Soon Tired of Office.—The North American says that "a day or two since, a man from Marietta, who had been working strenuously for some months to obtain it, received an appointment as clerk in the Philadelphia Post Office.-He went to work in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, to remain on duty until 7 o'clock next morning .-He endured the drudgery until about ten o'clock when hereturned to his boarding house, first having written a letter of resignation to Mr. Westcott. The heat of the office, the glare of the gas burners, and the exhalation from the surrounding alleys, was too much for the countryman, while the two dollars per diem salary, were altogether too little." This office seeker, concludes our cotemporary, was a sensible man. The individual referred to, is understood to be Mr. Jos. Buchanan, of Marietta.

Swimming.—In former years we have several times called the attention of our readers to the importance of teaching young persons of both sexes how to swim. Upon this subject we find in the New York Courier & Enquirer the following sensible remarks:-

The season for boating and bathing is upon us. and almost every day brings new cases of deaths by drowning. In nine cases out of ten these deaths occur from sheer inability to swim. It is an inability of which every civilized man or boy ought to be ashamed. Every child who can learn to walk can learn to swim; and so far as the prescryation of life is concerned, the latter is quite as important as the former-in fact more so .-There are very few who, in the course of their earthly experiences, do not at some period find themselves in danger of being cast into water beyond their depth; and every man should be prepared for such an emergency, for his very life may depend upon it. In most barbarous countries, infants are taught to swim as invariably and naturally as they are taught to walk. The young mother takes to the river side her baby of a few months old, ties her girdle around it, and lets it play in the water, and find its own way of ballancing itself and moving from point to point, so that many a child can swim before it is steady on its feet on dry land. In such a country as Egypt, where the water is the great highway, and there are no bridges, land and water are all one to the natives. The most trifling case or whim launches a child of any age into the water, with or without its palm-log or bunch of grass. Everybody there crosses the river by canal as we An honest and impartial Statecross the road or the common.

We know what feats of diving the people Malta will do for the smallest coin; and that in wild regions where those people live whom we call savages, land and water are as common to the inhabitants as earth and air to the birds. How is it with us meanwhile? There are hundreds of young men with all the pride of manhood, who would be no match for kittenhood in the waterwho know no more from place to place than an unborn babe. We are apt to have longings to fly; and everybody who dreams at all, dreams of flying. But who can say, after all whether if we had wings, a quarter of our number would use them? Birds have wings and yet have to learn to fly. The majority of civilized men, we think. would hardly take the trouble. At all events they have four limbs and don't know why the asrial should be more attractive than the aqueous element. There are parents who are restless till their children are vaccinated, and yet are wholly supine about securing them against the risk of drowning—in this regard neglecting a parental duty which a Hindee mother or a red Indian attends to most faithfully. There is great need for improvement here. The levy which death makes every summer day as a penalty for approaching the water is as unnecessary as it is ornel, and it ought to be abolished. Our coroner's inquests pronounce the verdict of "accidental death" in those cases, but a death which arises from such a cause can hardly be called accidental -it should be called rather the result of culpable

> The Great County Republican Convention.—The Chairman of the Republican Party of this County having issued a call for the faithful to assemble—for what purpose will be seen presently—they met at the Court House, after considerable ringing, precisely in the afternoon of July 5, 1858.

In the absence of the Chairman of the County Committee to call the Convention to order, Mr. Grittinger performed that duty, and on his motion, John C. Seltzer, Esq., of Jonestown, was chosen to preside. A Voice-"Go up," and Mr. S. went up. C. E. Hoffman, of Shaefferstown was appointed Secretary.

. Mr. S. U. Shirk moved that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the convention.

