THE CORNER.

"I RISE TO SEEK THE LIGHT!"

- I saw n little blade of grass,
 Just peeping from the sod,
 And asked it why it sought to pass
 Beyond its parent clod?
 It seemed to raise its little head,
 All sparkling, fresh and bright,
 And wondering at the question, said,
 "I rise to seek the Light."
- I asked the engle why his wing To ceaseless flight was given. As if he spurned each carthly thing, And knew no home but heaven? He answered as he fixed his gaze,
- Unduzzled at the sight, Upon the Sun's meridian blaze, "I rise to seek the Light."
- I asked my soul, "What means this thirst For something yet beyond? What means this eagerness to burst From every earthly bond?" It answers, and I feel it glow It answers, and I feel it flow With fires more warm, more bright, "All is too dult, too dark below, I rise to seek the hight."

GRAFTING LARGE TREES.

Same years people have been getting in the habit of grafting large trees, such as are ofther poor bearers or produce fruit of a poor quality. We bearers or produce fruit of a poor quality. We have upon our own premises, pear trees which must be nearly a hundred years old, that have been successfully grafted by us—in many instances producing fruit the second year. Early bouring however, depends upon the age of the wood upon which the scions are set,—If upon suckers from the trunk of the tree, it will require three or four years, and sometimes six years before they will fruit. If non suckers from large limbs, will fruit. If upon suckers from large limbs, three years are commonly sufficient to give fruit; but if set upon bearing branches, we have frequenbut if setupon bearing orances, we may brought the obtained the fruit first year oftenwards.

We find however that all old trees are not equally desirable for grafting. On some the grafts grow very slowly, and die after bearing one or two poor crops. The best trees for propagating new and superior varieties, are those which grow new and superior varieties, are those which grow and retain their leaves to a late period in the fall. The old Catharine pear (which by the way is itself a "good" pear and should never be allowed to run out, is well adapted to this purpose; but the Catillac or pound pear we find to be the best. The grafts grow luxuriantly—form a firm connection with the old wood—and produce early.

The renovation of old orchards is a matter of The renovation of old orchards is a matter of interest to many farmers, whose apple trees have withstood the storms of half a century, or longer. But while judicious grafting of the old trees may be carried on from year to year, no man who has land to spare, should omit to have a young orchard growing up to supply the place of the old one, when in the sear and yellow leaf of life.

It may be said by some men, "I shall not live to reap any benefit from a young orchard, if I set out one, and in my old age, I cannot undernot out one, and in my old age, I cannot under-take new enterprizes."

It is too true that many farmers, who are abun-It is too true that many farmers, who are abundantly able pecuniarily to set out young orchards, or to make improvements for the benefit of those who are to occupy their lands after them, refuse to expend a dollar, unless the fruits of it may be gathered while they live.

We know men who have lived out the days alto a now men who have nived out the days at-letted to man, who are still engaged in now en-terprises, as if they were sure of 40 or 50 years more of life. For instance venerable Nicholas Longworth, the great wine maker of Chuchnati is now engaged in growing new varieties of grapes with just as much real as my young man would evince in the same work; and yet it is quite propable he will not live to eat the fruit of his labors, as it requires eight or ten years to perfect a new variety of grapes.

ONE HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR.

We have very often seen statements of the progressive increase in the speed of Railroad trains beginning with afteen miles an hour in 1825, and ending generally with one hundred miles an hour in 1860. It is certain that railroad speeds are greater now than they were thirry years ago, but the increase is very much less than is generally supposed, and certainly a great deal less than the statements in question would go to show. Some GIN AS A REMEDIAL AGENT of the earliest locomotives ever built have run upwards of a mile a minute, while on the other hand there is no authentic instance of any locomotive speed greater than seventy eight miles an hour. The Ironsides, one of M. W. Baldwin's hour. The fronsides, one of M. W. Baldwin's first engines, was run nearly thirty years ago at the rate of sixty-two miles an hour on the Phil adelphia and Germantown railroad. Mr. Petit who is still connected with Messrs. Baldwin and Co's establishment, run the engine at the time, and the speed was carefully noted by Franklin Peale, and others who took part in the performance. The old De Witt Clinton, built in 1830 at the West Point Foundry of N. Y., was run by John Hampson and by David Mathews at a speed of upwards of forty miles an hour on the Mohawk and Huller and the speed was carefully noted by Franklin Peale, and others who took part in the performance. My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) Picture is more life-like than any thing

by different Artists in various ways, but I have never yet had one which presents so true to nature, all the

The Above is a portrait of David McCreary, of Napier township, who, on the 31st day of August, 1858, made affidavit b fore Justice Gorley that he was treated for the cure of Cancer by three physicians of Bedford co, and by Dr. Newton of the Eelectic College in Cincinnati, for a period of nearly eight months, notwithstanding which his lip, nose, and a purion of his let cheek were cutirely eaten away! He had given up all hops, when he heard of the "Blood Searcher." and was indured to try it. Four bottles cured him, and although saidly disfigured, there is no question but what this invaluable medicine saved his life. The full particulars of this remarkable case may be seen in a circular, which can be had of any of the agents.

We also refer to the case of Narcy Bleakney, of Electron, Armstrong county, Pa, cured of Scrofula after being unable to get out of bed for three years.

To the case of a lady in Ansonville. Clearfield county, who was also afflicted with Scrofula in its worst form.

To the case of Georgo Meisel, residing in Carroltown Cambria county, Pa, who was so badly afflicted with Cancer that it eath his entire nose off, and his case was worse, if possible, than McCreary's.

The particulars of these cases—every one of which was cured by the use of the Blood Searcher—may also be found in a circular to be had of any of the Agents.
