DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET. FOR GOVERNOR.

GEO. W. WOODWARD,

OF LUZERNE.

FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT, WALTER H. LOWRIE,

OF ALLEGHENY.

Election on Tuesday, October 13th, 1863

JUDGE PEARSON'S CHARGE.

"Do not misunderstand me on this subject. Men have the most unlimited right to condemn, and if you please, rail at the National Administration, and object to the manner in which it couducts public affairs, but not to decry the government under which we live, or express hopes or wishes for a dissolution of the Union, the destruction or defeat of our armies, the success of the rebels or of the rebellion.

The Administration he may expect the administration he may entirely condemn; the Government he is bound to support Parties will always exist, in every free country, and whether men will sustain or oppose a particular administration. is, one in which there should ever be the most perfect freedom of opinion, but no man or set of men has any right, incurni or political, to overturn the government itself. He is bound to support and sustain it, let who will administer its affairs, until the ruler can be changed under the provisions of the Constitution. There certainly can be no difficulty with persons of ordinary intelligence drawing the distinction between sustaining the government itself, and sustaining or opposing those who temporarily administer, its affairs. The latter is a question of party, the former of patriotism."

Hence democrats should go to unusual exertions to achieve a victory this fall. Let every democrat constitute himself a committee to do all that is in his power. It is but a little more than two months until the election; the principal work of the farmers is over, successfully and bounteously, and now let him devote all his spare time and attention to his country, to himself and his children's liberty and welfare. There never was a time when so much every individual democrat. THE ADMINISTRATION, THE REBELLION, and the DRAFT and a later

The Administration journals are now eloquent in their labored leaders on the subject of "ovr late victories" and the demoralization of the rebels. According to these papers the rebellion cannot las over sixty or ninety days longer.

If the hireling scribblers in the interest of our abolition despotism are to be be lieved, the rebel army is well nigh abnihigreat. Many of them believed that Seward told the truth at the New Enbellion would be conquered in "sixty days!" and almost everybody seemed to believe that the 75,000 men, first called out hy Mr. Lincoln, would be able to which they were requested to serve!

Since that time, the Administration papers have had the backbone of the rebellion broken, at least, a dozen times; they from starvation, or deserting to the mountains, or rebelling against their leaders, and they have represented the whole South as eaten out clean, and left as bare and barren as was Egypt after the seven yrs' famine. If the mere drawing of names caused so much disturbance in New York and elsewhere, what mey be expected when the men themselves shall be drag ged from their homes? That there are port ons of this State and localities in other States where the draft cannot be enforced, we fully believe, and it remains to be seen whether the people of some portions of the States will be drafted while those of other portions will be left at home: whether public money will be voted to purchase universal exemption in some communities, where riots are feared, while in others, more peaceably disposed, > as conscripts - Evening Journal: Good News from a far Country .-The sharp, quick click of the magnetic telegraph, brings us the brief news that "the election in Washington Territory has gone largely Democratic." There is nothing more-no particulars are given of the triumph of the Democracy in that far off region :-Yet, the intelligence, meagre though it be, gives us great cause for rejoicing. It speaks of better things for the Republic. The ascendency of the Democratic party throughout the country is the only salvation of the nation; and the distant Territory that bears the name of WASHINGTON was a fitting spot for the work of political regeneration to commence.

A correspondent of the N. Y. World informs that paper that "Andrews," notorious for inciting the mob during the recent riots, and now under arrest, was formenly a detective officer and one of Secretary Stanton's spies.

16 It is pretty well settled in the public mind that the spirit of lawlessness which pervades the North, is owing to the revolutionary and treasoundle teachings of the Abulition party. For many years past the Abolitionists have advocated resistance to a law which was passed by Congress in conformity with the Constitution of the United States. They crush the monster within the ninety days treated the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case with sovereign contempt, and they openly violated all statutes that interfered with the progress of their anti-slavery have had whole armies of rebels dying doctrines. The whole responsibility of the recent fearful riots is upon them, and they will be compelled to meet the issue at the ballot box.

We confess that we are not surprised have been powed forth on our Irish ed, for he must be a simpleton who imagines that the sacrifices which have been made by the Irish and of native prejudice and hostility to this portion of our population. Although it is now a notorious fact that, the late popular outbreak against the conscription embraced Americans and Germans, and other nationalities, still the Irish are singled out exclusively for the assaults and vile abuse of that portion of the press to which we have referred. But our Irish fellow citizens can afford to dispise these Knownothings in heart and head, and confidently point to their fidelity to the Constitution and the Union-po uch a union as their traducers would ive us, but the Union which such Lishmen as Montgomery, and Barry. and Sullivan helped to establish and maintain-they can, we say confi dently, point to their fidelity in refu tation of the slanders which have been so unsparingly heaped upon them." - Metropolitan Record.