The Chairman-"How many shall the Committee consist of?" Mr. D. Hoffman remarked that the delegates to the convention had not yet presented their crevery sensible motion. The delegates then walked up to the Secretary's desk and handed over their certificates. Twenty three delegates were in attendance-all counted. The Committee on Resolutions was then announced, and withdrew to perform the duty assigned them. The Chair-"Here is a resolution asking some one to address this convention." Voices-"Seltzer, Seltzer, Seltzer,"-and general stamping of feet. A lull-a sort of calm ensued, almost insufferable. The delegates left the convention, and the President having abdicated, chaos reigned.

The President resuming his seat-A Voice-"I move that Mr. Killinger make a speech." It was put and carried.

Mr. Killinger-"Mr. President, I am not well I have a sore throat, and can't do the subject and ans," had no connection whatever with the pro you justice. Will do so at another time. Hope you will excuse me now." He was excused. The Committee, after an absence for at least ab hour, returned with the "docyments"—the resolutions. They were laid before the President,

Mr. D. Hoffman, said he had an additional set of resolutions to offer, and hoped they would pass. They were read; when on motion to adopt them Mr. Grittinger objected, and spoke at some length in opposition to them.

A general and desultary debate here ensued on parliamentary usages and laws, which finally re- current year, the good people of Lebanon and visulted in shelfing the Hoffman protocof:

Hot Work-Writing, or trying to write "items," when the mercury circulates among the nineties.

Several items not of a creditable character to the parties interested, (who several evenings since behaved in an outlandish manner) are withheld for the present.

The Examination of Mr. Houck's school, in North Lebanon, on Wednesday evening last, was instructive, and reflected credit upon teacher and Scholars. We have always preferred examinations to exhibitions.

Comfortable.—The most sensible they are no doubt all sensible,) female fashion we have lately seen are the new style Parasols. They are large enough to exclude the sun's rays from the faces and necks of their fair carriers, and are not sunshades merely by name.

Complimentary.—The Hollidaysburg Standard, one of the neatest and spiciest papers in the State, makes the following note of the Advertiser entering upon its 10th volume .-The modesty of the editor induces us to place it in our column:--

"The Lebanon Advertiser entered its tenth volume last week. There are few better papers anywhere than the Advertiser. Long may it wave."

The Perseverance Band made their first appearance in their new Wagon and Equipments on our streets on Friday evening, and looked remarkably well. The Wagon was manufactured at Mr. FULMER's establishment, is a handsome piece of mechanism, and capable of holding eighteen persons. It was drawn through the principal streets, by four splendid looking match horses. The Equipments consist of black dentials as such; which the chairman declared a pantaloons, (stripes running down the sides,) blue frock coats, and glazed caps. While passing over the various streets the Band discoursed some of their excellent music.

> Exhibitions.—The public exhibition of School No. 4, Mr. Krumbine, teacher, came off on Tuesday evening of last week. We could not be present, but learn that everything passed of well.

Mr., Mustard's School, (No. 2,) also gave an Exhibition on Thursday evening, to a large and intelligent audience. The exercises consisted of a dramatic character, interspersed with select orations. The various characters were well represented, showing they were carefully gotten up .-If viewed in their proper light they were not only amusing, but instructive. It is but proper to state that the last performance, by the "Ethiopegramme, and for which the teacher should not be held accountable. It was entirely original,

On such occasions persons should endeavor to "clear the track" for the gallant firemen.

82nd Anniversary.-The "glorious Fourth," has come and gone. The firing of cannon, ringing of bells, and delivery of patriotic orations, have again ceased, and in their stead we hear the music of the reaper's song. In the cinity celebrated the 3rd, (owing to the sucredness of the day on which the 4th happened.)-The day was ushered in by the firing of crackers, ringing of bells, and other patriotic demonstra tions incident to that great natal day.

Early in the morning the Fantasticals or Santa Anna Guards paraded through the streets in full uniform. They were an interesting looking company, armed to the teeth, and their appearance indicated as though they were able to "out-Herod Herod."

