'Sir, you are too kind--
'Not a word. I am happy to do you a service.'

'Take the clasp, sir; though I am ashamed to offer it to you, since the gentleman says it is so valueless--

'I do not want it, child,' said Mc-Henry, feelingly putting her hand aside, while she urged it upon him.

'Indeed, sir, you must take it; for I shall feel in some degree under obligations to a stranger, besides I wish

'It is of inestimable value to me, Sir; indeed it is the only valuable thing I have,' said she, earnestly,

'You won't give me, but two dollars, and I want seven.'

'The young girl was about to speak again, but as if not knowing what her arguments were, she hesitated, take it up. Are you sure you left it there?'

'Yes Sir, hoping that you would take it, and keep it till I paid you the money.'

'Well, my child, I have not got it, but I believe the goldsmith has got it.

'Come with me, and I will find the clasp for you,' said Col. McHenry, offering her his arm, and leaving the
