WM. M. BRESLIN, Editor and Proprietor. LEBANON, PA.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1861.

There is still more trouble and ation bill appropriating $5,000 each to the Millersville and This boro' Normal Schools.

Governor Curtin recently pardoned the wrong man out of the Penitentiary, through a passness.— He intended to pardor. In named Miller, but got the nam nof Mitchel. another convict, in the Ardon papers.

Mr. Welsh regalis pulace, in the Senate, a joint resolution proposing the following amendment as an additional section to the first article of the Constitution :

SECTION 27. No bill shall hereafter become law unless it shall receive upon the final passage the votes of a majority of the mombers of the Senate, and a majority of the members of the House of Representatives, and the year and nays shall be recorded upon the final passage of every bill in each branch of the Legislature.

Mr. Irish, of Allegheny, Re publican, has reported a bill in the Senate authorizing the issue of small notes by the Banks of this State.

ma. The Methodist Conference, at Philadelphia, on Friday, expressed its conservative principles by adoptrequesting the General Conference, nee! at its next session, to repeal its new chapter on slavery, and to permit each important section of the exists, to adopt such regulations on this subject as it desires.

The banks of Chicago threw out, on Monday, the notes of thirty-Banks!

Henry L. Benner, Collector of Customs at Philadelphia.

A Popular Error .- At an enrise day they were fortunate enough to secure a representation in Congress on the basis of property, and we consent to the continuance of the system, not caring to make war upon "the Constitution as it is."— North do not enjoy. Wm. B. Astor's vote is off set and neutralized by that of his permanents of the possesses as a new mind. But if Astor lived in Carolina, and his property was invested in negroes, he would be a prodigious man—probably rank with the "biggest bugs" the South produces.—New York Reformer.

The above gives expression to a very general error, and one : Last has helped to produce the misunders and. ings between North and ...utb .... cluded in the basis.

In the city of New York fifty thousand aliens, not naid and five thousand free negroevoters, are counted. In Charles on, twenty thousand slaves are cofifteen thousand. The basis of rev sentation is the number of ainquitants," and not of voters or citizens; and this three-fifths clause is an anti-slavery provision, and a bounty upon abolitionism; for the moment a ne-gro is made free, he counts as much in the enumeration as a white citi.

It is true Mr. Lincoln says he means to pursue a peace policy, but saying so will not convince the people. He must act. His papers, letters and speeches must bear but one construction, and he must not dilly. dally for months with great questions, as he has with that of the withdrawal of the troops from Fort Sumpter. NORTH PHILADELPHIA DISTRICT_D. W. in the enumeration as a white citi. zen—as an Astor at the North, or a Mordecai at the South.

The Courier endeavors to convict us of inconsistency because we published two paragraphs last week about Carl Shurz, one of which stated his appointment to Portugal, and the other that Seward was determined not to appoint a citizen of foreign birth to a foreign mission. There is nothing at all inconsistent in the two paragraphs. They can well stand side by side. Shurz was appointed to Portugal but would not accept. So that is true. IMPORTANT DECISION.—Harchmoker vs. The Administrators of Elisha Harris, deceased.—Error to the common pleas of Luzerne county. In this case it will be recollected that Hutchmaker maker the purchaser. The Court, in deciding the cose, say: There was no sale of the valuables contained in the block of wood. Sale, said Mr. Justice Wayne, in Williamson vs. Berry, 8 How. 544, is a word of precise legal import, both at law and in equity. It means, at all times, a contract between parties to pass rights of property for money which the buyer pays, or promises to pay, to the seller for the thing bought and sold.

In regard to this case Justice Woodward remarks: The machine itself and every execution marks: The machine itself and every essential part and consistent element of it were well sold. The consideration paid, though fifteen cents, was in law a quil pro quo, and the sale unaffected by fraud or misrepresentation, passed to the purchaser an indefensible right to their machine, and all the uses and purposes to which it could be applied. But the contents of the machine are to be distinguished from its constituent. distinguished from its constituent parts. They were unknown to the administrators, were not were unknown to the administrators, were not inventoried, were not exposed to auction, were not sold. Of course they were not bought. All that was sold was fairly bought, and may be held by the purchaser. The title to what was not sold remains unchanged. A sale of a coat does not give title to a pocket book which may happen to be temporarily deposited in it, nor the sale of a chest of drawers a title to the deposits therein. In these cases and want others there in the sale of a chest of drawers at the total sale of a che therein. In these cases and many others that are easily imagined the contents are not essential to the existence or usefulness of thing contracted for, and not being within the contemplation or intention of the contracting parties, do not pass by the sale.