The day was celebrated by most all the Sabhath Schools with becoming spirit. These schools are of inestimable value, and as civil institutions they are priceless, and have done more to preserve our liberties than grave statesmen and armed soldiers.

Zion's Lutheran Sabbath School spent "the day we celebrate" in Lehman's Birch Woods. The day being pleasant, all enjoyed themselves highly. The Perseverance Band, which acted as an escort for the school, was the life of the day .--The discourse of their sweet notes, and the voices of the happy children, echoed through the woods school was scated around the table, which fairly grouned from the weight of its good edibles, a national hymn was sung, after which Rev. Mr Wedekind made an appropriate prayer. The good things were then partaken of by a host of people. The Declaration of Independence was rend by Master Mason Weidman, in an audible manner, which offered an example of good reading. Mr. Legh R. Baugher and Geo. W. Kline, Esq., followed with chaste and logical orations, to which we are not able to do justice in the form of synopsis. During the day various amusements were going on throughout the woods, in which both sexes joined with good will. Towards evening the sound of the bell again cailed those present around the festive board, at which by a count, 1200 people feasted. If ever we enjoyed a day it was on this occasion. Salem's Lutheran Sabbath School celebrated found all life and enjoyment. The whole school

For the Lebourn Advertiser. Celebration of tur National Athiversary by the German Reformed Sabbath School.

Any day well spent will always be held in grateful remembrance; but a celebration of our National Anniversary in a manner worthy of the birthday of freedom will not only be remembered with pleasure, but serves to infuse into the soul of every participant a purer love for his native land and a warmer devotion to its true interests.

Lebanon, this year, honored the great day chiefly in connexion with the Sabbath Schools of the borough. And if any of its citizens resume their accustomed labors with renewed energy and with brighter hopes for the continued prosperity of our country in the future; if they breathe with greater relish the sweet attrosphere of American liberty, the celebration held by the Sabbath School connected with the German Reformed Church may justly lay claim to a large share of credit in bringing about the cheering result. For to all those who participated in it Saturday was truly a brilliant day.

Notwithstanding the threatening clouds and every indication of an inauspicious day, young hearts and smiling faces at an early hour enlivered the sabbath school room, and their hapenlivered the sabbath school room, and their hap-py possessors, accompanied by their teachers and is wanted at full prices, while common defriends, were kindly escorted to the depot by the Perseverance Brass Band. CATTLE MARKET.—The arrivals of Beef CATTLE MARKET.—The arrivals of Beef viewed in the subdued light of the day, the freshness and richness of the verdure and of the ripening harvest that clothed the landscape, ever varying with the rapid motion of the train, fitted every one for a full and perfect enjoyment of the day they celebrated.

At length the train stopped at Mr. Smith's Warehouse, and, with merry hearts, all alighted and joined in three times three hearty cheers for the pleasant trip and safe arrival. The warehouse was but lately erected and was not yet used; had the weather made it necessary, it would have been an admirable place to hold the exercises usually attending celebrations of this kind. But there were still better things in store. The clouds disappeared and the bright sun welcomed the school to the grove which lay a few rods from the

But while speaking of the excursion we must not forget that for much of the pleasure attending it all who participated are indebted also to the kind attention & watchfulness of the gentlemanly and obliging conductor, Mr. Strickland. Not the least accident occured to cause any slarm or pain. At half past six the school and those who accompanied it alighted from the cars and proceeded to the square where, after singing an appropriate piece, they were dismissed by the Pastor. All then return in one common song. At dinner, when the ed to their homes with grateful hearts, highly delighted with the excursion and all the pleasures with which the day was so replete.

