Choice Paetry.

OH! BE NOT THE FIRST. Oh! be not the first to discover
A blot on the fame of a friend,
A flaw in the faith of a lover,
Whose heart may prove true to the end.

We none of us know one another, And oft into error we fall; Then let us speak well of our brothe Or speak not about him at all. A smile or a sigh may awaken Suspicion most false and undue; And thus our belief may be shaken In hearts that are honest and true

How oft the light smile of gladness.

Is worn by the friends that we meet.

To cover a soul full of sadness,

Too proud to acknowledge defeat.

How eften the sigh of dejection Is heaved from the hypocrite's breast. To parody fruth-sand affection; Or lull a suspicion to rest.

How often the friends we hold dearest Their noblest emotions conceal; And bosoms the purest, sincorest, Have secrets they cannot reveal. Leave base minds to harbor suspicion, And small opes to trace our defects— Let ours be a noble ambition, For base is the mind that suspects.

We none of us know one another, And off into error we fall; Then let us speak well of our brother, Or speak not of him at all.

where there's a will there's a wa Auti venam viam, aut faciam.

It was a noble Roman;
In Rome's imperial day,
Who heard a coward croaker
Before the battle say:
"They're in such a fortress;
There is no way to shake it—"
"On! on!" exclaimed the hero,
"1'll find a way, or make i'.!"

Is Fame your aspiration?

Her path is steep and high;
In vain she seeks the temple,
Content to gaze and sigh:
The shining throne is waiting,

ADDRESS OF THE DEMOGRATIC STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

OF PENNSYLVANIA. To the People of Pennsulvania : vania is close at hand. Its importance to the masses cannot be overrated, and its influence upon the Presidential contest cannot be too highly estimated. In view of these facts, the Democratic ed the top of the post, attempted to State Executive Committee invokes the carnest imitate his ratship in his slack rope Constitution.

The influence of Pennsylvania has always been the country. Her people are slyways willing to the country. Her people are slyways willing to the owner of the country. Her people are slyways willing to throw themselves into the breach when dangers menace the injectious derived from their fathers. When perils threaten to everwhen them, This was the met's connormally and ors. When perils threaten to overwhem them, fighting for a common cause and a common country. This truth has received additional proof within the past few weeks. Fully impressed with the consequences of discord and dissentions in their ranks, the Democratic party of Ponnsylvania has begome a unit in support of HENRY D. FOSTER, the nominee of the Reading Convention. He has been accepted by the entire Democratic party as their leader and their shamples. mocracy as their leader and their champion.— Thousands of loyal and conservative men, scatthroughout the Commonwealth and untrained in majority in October. The cheering prospects of his success have stricken with terror the foes of the Union and the Constitution throughout the country; and the Republican columns are now beginning to waver before the vigorous charge of the united and enthusiastic Democracy. It is patent to every one at all conversant with the history of the times, that the election of Henry D. Foster will be the certain defeat of Lincoln and Hamlin in Pennsylvania. It is impossible to diegnise the fact that the great battle in the Old Keystone must be fought in October, and not in November. A fearful responsibility, therefore, rests upon the freemen of this Common wenth, as the election of a Democratic Governor will insure the defeat of Republican sectional. tered throughout the Commonwealth and untrainwenting as the election of a Democratic Governor-will insure the defeat of Republican sectional-ism. It will produce a united Democracy in ev-ery State in the Union. Its irresistible force and power will everywhere combine the elements of AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY. true conservatism, and induce the sovereign peo-ple to demand with fearless voice a solid union of all their forces, in opposition to the spread of those dangerous principles which at this time form the basis of the Republican party. It is folly to close our eyes to the perils which surround our Confederacy. The election of Lincold and Hamlin, if consummated, must be productive, the meet disastrance course be productive.

ductive of the most disastrous consequences.— The doctrines of the Republican lenders are in direct autogonism to that equality of the States, without which we cannot hope to preserve the Union and the Constitution. This position can-Union and the Constitution. This position cannot be successfully controverted. It was plain in the state of t dency, expressed the same sentiment when he said, in his canvass for the Senate of the United States, that the agitation of slavery "will bot cease until a crises shall have been renched and passed. "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

by the same judicial authority. Why, then, should the people of Pennsylvania aid in the people with and agitation upon a subject which belongs to constitutional law and constitutional construction? In two weeks an answer must be given to this important question.—
The vote of this State, east in favor of Henry D. Foster, will be an invitation to New York and New Jersey, arteady anxious to unite against Republicanism, and Abolitonism, to join with Pennsylvania in the great struggle to restore peace and harmony among the sister Commonwealths of our National Confederady.

But the result of the October election is not only important in a National point of view—Local issues of immense magnitude are involved in the contest. These have been partially lost eight of in the discussion of National topics.—Three years ago the auti-Democratic administration of Gov. Polleck seased to exist. His friend and official advisor was Andrew G. Curtin, then Secretary of the Osmmonwealth, and now the Republican and didness for the Gubernatorial chair. The brief limits of an address will not permit a review of the fauts and policy of that administration; but they are, happily, as familiar as household words to the faut payers of Pennsylvania.—Before power is again entrusted to the hands of those who are responsible for the public acts of hold words to the fax payers of Pennsylvania.—

Before power is again entrusted to the hands of those who are responsible for the public acts of that administration, the voters will no doubt exercise that calm discretion which is too often lost sight of in the publical arena.

