INCREASING.—It affords us pleasure to ANCREASING.—It affords us pleasure to note the rapid increase of our subscription list.

There is no way in which the interests of a party can be more effectively or permanently benefitted, than by an extended circulation of its local organ. Although largely increased during the past two months, our list is yet by no means as large as should be. We have no donbt that every subscriber upon our list could, by asking his neighbor to subscribe, and impressing upon him the absolute necessity at the present time, of supporting the organs of free speech, add asking his neighbor to subscribe, and impressing upon him the absolute necessity at the present time, of supporting the organs of free speech, add a name to our list. Reader, do not imagine that this request is intended for your neighbor; it is intended for you!

The Ladies Aid Society of this county is busily engaged in collecting and for-warding supplies to our sick and wounded soldiers at Gettysburg. Contributions from town and country are ear-nestly solicited. A. Tree to Gettysburg.—We left Lebaron on Wednesday morning, in the New York train for Harrisburg, with the intention of working our way to the Gettysburg battle ground. We had provided ourselves with a quantity of bread, crackers, ham, cheese, &c., for provender during our absence, which, although in our subsequent trials and difficulties proved a heavy burthen, yet it was a fortunate circumstance that we had thus provided ourselves, as it was utterly impossible at times to obtain anything to eat ly impossible at times to obtain anything to eat on the road. We reached Harrisburg at 2 o'clock, in a drenching rain which continued without intermission about the whole of Wednesday. We soon discovered at Harrisburg that the travel to York by railroad was tabbooed by the destruction of the bridges by the rebels between the two places, and consequently were obliged to reconnoitre for some other plan of reaching our des-tination. After lounging about Harrisburg un-til daylight, and not being able to hit upon any better plan as we imagined, and being told that the distance by turnpike to Gettysburg was only 28 miles, we concluded to take the road, a la Bayard Taylor, and foot it. We strung our knapsacks across our backs, and with umbrellas when when serves our packs, and white undershas spread to the rain, started across the bridge.—We were a company of five, and made handsome time to the other side of the river. After a glauce at the entrenchments there, at the deluge of rain coming down, and at the utter impassibility of the road, which we were there informed was not a turnpike, but a bad mud road, concluded the wisest thing we could do was to go back to Harrisburg, take the cars to Carlisle, and strike from theree across on what we were assured was a good turnpike.

At about 8 o'clock we started for Carlisle. The first object of rebel vandalism that struck our view was the ruins and burnt walls of the U. S. Barracks. After that we quickly passed the site of the gas works, also burnt, and by the destroyed trussel work of the railroad just this side of the town. In the town we saw many evidences of the cannonading, such as boles knocked into buildings by cannon balls, limbs cut from trees, &c. We here found crowds of folks trying to as-Berks thus seals its devotion to the Union by the certain the best way for Gettysburg. Vehicles blood of its sons, should they not be allowed to were scarce and the prises asked for passage were enjoy their political opinions without taunts as in many cases the worth of them. We speedily nude up our minds to take to the road and foot it. Scores upon scores did to same thing, and by 11 o'clock we left Carlisle behind us. The road was lined with travelers on foot, on horse Reading Journal, and Post Master of that city (salary $1,000,)has been promoted to 7th corporal in one of the Berks county companies. Editors make good soldiers and some one of the gang will yet turn up a Major General.

The report last week that the Iron

On the rond fare was also collected from all not soldiers. Thus either government or the citizens are cheated, and the railroad company or its employees get double fare.

Cheated the another route to Gettysburg. We followed and were led into a mud road; through which we left into a mud road; through which is distant on a direct road from Carlisle only 7 miles. We had thus already been obliging or its employees get double fare. the worst roads imaginable. It was discouraging WHAT WE SAW .- 1200 to 1500 in the extremo, yet we determined to persevere we forget. We here met the 36th Regiment of Penn, Vol. Col. Alleman, on their way for Got-bridges. The whole country was deluged with water which came rushing down from the mountains. The roads were rivers, and the fields lakes. We here commenced voyaging.—

