whose membors, one and another, possess full practical knowledge of all the arts, sciences, professions, and whatever cire, whether useful or elegant, is known the world; and there is scarcely one from which there could not be selected a President, a Cabinet, a Congress, and perhaps a court, abundantly competent to administer the government tiself.

Nor do I say this is not true also in the delugs of our late friends, new adversaries; in this contest. But it is, as much better the reason why the government, which has conferred such benefit sat both them and us, should not be broken up. Whosver, in any section, proposes to abandon such a government, would do well to consider in deference to what principle it is that be does it; what better he is likely to get in its stoad; who there he substitute will give, or be intended to give, so much of gend to the people. There are some foreshadowings on this sulject. Our adversaries have adopted some declarations of independence, in which, unlike the good cid one penned by Jefferson, they omt the words, "All men are created equal." Why? They have adopted a temporary national con-titution, in the preamble of which, unlike our good old one, signed by Washington they omt "We, the goopele," and substitute "We, the deputies of the sovereign and independent States." Why? Why; this deliberatt tressing our of view the rights of men and the authority of the people?

Tolding to partial and temporary departures from necessity, this is the leading object of the government of whose existence we contend.

I am most happy to believe that the plain people understand and appreciate this. It is worthy of note that white, in this the government's hour of trial, large numbers of these in the army and nay who have been favored with the offices have resigned and not one common soldier or common sallor is known to have deserted his flag. Great honor is due to those officers who remained true, despite the example of their treacherous sesociates.

But the greatest honor, and most important fact of fill the input modes from example of their treacherous sesociates.

But the greatest honor, and most important fact of fill the input modes from example of their treacherous sesociates.

By a notice in another column it will be seen that the Commissioners have ordered an abutement of five per cent. to be made on all State and County Taxes, paid on or before the lift had the destroying of the government which was home. Our popular government has often been called an experiment. Two points in it car people kave already settled—the successful variabilishing and the successful administeriag of it.

One still remains. Its successful maintenauceagainst settled—the successful establishing and the successful askiniaeteriage it.

One still remains. Its successful maintenance against a formidable internal attempt to overthrow it. It is fer them to demonstrate to the world that those who iden issify carry an election can also suppress a rebellion; that ballots are the rightful and penceful successors of bullets, and that when ballots have fairly and constitutionally decided there can be no successful applied back to build; that there can be no successful applied back to build; that there can be no successful applied back to build; that there can be no successful applied back to build; that there can be no successful applied back to build; that there can be seaching men that what they cannot take ty an election neither can they the by war, teaching all the fully of being the beginners of war.

Such will be a great lesse to peace, teaching men that what they cannot take by an election neither can they take by war, teaching all the fully of being the beginners of war.

Lest there be some uneasiness in the minds of cardid men as to what is to be the course of the government to wards the southern States after the robellion shall, have been suppressed, the Executive deems it proper to say, it will be his purpose thon, as ever, to be guided by the Censtitution and the laws, and that he probably will have no different understanding of the powers and the duties of the Sederal government relatively to the rights of the States and people under the Constitution than expressed in the inaugural address.

Iledesires to preserve the government that it may be administered to all as it was administered by the men who made it. Loyal citizens everywhere have the right to claim this of their government, and the government has no right to withhold or neglect it. It is not perceived that in giving it there is any decrelon, any conquest or subjugation in any just sense of those terms.

The Constitution provides, and all the States have accepted the provision, that the United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican form of government. But if a State may lawfully go out of the Union, having done so, it may also discard the republican form of government; so that, to prevent its going out, it is all indisponsable to use every means to the end of main; aining the guaranty. When an end is lawful and obliquatory the indispensable means to obtain it are also lawful and obliquatory for implementation of the case of the devity of employing the war power in defence of the government, forced upon him. He could but perform this duty or surrender the existence of the government. No compromise by public servants could in this case be a cure. Not that compromises are not often proper, but that no popular government can long survive a fatal precedent, that the se who carry an election can only save the government f to your own judgment, perform yours. He sincerely hopes that your views and your actions may so accord with his as to assure all faithful citizens who have been disturbed in their rights, of a certain and speedy restora-tion to them under the Constitution and the laws. And having thus chosen our course without guile and rith pure purpose, let us renew our trust in God and ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

A new comet made its appearance on Tuesday night of last week, in a manner totally unexpected and unberaided. It is supposed to be the famous comet known as Charles the Fifth's, which made its last appearance about the year 1558. This comet was seen from New-York on Sunday evening, when it appeared midway between the North Star and the Dipper, and was of unusual size and brilliancy, its nucleus being apparently three or four times as large as Venus. MR. Emror:—Agreeably to a promise in my events since our arrival here. We left Hagerstemp, the place of our former rendezvous, in the evening, just as the genial rays of the sun were playing their departing beams over mellow earth, and let me assure you, it was a grand sight to behold our gallant band marching over the un-happy Dixio, all eager to storm the enemy. Before the dawn of next morning, we arrived at Camp Porter, thus making our march about twelve miles. You may imagine how we enjoyed that march, from the fact that every soldier was obliged to carry fifty pounds baggage. If any of my friends ever carried a keg of beer to his ARM BROKE.—A very serious acci- home, he can form a correct idea how such a dent happened on Monday afternoon, to Miss march may be appreciated. THE GREAT CLOTHING EMPORIUM OF THE UNION.—Philadelphia possesses the most splendid Clothing Emporium in the country. It is splendid as regards the palatial structure in which the immense business of the establishment is conducted, and it is equally splendid in respect to its great facilities and equally splendid in respect to its great facilities and vast resources. But to its patrons its chief attractions are, first, the elecance of the garments for Gentlemen and Youths, manufactured there; secondly, the beauty and durability of the materials, and the superior excellence of the fit, and lastly the moderate prices at which the goods are sold. We refer, in this description, to none other than the Brown Stone Clothing Ifall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 805 Chestnut Street, above Sixth, Philadelphia. [ju 12-ly.]

LEMBERCER'S

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bettle, and they will find n it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years; as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to for her infant. Should the period of maternity