If then there was no sale or purchase of the contents of the block or machine, how did Hutch-maker, when he discovered his anoxpected wealth, hold it? Evidently as trensure trove, which though commonly called gold or silver hidden in the ground, nay, in our commercial day, be taken to include the paper representative of gold and silver, especially when they are found hidden with both these precious metals. And it is not necessary that the hiding should be in the ground, for we are told in 3d Inst., 132, that it is not material "whether it be of ancient time hidden in the ground or in the roof or walls or other part of a casile, house, building, ruin or elsewhere."

The 'certain time' of the common law in regard to treasure trove, as laid down by Branton, Lib., 3, Chop. 3, and as quoted in Viner's Abridg., is "that he to whom the property is shall have trea sure trove, and if he dies before it be found his executors shall have the formathing the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the formathing the statement of the common shall have the common shall sure trove, and it he dies better it is bottom increases to the executors shall have it, for nothing accrees to the King, unless no one knows who hid that treasure."

The civil law gave it to the finder according to the law of nature, and we suppose it was this principle of natural law that was referred to in what was said of treasure hid in a field in Matthew's Gospel, xiii, 44. But common law which we administer gave it always to the owner, if he could be found, and if he could not be, then to the King, as wrecks, strays and other goods are given "whereof no person can claim property." 3d Inst., 132. Hutchmaker, therefore, held the decease. Immense quantities of foreign fruit are now arriving in Philadelphia. Over thirty thousand hoxes of oranges and lemons have arrived within a few weeks, chiefly from the south of Italy. Oranges are now sold in Philadelphia. by measure, for about the prices of apples. This being the case, prices ought to come down, in the country, to a reasonable figure.

A novel application of the stereoscope has recently been made in distinguishing copies from fice simile. When two pages printed from the same type are combined in the stereoscope, the printing appears to lie in the same plane. In the most careful attempt by the printer to set up a page or a few lines a like, the words and letters will, in the stereoscope, be seen to lie in different planes. The physician, whose sands of life have just began to run, must have an acute olfactory to detect the disease by merely smelling it.

THE STATE MESSENGER.-Dick Turpin, the famous highwayman, actually robbed the second Duke of Portland within his own park of Bulstrade. This during deed be thus for a bet accomplished: The Duke was driving into the domain in his carriage, accompanied by a few attend-ants on horseback. Turpin hastily rode up, havants on horseback. Turpin hastily rode up, having apparently a roll of paper in his hand, and, pointing to it, he motioned to the horsemen to stand aside for a moment. Thinking he was a messenger of state, they did so, when Turpin, putting his head into the curringe, leveled the roll of paper at the Duke's head, and his Grace perceived it contained a loaded pistol. You life or your watch, on the instant! guicely said perceived it contained a louded pistol. 'You life or your watch on the instant!' quietly said Turpin. The Duke puiled the latter frum his fob and gave it to him. Turpin drew back with sundry hows and obeisances, as if receiving the Duke's answer to an important dispatch, and then galloped off, and was on the highroad out of youth before the Duke good given the light on the high road by the latter to his reach before the Duke could give the alarm to his

THE SEWARD POLICY.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal tally ignited, has been introduced in Paris. By "The Seward policy may prevail, and that is, for the call of a National Convention as soon as practicable, and submitting to it the expediency of a provision for the penaltal distribution. a very simple device, human agency is rendered position, and at the other end with another compo-sition, and is capable of being made to take fire by itself, either by friction or by the application of heat. To strike a light by the new lucifer it is needful to break it, and bring the two ends together and to apply friction to them at once, while they are in contact with each other. Consequently, while in a whole state, they may be east about, trodden upon, or rubbed with impunity. So great have been the losses of the French insurance offices by fires, caused accidentally by the common lucifers, that they purpose to peti tion the Emperor to abolish, by a project of law, the sale of all dangerous articles
