The Corner,

A NEGRO DISCUSSION ABOUT JOHN GASSELL EGGS.

Geneva, the lovely village on Seneca Lake, furnishes the following specimen of Parliamentary ruling:

"In the fairest village of Western New York the "culled pussens," in emula-months' credit. Lebanen, April 20, 1859. tion of their white h ethren, formed a debating society for the purpose of improving their minds by the discussion of instructive and entertaining topics. The deliberations of the society were presided over by a venerable darkey, who performed his duties with the utmost dignity peculiar to his color. The fits guaranteed. Lobanon, April 18, 1859. subject for the discussion on the occasion of which we write was :

"What am de mudder ob dechickens ---de hen wot lay de eggs, orde hen wot

'hatches de chick?'' "The question was warmly debated, and many reasons pro and con were urged and combatted by the excited disputants. Those in favor of the latter proposition were evidently in the majority. and the president made no attempt to conceal that his sympathies were with the dominant party. At length an in-'telligent darkey rose from the minority side and begged leave to state a proposition to this effect:

"' Spose," said he, "dat you set one dozen duck eggs under a hen, and dey ing the president, who plainly saw the force of the argument, but had committed himself too far to yield without a struggle: so, after cogitating and scratching his wool a few moments, a bright and is prepared to do business in the neafest and best idea struck him. Rising from his chair Lebanon, April 6, 1869. in all the pride of conscious superiority, he announced.

session was the consequence. All sorts of parliamentary tactics were employed by the minority to stave off the question. It was about midnight when Green Mitchell, a member of the lower House, an eminent lawyer, a pure gentleman and large-hearted philanthropist, obtained the floor. He lifted up his voice to a shigh key, and said, pausing after every word: "Mr. Speaker—the—point—of—order—now—under—discussion—is—decided—in—one—of—the—three—large—volumes—of—Hastell's—Precedents. The corsequences was that the majority consented to adjourn, and the resolutions were passed on a subsequent day. "Hold on dar, Brudder Mose?"-The Piqua Register has the following recent issue, which we suppose to be recent issue, which we suppose to be perfectly reliable:

Quite a revival is now in progress at the African Church in this city. We were present a few evenings since, and witnessed, with much gratification, their earnest develon in the good cause.

All seemed to feel the need of a more thorough reformation. Of the incidents sconsequent, we cannot fail to note one.

A brother was supplicating the throne of grace eloquently, when another brother called, in a stentorian voice: "Who dat praying ober dar?"

The response was—
"Dat's brudder Mose."

"Hold on dar, brudder Mose!" was the dictum of the former, "you let brother Ryan pray; he's better 'quainted wid de Lord dan you am !"

Brudder Mose dried up, and brudder Ryan prayed. It would be well for persons "better acquainted with the Lord" to lead in prayer at some other revival meetings.

A waggish chap, whose wixen wife, by drowning lost her precious life, called out his neighbors, all around, and told 'em that his spouse was drowned; and in spite of search, could not be found. He knew, he said, the very nook where she had tumbled in the brook, and that he dragged along the shore, above the place a mile or more. "Above the place!" the people cried, "Why what d'ye mean!" The man replied "Of course you don't suppose I'd go and waste the time to look below! I've known the woman quite a spell, and larnt her fashions tol'ble well; alive or dead, she'd go, I swow, against the current anyhow!"

It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the professional ability of the Anthor of the "Modical Manual" Numerous cases of Diseases of the Cential Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by Self-almse, or Excess of venery, I do not know his superior in his profession. I have been acquainted with the Anthor some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him, as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional kill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.
