THE MEMBERS OF THE UNION FIRE COMPANY

Lebanon, December 1, 1859. meeting of the Presbytery -one gentleman and two young ladies-in a Reizenstein and Brother's "rockaway," and the roads none of the best. Night, cold and damp, overtook us eight or ten miles from home, but only a short distance from Judge Blank's. Knowing that we should find outside the Judge's door the latchstring, and anside a warm wel-come, a warm fire, and a warm supper, besides beds which we could warm for ourselves—we unhesitatingly consigned ourselves to his hospitalities. Supper being over, and our persons disposed according to our several tastes in a semi-circle before an oldfashioned blazing fire, we were just in the mood to enjoy the entertainment of our host's conversational gifts.— Among other things he narrated the following unique tale, which we unanimously agreed to put in print :-Said the Judge substantially:--

'Years ago, we had in our house a sweet little child about four years Tue undersigned respectfully announce to the oitizens of Lebanon and vicinity that they old, the object, of course, of a very are the appointed agents for the sale of supply at short notice any number that may be requircd, at the same prices that they can be purchased of the menufacturer in the City, besides giving the advantage of saving freight and other expenses necessary in getting them from there.

The superior meret of this machine can be justly inferred from the facts of the number of premense it has been receiving in all instances of competition, as well as the general satisfaction they give to all families having them in use.

Any information concerning them will be cheerfully given by enquiring of tender affection. But sickness laid his hand upon it. Remedies promptly resorted to, all proved in vain. Day after day the roses faded from the cheek, and the fire in the eyes burned low; and at length death closed those eyes, and sealed the lips forever; and we learned, by trying experience, how intense a darkness follows the quenching of one of these little lights of life. The time rolling sadly on, brought us at length to the hour appointed for committing our treasure to the ordi-HOWARD ASSOCIATION friends assembled, the customary services were held, the farewell taken, and the little form securely shut beneath the well-screwed coffin lid, and in due time the grave received its trust. We looked on and saw the earth thrown in, the mound raised above, and the plates of sod neatly adjusted into a green sheltering roof, and then wended our way back to our desolated home. Evening came and wore away. My wife had gone into you doing with this girl?" an adjoining room to give some di-rections to a servant, and I, unfitted by the scenes of the day for aught else, had just laid my head upon my pillow, in our room upon the lower floor of the house, when I heard a
