

THE CORNER.

THE EMPRESS OF EUROPE.

Some items about Empresses are given by the New York Post. The Empress of Austria is so unwell that her physicians have declared that she must spend the Winter in the Island of Madeira, and a messenger has already been sent there to make preparations for her arrival. It was thought that the rude climate of the demolition of buildings, would be more than the lady could stand this Winter. She was to leave Vienna on the 19th of October, on her way to Belgium. At Ostend or Antwerp she will embark in an English frigate for the health-giving island, whither she is bound. Her sister, the ex-Queen of Naples, and probably the exiled Francis II. will spend the Winter with her in Madeira. The Empress of France, they say, looks extremely well in mourning costume, which becomes her delicate frame, and her pensive expression of countenance. She will assume a mourning costume, and with all the French Court wear it, as a token of respect to the memory of the late Dowager Empress of Russia. All the Empresses now living are young and handsome women. The one most prominently before the world's eye is, of course, the Empress Eugenie. She was born in 1826, and thirty-four years old on the 5th of last May. Her maiden name was Eugenie Marie de Guzman, Countess of Teba. The Empress of Austria will be only twenty-three years old on the 24th of next month. She was, like the ex-Queen of Naples, a Princess of Bavaria, and her name was Elizabeth Amelia Eugenie. She married when only seventeen years old. The Empress of Russia is thirty-six years old, and was married to the present Emperor, then the Grand Duke Alexander, when seventeen years old. She is a daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse, and has nearly a dozen names.

A New Sort of Divorce.

Not long since a native of the Fejee Islands presented himself to a missionary and humbly begged to receive the rite of baptism. "But," objected the priest, "you are a polygamist; you have several wives." "Only two." "That is one too many." "Good, I will get rid of one of them." "Keep the one that you have lived longest with." "No, I prefer the other, she is younger." "As you please." Eight days afterwards the converted savage returned to the priest, with his face radiant with innocent joy. "Now, father," said he, "you can baptize me. I have only one wife now," and he pointed to quite a pleasant-looking woman who accompanied him. "And what has become of the other?" asked the priest. "Oh, I ate her!"

Faults Pompey Couldn't Remember.

A good clergyman wishing to get rid of his horse, and to try for a better one, directed his old negro man to sell his beast for what he would fetch, or to exchange him for another, adding at the same time an anxious caution not to deceive the purchaser, and even enumerating the faults of the animal, lest one should be overlooked. "Remember, Pompey, he has four faults." "Oh, yes, Massa." Pompey, joggling along the road, and counting over the list to himself, as the old lady did over her luggage, big box, little box, band box, bundle, was overtaken by a man on horse-back, who entered into conversation, and among other topics, made some inquiries about the horse. Pompey told his story, said his master had charged him to tell the horse's faults to the purchaser without reservation. "What are they?" said the stranger, who had a mind to swap. "There is four, massa," said Pompey, "and I don't remember 'em all very well just now, but—"

"Tell me those you do remember," said the other. "When he comes to a brook he will put his nose down and blow in de water, and massa don't like dat." "What next?" "Don't anyhow remember de orders," said Pompey, peering into the clouds with one eye reflectively. The stranger concluded to strike a bargain and exchange his own horse, which had not got so gentle an air as the person for this exceptional animal. It was not long before the clerical steed stumbled and threw his rider into a ditch. Picking himself up as well as he could, he examined his new purchase a little more closely, and discovered that the horse was entirely blind.

Finding Pompey again without much difficulty, his wrath burst forth in a torrent of reproaches. "You black rascal, what does this mean? This horse is broken kneed, and as blind as a mole." "Oh, yes, massa," said Pompey, blandly "dem's de oder two faults dat I couldn't remember."

"I fear," said a certain curate to his flock, "when I explained to you, in my last sermon, that philanthropy was love of our species, you must have understood me to say 'specie,' which may account for the smallness of the collection. I hope you will prove by your present contribution that you no longer labor under the mistake."

"What is 'shew bread' aunt?" asked like, who was reading the Bible. "Why, Isaac?" said Mrs. Partington, "shew bread is that which persons earn by the making of shoes. There is plenty of it in Lynn."

"Woman is like ivy—the more you are ruined the closer she clings to you. An old bachelor adds: 'Ivy is like woman—the closer it clings to you the more you are ruined.'"

MANHOOD.

THE TREATMENT AND RADICAL CURE OF NEURALGIA, OR BRUISED NEURALS, AND OF ALL THE AFFECTIONS OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM, INCLUDING MIGRAINE, CONSUMPTION AND MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY. The important fact that the actual consequences of such affections may be effectually removed without the aid of medicine, is proved by the following facts:—The patient is cured of all the symptoms, and is enabled to resume his ordinary and active life, and to enjoy all the pleasures of life, and to be free from all the fears and anxieties of the future. The treatment is simple, and is adapted to all ages and constitutions. It is the result of a long and successful experience, and is the only one that has ever been known to succeed in all cases.
