ANHAAGEN& MEKEONES DETERSIVE SOAP PHILADELPHIA.

This Celebrated Washing Soap, is now in market for more than a year; and that it has given universal satisfaction, is evident from the fact, the the Manufacturers of it, in order to supply the demand have been obliged to increase their capacity to make equal to One Hundred Thousand Pounds per Week. It is decidedly the best and cheapest Soap ever made in this Country; One Pound of it will go as far, finny use, as Three of the Common Soap iu general use. It is made upon a new principle, of the best materials, and known only to VAN HAAGEN & MCKEONE. It does away entirely with the wash-board—saves the necessity of boiling the clothes, it does not shrink Flannels, REMOVES GREASE, INK OIL PAINT SPOYES perfectly, and from the most delicate fabric, saves fully one-half the time and labor usually spont to de the washing. It is warranted free from SAL SODA, or other injurions alkalis, and guaranteed not to rot or injure the clothes.

effice, when not otherwise specified for assorting the mails; but on railroad and steamboat routes there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail bags.

2. On railroad and steamboat lines, and other routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it, the special agents of the Post Office Department, also post office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys, are to be conveyed without extra charge.

3. On railroad and steamboat lines the route agents of the department are to be conveyed without charge, and for their exclusive age, thile travelling with the mails, a commodious car, of apartment in the centro of a car, properly lighted, warmed, and furnished, adapted to the convenient separation and due security of the mails, is to be provided by the contractor, under the direction of the department.

Railroad and steamboat companicare required to take the mail from and deliver it into the post offices at the commencement and end of their routes, and to and from all offices not more than eighty rods from a station or landing. Proposals may be submitted for the performance of all other side service—that is, for offices over olighty rods from a station or landing.

Receipts will be required for mail bags conveyed in charge of persons employed by railroad companies.—There will also be "ray bills" prepared by postmasters, or other agents of the department, to accompany the mails, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On the principal stage routes, likewise, recipits will be required and way bills forwarded; the latter to be examined by the several postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mail bags.

4. No pay will be made for trips not performed; and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained for ach of such omissions on statisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip hay be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connexion with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-formance inferior to that specified in the contract he mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of the mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of service on a route by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connexions with ratiroads, without increase of pay, provided the running time be not abridged. He may also order an increase of speed, allowing, within the restrictions of the law, a pro rata increase of pay for the additional stock or carriers. If any. The contractor may, however, in the case of increase of speed, relinquish the contract, by giving prompt notice to the department that he prefers doing so to varying the order into effect. The Postmaster General may also currail or discontinue the service. In whole or in part, at pro rata decrease of pay, allowing one menth's extra compensation on the amount dispensed with, whenever, in his opinion, the public interests require the change, or in cass he desires to supersede it by a different grade of transportation.

9. Payments will be made by collections from extraction of each quarter—say in February, May, August, and November.

November.
10. The distances are given according to the best in-10. The distances are given according to the best information; but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised, if the points to be supplied be correctly stated. Bidders must inform themselves on this point, and a so it reference to the weight, of the mail, the condition of reads, hills, streams, &c. and all toll bridges, ferries, or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred. No claim, for additional pay, based on such ground, can be considered; not for allegal mistakes or misapprehension, as to the degree of service; nor for bridges destroyed, farries discontinued, or other obstructions increasing distance, occurring during the contract term. Offices established after this advertisement is issued, and also during the contract term, are to be visited without extra pay if the distance be not increased.

11. A bid received after the best day and hour named, or without the guaranty rejuired by law and a certificate as to the sufficiency of such guaranty, cannot be considered in composition with a regular proposal reasonable in amount.

12. Binders should first propose for service strictly according to the advertisement, and then, if they desire, separately for different service; and if the regular bid be the lowest offered for the advertised service, the other propositions may be considered.

13. There should be but one route bid for in a proposal. Consolidated or combination bids ("proposing one sum for two or more routes") are forbidden by law, and cannot be considered.

Indeed, his practical sagacity and startling common sense kept him from any tendency in that direction; but he had some peculiar experiences of the supernatural, as the fellowing nuecdote testifies :

While I was at his house. I inquired of him about a remarkable noise which I had, when a boy, heard that he and his family had been annoyed by when they lived in Virginia. He gave this account of it:

His family, at the time, consisted of himself, wife, and four children. One evening, all the family being together, their attention was attracted by a noise, which very much resembled the fains grouns of a person in pain. It was distinct, and repeated at intervals of a few seconds. It seemed to be under the sill of the window, and between the clap boards and the ceiling. They paid very little attention to it, and in a very short time it ceased. But, afterwards, it returned in the same way-sometimes every night, and sometimes not so frequently-and always in the same place, and of the same character. It continued for some months. He said it excited their envissity and annoyed them, but they were not alarmed by it. During its continuance they had the siding and casing removed from the place where it appeared, to be, but found nothing to account for it, and the sound continued the same. He consulted his friends, especially some of his ministerial brethren, about it. I think he said it was never heard by any except himself and his family; but it was heard by them when he was absent from home. Mrs. Leland said that often; while she was alone with the children, and while Extraordinary strength and activity, with the they were playing about the rom, and nothing nost daring courage, and a thorough knowledge being said, it would come, and they would leave their play and gather about her person.
