A SCENE IN COURT AT WARREN. -- We had a scene in Court this week not down in the programme. When Anna J. Clements was brought in to be sentenced. Judge Johnson proceeded to lecture her on the crime of larceny and give her some good advice. She stood bold and defiant, frequently interrupting him with insolent remarks. Her black eyes fairly flashed fire and vengance. As he closed with a two years sentence in the penitenlary, she yelled out, "can't you give me Farmers and others Take Notice, a longer sentence, you d-dold ---!" and let fly four or five stones one after the other like lightning. The Judges ducked their heads and dodged, barely escaping a lit. Then she bounded like a wild cut for the Judge, and actually got partly behind the bench before she was seized and held, while she yelled and struggled with the strength of a strong man. We never saw such desperation.

A NIGHT WALK OF ELEVEN MILES BY A FEMALE SOMNAMBULIST.—The Barra Gazette publishes the following extraordinary statement :--

"We have been informed on good authority that a Miss Chamberlain, of Templeton, a young lady of good character, abilities and education, went to Westminister, a short time since, to teach school, In the early part of the night of the third day of her school, after having retired to her room, she got up in a somnambulic state, dressed herself carefully, and left the house without rousing any of the inmates, who did not miss her till, not answering the call to breakfast, next morning, they went to her room and found it deserted. Some time during the latter part of the night the young lady's father was awakened by some one rapping at the door. He got up, and on opening the door found his daughter upon the step. As she entown and Annville Stations, and all other points in the tered she asked for a glass of water, and having drank, went directly to the chamber she had been accustomed to occupy, and commenced preparations to retire to her bed, when she awoke, and was astonished to find herself at her father's house instead of her boarding place, eleven miles distant. As might have been expected, she was much fatigued by her long walk, but no serious consequences resulted, and after remaining at home a few days she returned to Wesminster, where she resumed her school last Mon-

AN EPITAPH.

Mr. Cox, of Chio, concluded his speech of June 6th with the following:

Weary in watching its mad designs of revolution—and its razy crotchets of black freedom—and for the self-preservation of my native State and the North from the black immigration with which it is threatened, I shall go to my home and ask the ballot to speak its denunciation. A few months and that expression will be had. On it depends the fate of the Republic. My belief is, that the people will write the epitaph of this Congress, reary by as Gladstone wrote that of the Coalition ministry during the Crimean war:
