A LESSON WORTH ENSHRINING.

A lesson in itself sublime,
A lesson worth enshrining
Is this: "I take no note of time
Save when the sun is shining."
These motto words a dial bore,
And wisdom never preaches
To human-hearts a better lore
Than this short sentence teaches!
As life is cometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely,
Let us lorget its toil and care,
And note its bright hours only.

There is no grove on carth's broad chart,
But has some bird to cheer it;
So hope sings on in every heart,
Although we may not hear it.
And if to day the heavy wind
Of sorrow is oppressing,
Perchance to morrow's sun will bring
The weary heart a blessing,
For life is sometimes bright and fair
And sometimes dark and lonely;
Then let's forget its toft and care,
And note its brighthours only.

We bid the joyous moments haste,
And ther forget their glitter;
We take the cup of life and taste
No portion but the bitter;
But we should teach our hearts to deem
Its sweetest drops and strongest;
And pleasant hours should ever seem
To linger round, as longest:
As life is sometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely,
Let us forget its toil and care,
And note its bright hours only.

The darkest shadows of the night
Are just before the morning;
Then let us wait the coming light
All bodelers phantoms scorning;
And white we're passing on the tide
of time's fast-eb'ing river,
Let's pluck the blosoms by its side
And bless the gracious Giver.
As life is sometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely,
We should forget its pain and care,
And note its bright hours only.

Boston, Jan. 14, 1862 Messes Epirons :- I enclose a form of petition to Congress that the reople here are extensively signing, somewhat to an-

MASSACHUSETTS, January, 1862. to the business of the Country. It would be well to start the same petition in Liebanon. Among the stories told of General Nelson, one of the best of the federal commanders in Kentucky, is the following: "While visiting the guard of a neighboring regiment, a few days since, he noticed the absence of the officer in command, and demanded his presence, whereupon a very unmilitary-like figure, enveloped in a shawi, appeared. "General Nelson-Beg your pardon, sir, want the officer of the guard. "Officer-I am officer of the guard, sir.

"General Nelson-Take off that shawl, (The mysterious stranger divests himself of the shawl.)

Now, sir, where is your sword? "Officer-In my tent. "General Nelson-Put it on, sir. Stand up now. Take the position of a soldier. and salute your superior officer. Very well done, sir -quite correct. Now deliver your sword to my adjutantgeneral, and report yourself under arrest, sir!"
