

Wit and Humor.

The saint clothes himself in a coarse raiment and hides precious gems in his breast.

Happiness grows at our own firesides, and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens.

Heaven sends good figures. It is only woman's enemy who would tempt her to wear crinolines. [Oh! gamine!]

If a person is continually complaining of the town in which he resides, it only proves that he is not fit to live in it himself.

There is a man in Nashville, who is so tartaration out, that when he rises of a morning he puts his hand out of the window to feel if it is light.

The most barren ground, by manuring, may be made to produce good fruits; the forest beauties, by art, are made tame; so are moral virtues acquired by custom.

Girls sometimes put their lips out poutingly, because they are angry, and sometimes because their lips are disposed to meet yours half way.

At an inn in Sweden there was the following inscription, in English, on the wall: "You will find at Trobathe excellent bread, most and wine, provided you bring them."

Quite Liberal.—An Indiana paper refuses to publish obituaries, but adds: "We will publish the simple announcement of the death of any of our friends with pleasure."

An old lady was in the habit of talking to herself in a gloomy, depressing manner, presenting to him only one side of life. "Hang it," said he one day, after a long and sombre interview, "she would hardly allow there was a bright side to the moon."

Perfectly Clear.—"Fellow-citizens, I have the honor to inform you that I have been cured of my complaint. I do not believe there is a man, woman or child, in this town, who has reached the age of fifty years but who has felt this truth thundering through their brains: 'You are going to die!'"

A friend just from the famous "Aroostook Valley" tried us as a "sarin fact" that as a man walking along in a thoughtful mood, a cucumber vine gave chase to him, ran up his leg and into his pocket. He in great terror thrusting his hand into the pocket to eject the impudent intruder, found—what a ripe cucumber! "Talk about a 'sarin fact,'" he all exclaimed, "Fine growing country" that, Aroostook Valley.

When the British invaded Flitsburg, old Mr. Wooster, then preaching in Franklin county, Vermont, joined some volunteers for our army, much against the wishes of his parishioners, who were opposed to the war. He thanked them for the appointment, and added, "When you were sheep, I was willing to be your shepherd; and since you have become swine, I am willing to be your herder."

An Impossibility.—A debating society has adopted for consideration the question—"Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" The result is expected to be "No! but impossible."

"What is the cause of the potato rot?"—"It is attributed to the rot-ta-rot-y motion of the earth."—"How was this ascertained?"—"By consulting a great many common eaters."

A jeweler in America advertises that he has a number of precious stones to dispose of, adding that they sparkle like the tears of a young widow.

Black and White.—The Charleston (S. C.) correspondent of the N. Y. Pictorial says:—"You are aware that the yellow fever is raging here this time, and that we have a large class of Irish and German population, as well as some few negroes. One day last week an Irishman was passing along Calhoun Street, and in passing an old negro woman, he jolted her off the sidewalk. 'Dere, now,' says she, 'dat is all you nicks are good for—to run over poor colored folks, and come here, get the yellow fever, and die, and den give the city a bad name.'"

An Unhappy Fortune.—It is stated that a surprising daughter of one Burr comes curling into possession of quite a fortune in this way: Burr held a lease from Trinity church of the Richmond Hill property, three or four hundred lots in the center of New York, for 66 years. He re-leased the land for 63 years to Astor and others, and their lease expires in 1869. The lease for three years then belongs to Burr's daughter, and the claim is indubitable and the value of the lease is very great. Already several of the leases have compromised the claim for $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 per lot.
