon the vital fluid.

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the bedoy, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of overy name; our strength is exhausted our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing of the stagnant humors; the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be a blown out. How important then that weshould keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how plessant to us that weehaye it in our power to put a medicine in your resich, namely, Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs in Nature's garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these Pills are made. is a Sudorific, which opens in the porce of the skin, and assists nature in throwing out the first of the port of the port of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an Expectorant, that opens and uncloss the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty by throwing off pflegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spirting. The third is a Chirartic, and accompanies the estire properties of the purity which cannot pass by the other is a Cathartic, and accompanies the estire properties of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood, the contest of the pills while engaged in purifying the blood, the order of the site of the body, which is the blood, b Merchant Tailoring Establishment! Beard, the Cincinnati artist, has invented a plan to stop that most inconvenient and unpunishable crime, umbrella theft, which we intend to make public at the risk of violating the patent laws. We will tell the story as he relat-"I had bought a fine silk umbrella, and started.

for the Burnet House, on a rainy day, when I began to reflect upon my extravagance, and to wonder, as I tripped along proudly under its broad and safe cover, whether or not it would go the way of all umbrellas, and leave me to the "pitiless peltings of the storm," before the day was over. True, I could keep it in my hand; but then occasionally I was so absent minded that I' would be just as apt to set it down in a public bar-room, or even to have it quiett taken out of my hand by some adroit "purloiner." Suddenly an idea occurred. I stepped in a hardware store and purchased a small padlock. On arriving at the hotel, I closed my umbrella, slipped the lock on to the wire spring which keeps it shut, and deposited it with the most perfect confidence in the public rack. I was not long waiting for a customer. A splendid looking fellow, with a goatee and moustache, stepped up with the most perfect nonchalance and took my identical umbrella. I quietly sauntered toward the door, giving a casual glance at the weather; my hero essayed to spread the sheltering silk; but alas! it was no go-again! Still worse .-What the deuce was the matter? He lookedsaw the trap, and the fall of his countenance was exactly the step from the sublime to the ridiculous I had so often heard of, but never seen before. My umbrella was quietly deposited in its place, and my gentleman meckly sauntered towards the reading room and slipped out of another door umbrella-less.

I was by no means satisfied with one experiment. In a little while I saw one of the most brazen appropriators of small things (he was especially hard on lunches and drinks—free) in all Cincinnati.

"Now," said I, "is my chance." This customer had an article in his hand, which might in courtesy be styled the "ghost of an umbrella," and cotton at that. With a grandiloquentair, he deposited it right alongside of mine, and went to the bar. There he picked up a treat and eat crackers and cheese enormously. Thence to the reading room, with my eye still on him, and in less than a minute, with a shrug, and buttoning up his coat an extra button, he passed in a rapid business manner to the door, picked up my umbrells, with scarcely a glance, as he went along. I was on hand. With a sudden movement be attempted to raise it; no go!

Again! Still a failure! With a decision perfeetly Napoleonic, and worthy of the occasion, he was about to tear away the slight obstruction, when I stepped up and said: "Don't do that! I'll lend you the key." "Ah! Mr. Beard. Ha! Strange mistake-idopt it." And with the most perfect ease he put my um brella down, took his own and vamosed. I was satisfied. I had found out how to keep an umbrella—and now I am on my way to Washington to get a patent for it.

HOW EMPR'SS EUGENIE WAS

The Paris correspondent of the New York Courier relates the following as a fact: At the moment when excitement, alarm, an confusion, were at their acme, a circumstance occurred of the most comic kind, to the intended victims of the infernal machine. The Emperor had just stepped out of his carriage on the invitation of Lanet, and had turned shocked and ley side—the soil should be made fine—and the horrified to contemplate the one hundred and fifty box inserted to the bottom of the trench; packed people who were writhing around him, when he felt his hand grasped by an unknown man of apparently low rank in life, who warmly congratulated him on his escape. Thanking the man hurriedly, the Emperor resumed, as I have said above, his regard of the sufferers, and gave orders for attention to them. His intrusive felicitor, turning from him in equal haste, took the Empress in his arms, lavished on her his compliments on her escape, and kissed her a dozen times. When the Empress entered her box, and recounted the incidents of the explosion and its consequences, as far as she was concerned, she added,

"And I was kissed with warmth by some per son, but by whom I cannot conceive." "It was, no doubt, the same friend who shook my hand," said the Emperor.

As usual, a number of young men were whill ing away their leisure hours in the cafes dedicated to them, with billiards, dominoes, piquet, and coffee, when the horrible attempt was made.-Among them was one named Lippman, a very fast man, and an enthusiastic Bonapartist. Astounded by the explosion of the shells, and aroused still further by the sudden entrance into the cafe of several splinters of the shells through the windows, which they shattered en passant, Lippman and his comrades rushed from the cafe and secing how matters stood, he flow to the rescue, and lesing his head with joy at seeing them safe, was the daring individual who had the insigne henor of a warm shake of the hand by the Em peror, and of heartily saluting, ad libitum, an Empress, in a situation never before chosen for such a demonstration of affectionate loyalty.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY BRO-

"Slips between the cup and the lip" are proverbially many, and a correspondent n arrates an instance of a slip of this kind which may serve as a warning to all light hearted young men and. maidens to keep their countenances during the peformance of the solemn service which begins with "dearly beloved," and ends with "amezement."

