> THE ROAD TO IMMORTALITY. WHAT WE BELIEVE AND WHY.

It was the remark of a distinguished physician the telegraph cable was received with of the last contury, that the man who should disgreat rejoicings all over the country by cover a specific for physical pain, as certain in its noutralizing effects as water when applied to fire, would rank in the estimation of posterity, next to the inspired writers. Professor Holloway, the founder of that simple yet profound system of medical treatment, which has traversed with such wonderful rapidity both the old world and new, appears to have accomplished this grand desideratum and soz.ething more. It is alleged by those who have tested the properties of his colebrated Pills and Ointment in their own cases, upon all internal and external disorders, but perare among the wonder-working agents of an age of wonders, cannot be questioned. Those who selieve that the science of medicine is close monopoly, and that there is no medical skill beyond ploma as a sort of "firman" to which every man should bow in homage, will of course prefer being conventionally killed to being irregularly cured. Such is not our taste. We care little for names, nothing for big words and oracular shakes of the head. What we see and know we believe; and ceally the proofs unvarying efficacy of Holloway's emedies are so numerous, so consistent, so incontrovertible, that our common sense, despite the leaning that we have in common with most men, toward time-sanctioned systems, compels ns, 20 ens volens, to attach full credit to them.

It may be weakness to be guided by our own perceptions and the testimopy of honest witnesses,
