THE FAIR.—The time of the next Annual Fair of the Lebanon County Agricultaral Society, is rapidly approaching. Those who have its management in charge, we are pleased to say, are sparing no pains to make the exhibition unusually attractive, and with the co-operation of all citizens, will doubtless succeed in presenting to the public a Fair equal to those of more prosperous times. We often hear agricultural fairs spoken of as being of little utility .-But these objectors seem to forget that to them alone are attributable the rapid improvement in all that pertains to the chespening of labor on the farm. Had it not been for the agricultural fairs in this country and in England, it may well be doubted whether any of the threshing machines, mowers, and other modern implements that are now deemed indispensable, would have been known; while it is certain that the applieation of steam as a power for performing farm work would never have been made. Let our PLAIN STATEMENT OF FACTS. farmers then cherish these fairs as "institutions" of immense value. The Junior Union and Perseverance Hose Companies had a parade on Saturday evening last, on the occasion of housing the newly-painted Spider of the latter company. It was a very handsome and orderly affair, both companies looking extremely well. The Perseverance band onlivened the march, and several characters in costume furnished amusement and oddity.

The Democratic delegate elections in this horough, on Saturday evening were the best attended and most enthusiastic within our recollection. It was a glorious sight to see the old, the middle aged, and the young democracy vieing with each other to attest their devotion to the Union and the good old course of democracy. Upon this question there can be no difference of opinion among loyal citizens, and we have therefore witnessed with great satisfaction the promptitude with which hundreds of thousands of true patriots of all shades of political opinion, have rallied to the defence of the Constitution and the Union upon the call of the censtituted authorities of the United States. And while men of all parties so united in opinion sr freely giving their means and pouring out thei blood upon the battle fields of the country, we do not esteem it right,—since all other political issues have disappeared—that party lines should now be drawn and that the people should be divided and distracted by partizan contests for lo-

Resolved, That we look forward to the day—which we hope is not far distant—when the binding obligation of the Constitution and the laws will be recognized and submitted to in every State and Territory. When the smiles of peace will again shed their lustrous rays over the land, and the din of war will be heard no more; and the American people emerging from the gloom which treason has spread over our national sky will sgain become united, prosperous and happy, and their capacity for self-government, now doubted by the Aristocracy and Monarchists of England and Europe, will have been triumphantly vindicated.

My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) Ploture is more life like than any thing they over saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by different Artists in various ways, but I have never yot had one which presents so true to nature, all the fastures and expressions of countenance as this.