REWARE OF IGNORANT ENGINEERS

Infinite mischief has been done, is done daily, Infinite mischief has been done, is done daily, by a class of practitioners who may, with truth, be called medical tinkers. These gentlemen are content to patch up the diseased frame, instead of renovating the system. Their aim is to suppress rather than to eradicate. Professor Holloway in the content of belongs to a different school. His ourse are not superficial and temporary, but complete and per-manent. His theory of external diseases is founded on reason and analogy. Abscesses, ilicers, and running sores, he looks tipou as safety valves, opened by nature, to permit the escape of morbid matter. To suppress the discharge without re-moving the cause, he would consider about as rational as to the down the valve of a steam boiler while steam was rapidly generating within.er while steam was rapidly generating within.—
As the careful engineer puts out the fire in the principle which induces suppuration, before he attempts to blue the orifice through which the discharge takes place. Hence the extraordinary discharge takes place. Hence the extraordinary cures of sore legs, open wounds, abscesses, sore breasts, and ulcers of all kinds, accomplished by his Ciutment and Pills. These exterior affictions are the indices of internal corruption, and the ef-Esq., which was listened to with marked attention. The North Lebanon Band was present, and greatly enlivened the occasion.

The Methodist Episcopal School spent the day in Kreider's grove, in a pleasant manner. A neat oration was delivered by Mr. S. T. McAdam, in his usual happy style; he was followed by Mr. J. Schuyler. The Declaration of Independence was the way m. M. Breslin. Egg., after which Rev. the same time. "And art thon gone? thy gentle eye Seems smiling on as yet, As evening blushes there the sky
When evening's stin has set!
And in our bestims seems to thrill Thy last low parting tone, Like summer music lingering will When summer birds have flown

Oh Barbara! sorrow's sable shroud Is folded round our hearts, And hovering o'er our life a cloud Obscures its sunniest part. We would not turn away, or By Where happier scenes may be, We'd rather brave that darkened sky With memories of thee Dark shadows on our pathway lie, Far, far away from thee, Like vapors gathering monthly At midnight over the sea. Till with the darkness left alone, Each wave will been as sad It never had been glad.

But when the early morn shall bring Her golden censor there, And all its wealth of fragrance fling Upon the darkening air-Each billow with a sparkling crest All blest and bright will seem, As if the darkness and the mist Had been a troubled dream.

Thus, when on resurrection morn; (The morning of our hearts,) A Savious's smile shall gently shine Grim darkness will depart. And joy once more, still fresh and fair, Her sweetest incense burn Upon love's bely altar there To welcome thy return."

In this Borough, on the 2d inst., Wm. J. Ritcher, aged 16 years and 8 months. Our brother's left this world of woe, For regions of eternal love; T'was God who called him from below, To Join in graising i in above.

Sleep brother dear and take your rest, God called you home, he thought it bust, T'was hard, indeed, to part with thee, But Christ's strong arm supported me. in this borough on the 1st inst., Simon Frederick, child of William and Sarah Hartman age 1 year, 5 months and 4 days. lay of September. June 16, 1858. To the Farmers of Lebanon County.

County.

You are offered a chance this year, which has never been offered before, and, perhaps, never will be again; and that is : each farmer can try for himself. Manny's Reaper and Mower, with Wood's Improvement of the search of the area of the search and if it does not do all as represented, there are no losses statained. The Agents for Lebanon country are perfectly responsible for all they warrant them to the farmer with view of merely selling them, but to answer the purpose of their fivention—lightening labor, and giving a full equivalent for the price of their cost. There is no humbing about these Machnes. They are the latest and best improved of their kind. There are none others now extant that excel them; and to prove this, it is but necessary to say that in 1857, they took the first premiums at all the Country and State Fairs of Pennsylvania; the first promitimes in Vermont, New York, Maryland, and Tennessee. But the greatest victory achieved was at the great that it the United States Agricultural Fair, at Syracuso, in 1857, where the first and second (gold and silver include) provided in the Lest combined Machine and as a Reaper.

The Agents, A. Majora a Brother, would challenges all agents of Reapers and Mowers in this county to a trial at such time and place as will suit them. And if Manny's Reaper and Mower with Wood's Improvement is not the best Machine, a fair trial will decide it.