We started ahead of the regiment. When not up to the knees, and sometimes body, in water we stuck fast in the mud and sand at almost every step. Such a forlard set of creatures as we were and there were hundreds in the same predica ment, the sun never shone upon in that section. At about a mile beyond this place we commended climbing the South mountains. We either had to avoid the roads or wade the water which that to avoid the roles of water the whiter which was rushing down in power sufficient to drive all the mills in the land. It was weary traveling. As we crossed one crost of the mountain another towered in the advance. At times we were so exhausted that we could hardly move along.— Suffice it to say that we crossed two ridges of the South Mountain, the descent of which, to our South Mountain, the descent of which, to our weary bodies was almost as fatiguing as the ascent, when we reached what we had calculated should be our resting place for the night, viz:

Dingrees From Works, at about 2 didner R.M., having made about 3 miles from the place we met the 36th Regiment. What was our disappointment, however, to find that this was no village, no public house here, and no accommoda-tions to be had either in the eating or sleeping At a meeting of the citizens of Lebanon line. We had no other remedy but to make for Bendersville, distant about S miles, across the just then also came in and went into a field to ing:—

Others are welcome to try the experiment of traveling from Carlisle to Gettysburg a foot, but we would advise them not to make it, especially if the rain is pouring and the bridges are carried away. Correct informa-tion we could obtain little or none, every body we met seemed to take a pleasure in mis directing us, or telling us a parcel of lies respecting the courses and distances. One apparently intelligent person was able to tell us how far we had come from Carlisle, but in regard to Gettyeburg he didn't know anything—had never heard of the place before.

The streets were a perfect Babel, filled with vehicles of every description-Government teams, ambulances, wa gons bringing hospital stores, carriages, horse-men, officers riding backwards and forwards at full speed, and thousands of wounded Union soldiers were walking along the streets, or lying on the pavements, along the houses, fences, curb-stones, and Court House and churches and many other buildings were filled with the more severely wounded. We passed on to the Cemetery and from thence took a stroll over a part of the scene of battle of Friday. The destruction of property within its range, and which extends for miles is almost complete, and the desolation is sickening. Hundreds of horses still remain where they fell, and the ground was literally covered with the material of armies. The body of Frederick Strife, a member of the 3d Pa cavalry, was brought to his home, in Fredericksburg this county, on Saturday last, and interred on Sunday. He was killed by his horse rearing and falling buck on him. He has been in the service nearly two years, and was a brave and reliable soldier. He leaves a family.

NIXON'S CREMORNE CIRCUS. M'ME MACARTE'S

EUROPEAN CIRCUS. First appearance in America. Madame Macarte has great satisfaction in announcing to the people of this country, that after an absence of several years she will again have the honor of appearing before them.

Among the Royal Rritish Circus is the beautiful Stud of English thorough-breds, including the cele-brated Mare, BLACK SWAN.

Being the same Troupe with which in England, Ireland and Scotland she had the honor of performing before the most refined and numerous audiences in every city in the British Realm.

Madame Macarte's great Act, the VENETIAN CARNIVAL Will be remembered by those who witnessed her former efforts in this country.

First appearance in America of

Mr. JOHN COOK, The English humorist, known as the most brilliant wit in England, and familiarly styled the COMIC MUSE. The elegant follies of this well-bred and gen tlemanly clown will be occasionally diversified by the exceedingly comic grotesques of the famous FRENCH PERROT.

SYRO-ARABIC TROUPE. Comprising Male and Female Jug-glers, Aerobates, Contortionists. Prominent among the features of this troupe is the distinguished MILLE CARROLL, of European and American celebrity. This young and brilliant artiste is acknowledged by all, both in and out of the equestrian profession, to be the most perfect rider of the age. In addition to the Star Company, the manager has secured an en-gagement with the renowned Wild Pider,

Mr. EATON STONE. Mr. EATON STONE.

Mr. Stone's feats on horseback are all performed on his naked Steed, without saddle, bridle, or covering of any kind. His reckless and brilliant leaps over four-barred gates and other barriers, while currying his son upon his head, and in various other attitudes, are considered the per fection of equestran skill, and have justly entitled him to the distinction of "Champion of the Arena."
