A day or two since, a rather aged THE NORTH LECDANON FILUTE intermediated, and is now completed and in operation and prepar-ed to furnish customers regularly with a very superior action of FLOUR, as cheap as it can be obtained from any other source. They also keep constantly on hand and for sale, CHOP, BRAN, SHORTS, &c. intermediate Work, and respectfully invite all the former customers of the Mill, as well as new once, to man, in whose appearance there was nothing striking, except his small stature, dull, gray eyes, and extremely verdant manner, arrived in a mister city, stopped at one of the hotels, and seemad anxious to get off on one of the upriver boate. He frequently expressed fear lest he should miss the afternoon fear lest he should miss the afternoon boat. A cabman lounging about the hotel offered to take him and his trunk hotel offered to take him and his trunk

-to the wharf, and if he was too late he would bring him back for nothing, but if he took him there in time for the boat, he would expect a fee of $2.

The Corner.

THE WRONG MAN.

To this the stranger was about to agree, not knowing that he had at least two hours and a half to spare, when another cabman stepped up and offered to put him on board the boat-with his bag. gage, for $1. This was a dollar saved, and the anxious stranger agreed to it .--The trunk was put in the vehicle, and the stranger got in with it. In less than five minutes they were upon the wharf. The old gent got out and handed John the dollar.

"What's this 'ere dollar for !" asked the driver. "To pay my fare down here; you promised to bring me here before the boat left for one dollar."

"Y-e-s. Now, look here, old fellow. you don't think I'm going to drive my horses to death for nothin', do you ?-Couldn't think of taking less than four dollars for that'ere drive, and you might as-well-fork over, old man."

The old gentleman, apparently not The old gentleman, apparently not the least angry, fastened his dull, gray eye upon John, and calmly replied, "I agreed to pay you one dollar if you would bring me and my trunk to the boat before it left, and here's your mon sy, if I had promised you a hundred dol-lars, I would have given it to you, for I'm able to pay it. But a bargain is a bargain, and want you to put my trunk bargain, and I want you toput my trunk out of your cab."

"Give me four dollars, or I takes the trunk back to the hotel," was the oabman's rejoinder.

The little old man quietly reached up 'to the horse's head, and took hold of the bit firmly in his left hand. He then put his right hand into his bosom and drew forth a keen seven inch bowieknife. He then turned to the somewhat astonished cabman, and giving the knife two or three admonitory shakes, after the manner of a schoolmaster warning his refractory pupils, he said, "I'm an old man, and perhaps I'm green, as I came from Arkansaw; but I guess I shant-let you impose upon me in that way. If you don't get off that seat and put my trunk out here, I shall take both your ears off close up to your head, sure! You're a good looking man now, but you'd look mighty bad driving a cab about, and no ears on your head." John rather thought those eves meant fight, and not liking the idea of losing both ears, he took that trunk out in a hurry. He refused, however, to take the dollar which Arkansaw had thrown down, and a couple of policemen were about arresting him for extortion, when the old gentleman requested them to let

D., of Penn. University, It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the pro-fessional ability of the Author of the "Medical Manu-al." Numerons cases of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my no-tice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by Self-dause, or Excess of venery, I do not know his superior in his profession. I have been ac-quainted with the Author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him far well as a kinduces to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recom-mend him as one, in whose professional skill and integri-ty they may safely confide themselves. ALERED WOODWARD, M. caused by mercurial disease, low living, dis-ordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the con-stitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children"

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul cor-ruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous com-plaints, but they have far less power to with-stand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which de-cimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or 105 In Holland they have a curious custom called the Klappuije. Whenever a child is born, a piece of frame work, of an oval shape, covered with a light pink colored silk, is placed outside the front door of the house, where the knocker used formerly to be placed. If the child is a girl, a small portion of | the upper part is covered with white silk. Over the whole is spread white lace, the richness of which varies with the wealth of the inmates. Many dif. ferent explanations are given in regard to the custom, and from what it arose, but most probably it was introduced to New Coach Making Establishinform all of the birth of the infant, and give notice to those who might wish to enter the house, not to knock too loud.
