The Corner,

A GREAT BORE.—General Palmer, an officer of great distinction in the British service, was as remarkable for his eminent abilities as for playful retort and brilliant repartee. On one occasion, when in India, a young and forward officer, whether of the company's civil or military service the chronicle saveth not, was rather freely and pertly cross-examining the General as to his early career and rapid promotion. He insisted on knowing the date of every grade, and the history of every distinction. Things went on quietly for some time; at length the General fired the following shot, en ricochet, and the curtain fell:

"I have now, young gentlemen,' had the pleasure of satisfying your curiosity; will you likewise permit me to indulge mine?"

"Assuredly, General—I shall willingly answer any question you may put to me."

"Well, now, I told you how I came to the country, and when; may I ask in what capacity you arrived in it?"

"Doubtless, General. I left England in the Kent, as a guinea-pig," (an inferior sort of midshipman) "It was two or three years ago."

"Really! Well, upon my conscience, I thought so. Are you sure, though, it was only two or three years ago? You have grown up such a great bore since."

PROBABILITY OF MARRYING.—A table inserted in a paper in the Assurance Magazine exhibits results of a rather startling character. In the first two quinquennial periods from 20 to 25 years of age, and 25–30, the probability of a widower marrying in a year is three times as great as a bachelor; at 20 it is nearly four times as great; from 30 to 45 it is five times as great; and it increases, until at 60 the chance of a widower marrying in a year is 11 times as great as that of a bachelor. It is curious to remark, from this table, how confirmed either class becomes in its condition of life—how little likely, after a few years, is a bachelor to break through his settled habits and solitary condition; and, on the other hand, how readily in proportion does a husband contract a second marriage who has been deprived prematurely of his first partner. After the age of 30, the probability of a bachelor marrying in a year diminishes in a most rapid ratio. The probability at 35 is not more than half that at 30, and nearly the same proportion exists between each quinquennial period afterwards.

☞ The trustees of the New York Inebriate Asylum have issued an appeal to the churches of the United States, and the American public, for assistance.—Some of the statements are most startling, as for example, the following:

Who can doubt the importance of such an Asylum when, even before its first story is completed; applications have been made for admittance, many of which are from patients themselves? Among the applicants are twenty-eight clergymen, thirty-six physicians, forty-two lawyers, three judges, twelve editors, four army and three naval officers, one hundred and seventy-nine merchants, fifty-five farmers, five hundred and fifteen mechanics, and four hundred and ten women, who are from the high walks of life. Of the vocation of the remaining applicants we have no knowledge.

Within the past two years New York has lost by death two of her Supreme Court Judges, and one of her county judges, all of whom died by inebriety, and all of whom were applicants for admission to this asylum.

☞ A Detroit police officer recently discovered that eight servant girls, belonging to one of the large hotels of the city, had been for some time in the habit of stealing hams, legs of mutton, glass and crockery ware, bed clothing, table linen, provisions, and no end of small trumpery, and conveying them away under cover of their petticoats, by means of large bags attached to their hoops.—In a receiving shop they had accumulated a large quantity of abstracted property, and one of the girls confessed to an attempt to carry out a half barrel of beer in the above mentioned manner but failed for want of a second half barrel to ballance her "patent extension" on the other side.

A NUT FOR LAWYERS TO CRACK.—A case of the following kind came up recently, as we learn from the Bedford Inquirer, in Southampton Court, in that county:

"A. B. married C. D.'s sister—his wife died. A. B then married C. D.'s daughter—she died. C. D.'s wife died—C. D. married E. F. and died. A. B. then married C. D.'s widow, and had children by each wife. What relationship exists between all the children of A. B?" Answer this "and then unkoke."

☞ A cotemporary pathetically asks, "what shall we do with society?" Let it alone, we answer, and turn your attention to reforming individuals. Once get the men and women to think and act properly, and "society" will be all right. This cry about the "depravity of society" is all a grand humbug, and is only used by men who are afraid to particularize instances of vice and corruption. Like some fashionable preachers, they talk about the sins of the world, but never allude to the sins of their congregation.

☞ It is said that a lamplighter in Easton rides on horseback while going his rounds to light and extinguish the lamps. This is certainly something new under the sun.

A FIGHTING WOMAN.—The wife of General Miraman, who has lately become President of Mexico, is said to be a regular trump card. She notified her husband—a young man of twenty seven years—that he must fight his way into the Presidential chair, or she would not live with him.

☞ The average income of the Mexican Church is twenty-five millions a year, while the revenue of the national government of the republic is only fifteen millions.