The Reading Contention presented, for the office of Governant Larg. D. Foster, of old Westmoreland. The Representatives of the people, unsolicited, took him from their ranks, and planted him at the bead of the column. They know him to be honest, upright, and fearless. Thoroughly conversant with the resources of the State and the wants of every section, he devery hour of his public life to the protection of the industrial interests of the masses. Assailed by dustrial interests of the masses. Assailed by reckless partizans, his character has withstood reckless partizans, his character has withstood every assault, and escaped the point of every weapon. As citizen, statesman, and patriot, he has won for himself a name for purity and integrity which "falsehood cannot shake, nor perfldy steal away." Having been true and faithful in the past, he can angly be trusted with power in the fature. His election would restore confidence to the public mind, and increase the respect which is now paid to the Keystone of the Federal arch. In the great commercial emporium of our State, it would invigorate "trade, the calm health of nations." Throughout our towns and cities, in the manufacturing and agricultural districts, it would be halled as the harbinger of renewed prosperity. Freemen of Pennsylvania. districts, it would be hailed as the harbinger of renewed prosperity. Freemen of Pennsylvanial you are now called upon to aid with your influence in the consummation of this great and glorious work. To accomplish it, you will be required to labor earnestly till the sun goes down upon the second Tuesday of October. In the battle now inpending let all units who stand upon the platform of the Union, the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws. Let all who love their country, and are willing to array themselves against Republicans, "claim kindred now, and have that claim allowed." The ranks of the selves against Republicans, "claim kindred now, and have that claim allowed." The ranks of the Penngylvania Democracy are no longer broken—victory is within our reach, if we only stretch out our hands to grasp it—defont can only be produced by apathy and indifference. No more need be now urged upon you. You know your duty, and you will not fail to do it. Its faithful performance at the hallot loay will secure tranperformance at the ballot box will secure tranquility within your borders, and spread a new bow of promise from the icy waters of the Aroos-took to the golden shores of the Sacramento. WILLIAM H. WELSH, Chairman. PHILADELPHIA, September 25, 1860.

FEAT BY A RAT.—Rats and mice are proverbial for their natural inself-preservation. We were witness caught a rat, and in its struggles for liberty and dear life, it escaped up a post on which was stretched a clothes line. Out upon this the fugitive walked, a la Blondin and De Lave, till he reached what he doubtless considered he paused to await the issue, watching with distended orbs his enemy, the cat. his prey, he apparently became bewil-tained that the great tomb was a qaudrangular building, of about 412 feet circuit, 100 feet in height, surmounted by a pyramid, on the top of which stood a beautiful four horse chariet, in which was the statue of Mausolus. This agrees with the ancient accounts of this magnificent tomb. It was erected more than two thousand years ago, about the year 358 before Christ, and Mr. Newton is of opinion that it was east down by an earthquake. That fragments of this proud monument of human affection should now be dug up beneath the site of a miserable Turkish village, is a striking commentary on the changes and vicissitudes of the world's history.

WE CAN ALL AGREE.

Notwithstanding there are Douglas men and Breckinridge men in the Democratic party, there are two or three things upon which we can all agree. We all agree in the support of Henry D. Foster for Governor. We agree that Lincoln ought to he defeated. We agree that the success of Foster, is one step towards the defeat of Lincoln. And upon this basis we can agree to go to work withof your duties, and if you are what you profess to be, you will not neglect them. You can easily, and with little or no trouble, make certain the full poll of the Democratic voters of your respective districts. Up, then, and to work. The October election virtually decides the Presidential contest; so far, at least, that if Foster be elected, Lincoln will certainly be defeated. The Douglas men and Brecknridge men, if true Democrats, will cheerfully and earnestly labor for this most desirable result.

THE NOBLE EARL AND HON-EST FARMER.

A farmer once called on the late Earl Fitzwilliam to represent that his crop of wheat had been seriously injured stinct, which often manifests itself in a field adjoining a certain wood, where expedients resorted to by them for his lordship's hounds had, during the winter, frequently met to hunt. He of an instance of this a day or two stated that the young wheat had been since. Dick, our family cat, had so cut up and destroyed that in some parts he could not hope for any produce. "Well, my friend," said his lordship. "I am aware that we did considerable injury, and if you can produce an estimate of the loss you have sustained I will repay you."a safe distance from his pursuer, where The farmer replied that, anticipating his lordship's consideration and kind-The latter, meanwhile, had lost notime sist him in estimating the damage, in pursuing its prey, and having reach- and they thought, as the crop seemed the top of the post, attempted to ed quite destroyed, £50 will not more imitate his ratship in his slack rope performances. The farmer went again to his lord-This was the rat's opportunity, and ship, and, being introduced, said: I seizing upon it he descended to the am come, my lord, respecting the field of wheat adjoining such a wood."— His lordship immediately recollected the circumstances. "Well, my friend. did I not allow you sufficient to remunerate you for you loss?" "Yes, my lord, I find that I have sustained throughout without seams, and very no loss at all, for where the hounds had cut up the land, the crop is most promising; and I have, therefore, brought the £50 back again." "Ah!" exclaimed the venerable Earl, "this is what I like; this is as it should be between man and man." He then entered into conversation with the farmer, asking some questions about woman.
