UNION. The place is porfectly secure from frosts—the B'acti. Clover, Corn. Peaches, Grapes and regetables. IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL. IN THE UNION. The place is porfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the placestiself, a correct judgement can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty inyards and Peach orchards, planted and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET.

as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE JUNION.

Troduce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than in the West. Is is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this haltitude come from millions.

New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages.—He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improperation of comfort and civilization is at hund. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine services, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been fo restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union whe re buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advanta-

Union whe re buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.
The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here highested, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, in one would be invited to exumine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they office with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on rofusal.

On the Banks of that Lone River. Near the banks of that lone river , Where the water lillies grow, Breathed the fairest flowers that ever Bloomed and faded years ago.

How we met and loved and parted, None on earth can ever know-Nor how pure and gentle-hearted Beamed the mourned one year ago.

Like the stream with illies laden Will life's future corrent flow, Till in heaven I meet the maiden.
Fondly cherished years ago.

Hearts that love like mine forget not; They're the same in weal and woe : And that stars of memory set not In the graves of years ago.

TRUST. Other bright eyes gaze on thee Others bow at thy shring.

And other checks flush for thee, Far holier than mine; But I do not distrust theo; I know the heart is right.

And fear not, though around thee

Walk images of light, In the rich wellow gleaming I sit and think of thee. And as the tinted seasied E'er murmurs of the sea. Thy memory dwells within me, A sweet and blessed thing, About which all my dreams of bliss

In rosy gariands cling. Oh! gentle one, thy likensss Is wove in all my dreams-In all the founts of feeling, In all the sacred streams, In all the joys and happiness Which through my besom flow-There is for thee a love,