CAUDLE LECTURE REVERS'D | GREAT CLOCK AT STRAS BURG. The following, "rich, rare and racy," is a capi-

THE GUILLOTINE.

This instrument of punishment was introduced into France in the year 1790, when the National Assembly was deliberating the penal code by Joseph Ignance Guillotin, from whom it derives its name. From motives of humanity Guillotin proposed decapitation, a punishment hitherto used only for nobles, and introduced this machine, which had been long used in Italy under the name of "manning," and in Scotland by the name of "maiden." Therefore the prevalent notion that this instrument was invented by Guillotin is erroneous. Though connected with the most horrid recollections, the Guillotine is perhaps the ensiest, the quickest, and most effectual mode of execution that could be adopted .-It consists of two upright posts fixed in a horizontal frame, and a wedge shaped blade, which, suspended by a pully, moves up and down the posts by means of grooves. When a criminal is to be executed the blade is drawn up and suspended at a considerable height; the condemned is laid upon his face with his neck directly beplanted. It is usually stuck in a few inches and neath the knife, and bound to the platform, and left straggling on the top of the ground, with the cord being loosened the blade falls with great three or four times as much top, and three or four rapidity, and immediately severs the head from Nothing, perhaps, is more revolting to a sensitive individual, than to behold a woman in a passion. Habituated as we are to think of woman as the gentle being who shall soothe us in our hours of tempest, and conciliate us in our moto find her depriving herself of the delicacy so Her mistress saidcharacteristic of her sex, by violent and unreasonable rage. I have been long on terms of the most confidential intimacy with a young female of superior beauty and accomplishments. She possesses every qualification necessary in my ostimation, to render the married state happy, if I except that most disgusting of all foibles, a quickness in anger, which swallows up all her modesty of character. When she is thus excited, all the most abhorrent passions of the human heart seem contending for the mastery. Her voice becomes corse and nasul, her eyes lose their mild brilliance and beauty, and her entire face hat he could tame the most furious animal by is suffused with the color of passion. She rages like a tigress, and however devotedly a man may regard her, the moment he witnesses one of her hysteric fits of rage, I am confident he will be cured of his affection. Strange what an influence unbridled passion has upon beings who otherwise would be almost faultiess. Parents shoul! look to these things when their children are young, for if a habit of this kind grow up with

This horrid mode of execution was originated in Germany, about the 14th century, whence it was introduced into France, but was confined to the punishment of the most atrocious or iminals. In Gormany the malefactor was bound upon a cart wheel and his limbs fractured by the executioner, with an iron bar.

But in France the criminal being bound to a St. Andrew's cross, and his limbs broken, if still alive, was placed upon a small wheel, with his face upwards, and his legs and arms bent under him, and there left in agony, to expire. Sometimes, however, the executioner, after breaking, was permitted to kill him by a blow on the breast thence called a coup de grace.

INTERESTING.—A Western Editor writes. The paper this week presents rather a slim display of editorial and not much of a variety of news, but we can't help it. With chills running down a man's back, and his head feeling as though it contained half a dozen trip hammers three or four saw mills, and as many cotton factories, all driven by a steam engine fully equal to the task—we submit that he is not in a condition to write editorial that would be read with interest or profit by the pious or refined. A Porcelain Nose:—A Boston paper notices that a Dr. Codman of that city has made for a young lady in that vicinity a porcelain nose, to be worn with spectacles, which is of the exact shape of the original organ, and of a color like that of the natural skin. All this may be very creditable to the professional skill of the Doctor, but a porcelain nose cannot be off the slightest service to a woman, since it cannot be made "to turn up" under any provocation.

Col. Query is a gentleman and a wit. The other day he was showing the town to some of them asking him why the lightning rod, where incased in a piece of horn, the gallant Col. replied that horn was a non-conductor. "Oh, indeed," said the lady, "I never know that-

"To be sure," says the Col. "Have you never observed that when the boys have had a horn or. two they can't conduct the selves properly?" The great height from the ground prevented the lady from fainting.

On another occasion the Colonel was asked by some ladies if it was not worse for the gentlemen to drink liquor than for the ladies to use snuff. The Col. replied that both were very bad; and that if his wife should ever take to snuff, he'd licker, certain !

The Col. had rather the best of the controversy and the decision was given accordingly.

CHILDROOD'S TEARS.—There is sometimes at moral necessity for the correction of children, notwithstanding the pain which a profusion of tears will often give us. The great rule is, never to correct in anger, but the firmness which is founded on the deliberations of reason. The sorrows of children, however, are exceedingly transcient, andhave often been made the poetical remark, but in no instance with more beauty than the following simile by Sir W. Scott:

Is like the dew-drop on the rose: When next the sammer breeze comes by, And waves the bush, the flower is dry.

A GRACEFUL COMPLIMENT .- It was a judicious resolution of a father, when being asked what he intended to do with his girls, he replied. "I intend to apprentice them all to their excellent mother, that they may learn the art of improving time, and be fitted to become, like her, wives, mothers, and heads of families, and useful members of society."

The regret men have for the time they have ill-spent, does not always induce them to spend what remains better.

HERE WE ARE AGAIN ALL RIGHT SIDE UP WITH CARE!

ANSAS is creating an important excitement all over the country, threatening a dissolution of Union between the North and South, instigating alarming fights in Congress, and fearful flare-ups in State Legislatures. State Conventions have assembled, city and town mass meetings have been hold—in short the whole country has been in a general uproar.
