THE IRISH'ROOT DOCTOR. It appeared best to the excise commissioners of the town of M-----

New York, to refuse license for the shie of intoxicating liquors to all persons save a doctor of known integrity and strong temperance principles who promised not to sell except for medicinal or mechanical purposes. One Wheeler, an eccentric Irish cobbler, longed for a quiet drink, and with a sober air and smooth tongue, petitioned the doctor for a quart of gin. "For what purpose do you wish it?"

asked the doctor. "Sure, doctor, I've been very bad for nearly ten days back with a great goneness in my stomach, and not a haper of good can I get from anything in these turns but gin to soak some roots in."

The doctor, confident from his sallow appearance that the man was sick, and that a little tonic bitters would not hurt "him, filled his quart bottle and received bis pay. A VENERABLE GOOSE .- Among the fowls exhibited recently at the New Jersey State Fair, was an antiquated goose, which attracted much attention. The following document was posted upon the coop where the venerable bird was confined :-- "Madam Goose is now owned by Robert Schomp, of Readington, Hunterdon county, N. J. She has been in his possession twenty-five years, and was given to him by his grand father, Major H. G. Schomp. 'Robert's father is now in his 85th year, and this goose was a gift to his mother, as a part of her marriage outfit. The mate of Mad-'am Goose was killed in the Revolutionary War, being rode over by a troop of cavalry. She enjoys general good health, and is not so active as she once 'was, but moves about among her descendants with dignity and considerable activity. In the spring of 1857 she laid 'six eggs, three of which were hatched, and the goslings raised. In 1858 she 'made seven nests and laid but two eggs, evidence, perhaps, of failing faculties. Her eyes are becoming dim, one having almost entirely failed. The following extract from the New York correspondent of the Schoharie Republican is interesting:

"One pleasant day in the summer of 1836 a gentleman called at one of those quiet farm houses in olden Brooklyn, then occupying the site of the present palatial mansions on Brooklyn heights. He asked to see the owner of the farm, was invited into the neat parlor, with green paper window curtains, and a bunch of asparagus tops in the old-fashioned fire-place. The stranger made but a short stay, but when he left bore with him a signed and sealed contract for the sale of the farm at the extravagant price of $80,000. The farmer and his wife were crazy with joy; the price given was beyond their wildest anticipations; and while they thus indulged in congratulations upon their good luck and dreams of happiness their unexpected wealth would bring, another visftor came-another gentleman from the big city across the river. Ha too want-ed to buy the farm, was told that anoth-er had just purchased; inquired the price paid, and, when told the amount, remarked that it was worth twice that sum, and he would readily pay the lucky purchaser $80,000 for his bargain. big city across the river. He too wantpurchaser $80,000 for his bargain .--Disappointment and vexation at such a loss turned the farmer's brain, and that night he died by his own hand."

The types now used O'Rourk's Merchant Tailorin printing being composed of lead and antimony, and moulded one by one, wear out quickly, and are expensive .---M. Cambarieu, with his machine produces ten thousand of these types at one stroke, while with the present machine the best workman can produce only five thousand in a day in the rough, and then they have to be finished up, passing through several hands. After the letters are cut with the new machine, they are then separated by a mechanical saw, which divides them with mathematical precision. M. Cambarieu, moreover, announces his intention of producing types in steel. Few of those who give way to this peruicions practice are aware of the consequences, until they find the nervous system shattered, feel strange and unacountable sensations, and vague fears in the mind. [Seepages, 27, 28, 29, of Dr. K's book on "Self-Preservation."] The unfortunate thus affected becomes feeble, is unable to labor with accustomed vigor, or to apply his mind to study; his step is tardy and weak; he is dull, irresolute, and enges even in his sports with less energy than usual. If he emancipate himself before the practice has done its worst, and enter matrimouy, his marringe is unfruitful, and his sense tells him that this is caused by his early folles.
