WHEN DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES CEASE TO LEAD, WE CEASE TO FOLLOW.

WM. M. BRESLIN, Editor and Proprietor.

LEBANON, PA. WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1859.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL: Richard L. Wright, OF PHILADELPHIA.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL: John Rowe, OF FRANKLIN COUNTY.

The opposition overreached themselves in their refusal to pass the Post Office appropriation bill last Congress. To help themselves out of the scrape they are "flying most terribly."

GET SENSIBLE ALL OF A SUDDEN.—The Philadelphia banks have come to the conclusion that the plan of their clearing-house system will not work, and have resolved to discontinue so much of it as compels country banks to keep their money there for the redemption of their notes.

The Philadelphia Merchants, also, are dissatisfied with it, because, as they say it floods them with the issues of inferior banks, a great distance off, and troublesome to collect. We presume however, that the real reason is the large trade they have lost, as also the bad feeling engendered in the country against Philadelphia, by their ill-advised action.

The recent election for Members of the Constitutional convention in Kansas is about a tie. If the Democrats have not a majority, they have sufficient strength to prevent the incorporation of any foolish provisions into the Constitution by the opposition.

Our neighbor of the Courier says that the title of "L. D. J." recently conferred on President Buchanan, is supposed to mean "Licensed to Lie Drearily."

The African slave-trade agitators have "strutted their brief hour upon the stage." In none of the slave-holding States can they muster into their service a respectable corporal's guard.

The Democracy of Clarion county, in their recent County Convention, nominated a ticket, and adopted resolution en masse endorsing the National Administration in all its policy.

WEBSTER ON A BRIDGE.—A publisher received an order from the country the other day for a "new pectoral copy of Webster on a Bridge."

HEROES OF THE REVOLUTION.—The announcement under the obituary head, "Another revolutionary hero gone," which, a few years ago was so frequent that hardly a day passed without seeing it, is now rare.

THE ROYAL ANTAGONISTS.—Louis Napoleon was born April 20, 1808, and is now 51 years of age. Victor Emanuel II, the Sardinian King, was born March 14, 1820, and is 39 years of age.

ABSURD SUICIDE.—Mr. Aaron Bond, a farmer residing at Lyon's Farms, Essex county, N. J., committed suicide on Thursday, by cutting his throat with a razor.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES.—The opposition press have much to say about the expenses of the General Government. They continue to accuse the Democrats in Congress of extravagance in making their appropriations.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME.—There are few more genial hearted men anywhere than Gen. Willard, of Indiana. Even those "ferocious" him in politics will admit this.

A FORTUNATE MAN.—A correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times, writing from Bewleyville, Ky., says: "About twelve months ago a young man in this county, Breckenridge, got married and went to housekeeping."

SPRANGLED TO DEATH BY A SNAKE.—The Hingham (Mass.) Journal records the recent disease of Mr. Daniel Cort-hell, of that town, who had for some time been troubled by a living snake in his stomach.

Arrest for a Murder committed twenty-four years ago. The Memphis (Tenn.) Bulletin says: "A striking instance of the certainty of punishment which, sooner or later, never fails to follow upon the commission of murder, came to our knowledge yesterday."

WHAT IT COSTS.—The average expense per annum to the members of the different denominations throughout the United States, for the support of their different church services, is estimated to be about as follows:—A Baptist and Methodist about $3.40, a Presbyterian $7, a Congregationalist $10, a Roman Catholic $15, and Episcopalians $18, a Reformed Dutch $22, a Unitarian $23.

RAISING SUNKEN VESSELS AT SEBASTOPOL.—One of the parties engaged in raising the Russian ships sunk at Sebastopol, writes to a friend in Boston, in reference to the progress of the work: "I have raised whole, 13 or 14 steamers and vessels of various sizes, and broken to pieces, and removed 14 or 15 more, and the work goes bravely on, and will continue to a successful completion."

It has lately been discovered that an alloy, formed of 80 per cent steel and 20 per cent of a metal called tungsten, possesses a degree of hardness which has never been obtained in the manufacture of steel.

EGYPT. From a report of a Lecture by Hon. Caleb Lyon, at Albany. He remarked in commenting that there was one spot to which men in all ages had turned with the deepest interest.

high. It is built of limestone, which was brought a distance of eighty miles. The first steps are seven feet high. At some distance up is a passage leading to the interior, where on a track almost exactly like our modern "Trails," is a sarcophagus nine feet long, and empty.

Among the traditions respecting the pyramids was one that they were built in honor of a lady. One of the Pharaohs fell in love with a lady named Rodolphe, of wonderful beauty and accomplishments, though of humble position, but on the day appointed for their marriage she sickened and died.

With reference to the hieroglyphics, he thinks it not remarkable that there should be different varieties, as our language has changed greatly since the time of Chaucer. The earlier hieroglyphics, he thinks, were those in which ideas were conveyed by pictures.

Modern achievements in architecture, dating back even to the Roman Empire, are almost nothing compared with these Egyptian Pyramids. The great Colossus of Rhodes, two hundred and sixty feet high, between whose legs the ships of the world rode safely; the Light House of Alexandria, and others enumerated, are all gone.
