Dr. S. K. Treichler, of Jonestown, Lebanon county, had an assault and battery case before the Berks county Court last week. Henry Van Reed, Esq., of Reading, was the defendant. The difficulty occurred in the cars on the L. V. Railroad, Van Reed was convicted and sontenced to $10.00 fine and costs.

Seventeen eight-wheeled cars, fill ed with hogs, passed over the Lebanon Valley and East Pennsylvania Railroads on Sunday a fairly established as by far the best for the transportation of live stock from the West to the great Emportum of trade. It will eventually win the preference for passenger travel also.

GOING, WEST.-We regret to see so many of our good and well-to-do eitizens afflict od with the "weatern fever." Last week a number of familles left for Illinois and other portions of the "great West," and we have reason to believe that most of them started without the first they done here. They go on the venture, and if they are disappointed and fail, it will prove a heavy load for them to bear. Many start on the iden of buying cheap land and going to farming, not knowing that the large body of the cheap land of the west for farming purposes is dear it bestewed to those who move upon it and who are necessitated to make the medessary improvements for comfortable homes. If we take into consideration the improvements we contend that there is plenty of land in the interior of Pennsylvania, aye, even in Lebanon county; that is much cheaper to persons going to furming than almost any land that can be procured for the west by people of moderate means. Many no doubt better their fortunes by going West, but we only DAY EVENING, November 24. All those members hoar of the fortunate ones. We trust that our friends in this section, before they leave a certainty for an uncertainty, will well consider the step they are taking.

Dr. Franklin was noted as an enbrgetic promotor of all improvements tending to the comfort, the growth, and the happiness of the community in which he lived. Hence he was always foremost in all propositions for lightwish he were alive now and a citizen of Lebanon.
