There are hundreds of gambling halls, too, where thousands are nightly lost and won.—These saloons are fitted up in gorgeous style, with free lunch and whiskey at certain hours, and form a pleasant place of resort for traveling military gentlemen and Department clerks, who generally during the evening, are relieved of all superabundance of "greenbacks."—These establishments have their agents and decoys, to inveigle the innocent and unsuspecting. One who knows them can see them operating, almost any evening, around the bar-rooms and gentlemen's parlors at the hotels.

WHEN DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES CEASE TO LEAD, WE CEASE TO FOLLOW.

W. M. BRISLIN, Editor and Proprietor.

LEBANON, PA.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1863.

It is rumored that there will be a blow up in the Cabinet before long, and that Messrs. Stanton, Welles and Blair will retire.

President Lincoln has the small-pox. Every body that reads the message coming from his hands, this week, is expected to take it. If Congress don't organize it may be owing to the fear of the members receiving communications from the President, which may as readily be the small-pox as a message. What a terrible thing it would be for Congress and the Cabinet, if all were to take the small-pox. As it stands the "government" of the United States has the small-pox. There is one thing certain, the rebels won't take the "government" while it has the small-pox, and so we may as well put the army in winter quarters.—The small-pox is a good protection to Washington and the "government."

Congress.

The 38th Congress met on Monday. The political complexion of the House as accurately as we can make it out, is as follows:—

Administrationists	93
Democrats	74
Border State men	16

Of the 16 Border State men, the New York Tribune claims at least 7 as Administrationists, and they will doubtless be found on that side, owing, as they do, their election to Administration influence.

The Republican members had a caucus on Saturday night and nominated Hon. Schuyler Colfax, of Indiana, as their candidate for speaker.

The Democratic members also had a consultation but no nominations were made.

It is feared that there will be some trouble in the organization owing to the informality of the certificates of the members from Massachusetts, East Virginia, California, Oregon, Maryland, Vermont, New Hampshire and Connecticut. In accordance to an act passed at the last Congress all these will have to be ruled out, unless they are corrected in time, which is hardly possible in the case of some of them.

P. S.—Mr. Colfax was elected Speaker on Monday by a vote of 101 to 81 scattering. Colfax is a rank abolitionist. The message will be delivered to-day, Tuesday.

It is reported by Gen. Hildreth that there are now 50,000 negro soldiers in the service. Somebody no doubt steals the pay for that many, but they are certainly not one fourth that number in the service. Uncle Samuel is a badly fleeced gentleman.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Army of the Potomac has again fallen back to the Northern shore of the Rappahannock, and is now in its old quarters at Brandy Station, near Culpeper. And thus has ended the eighth aggressive campaign of the largest and best appointed Army on the side of the Union.

This failure, for even the Administration presses so call it, has revived the rumor that General Meade will be removed from the command of the Army of the Potomac. A Washington dispatch, says that "Gen. Sherman will probably be recalled from Tennessee to succeed him in the command, though not with a view to another campaign in Virginia the present winter. The army will remain in its present position but a few days, when it will withdraw to this side of the Rappahannock, with a view to winter quarters."

HIDDEN TREASURE.—An old lady named Mrs. Miller, aged between eighty and ninety years, died lately in Pottsgrove township, Montgomery county, in whose bed was found, carefully sewed up, one hundred dollars in gold, and a considerable quantity of silver.

We heard a good story the other night of two persons engaged in a duel. At the first fire, one of the seconds proposed that they should shake hands and make up. The other second said he saw no particular necessity for that, for their hands had been shaking ever since they began.

The Courier says that "the wonderful progress made in the great work of putting down the rebellion, since the recent victories at the polls, shows what a remarkable sympathy and connexion exists between the Union victories at home here and the Union victories in the field." It strikes us that the above had better been left unsaid, particularly at a time when the conscripts of all parties, are invited to step over to Pottsville and settle, or, shoulder a musket. The abolitionists are constantly speaking of democrats in the same breath they do of the rebels, and at the same time they want them to fight for a cause in which they have persuaded themselves and the world, that we have no sympathy. If they want the rebellion crushed and the assistance of the democrats to do it, why are they constantly stigmatizing the latter, and creating ill feeling and a division of sentiment in the North? If it had not been for the persistent efforts at disunionism made by the abolitionists in the north, the indisposition to volunteer would not now be so all prevalent. They bred disunion in the south and they are not wanting in efforts to produce the same in the North—in fact, according to their own showing, nearly one half of the people of the northern States, are traitors. They have paralyzed the people and the army, and although they boast of the "wonderful progress made" in the great work of putting down the rebellion since the recent victories at the polls," a calm review of the case will show that the reverse is just the case, that no progress has been made at all neither in obtaining men or successes in the field on the part of those who have been obtained, not owing, however, to the want of bravery on the part of the men, but to the incompetency of the officers, who lack almost every quality for leading brave men. Because they are political fanatics they are placed and kept in positions simply because they are such, while good men are displaced and disgraced; if it had not been for the disunionism of the Abolitionists, peace would not only have been restored long ago, but the demon war would never have come to us with its horrid train of blood and carnage, and we would rather to day be called a secessionists and traitor by the abolitionists, than feel responsible for the miseries inflicted upon our unhappy country by the political fanatics who are ruling and ruining us all.

Important from Knoxville.

REBEL ATTACK DEFEATED.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 8.

A special dispatch to the Journal of this city says that General Wilcox has telegraphed from General Burnside's headquarters at Knoxville, on the 30th ult., that at 11 o'clock on the evening of the 28th the rebels attempted to surround his force, and succeeded in driving our skirmishing line to the right wing, which was posted on the Kingston road, and forced back to Fort Saunders. We afterwards regained our position and had a sharp skirmishing with the enemy all night. On Monday morning at seven o'clock the rebels moved a force of three brigades against Fort Saunders, a portion of which, notwithstanding our heavy fire, gained the ditch but could not ascend the parapet. We took three hundred prisoners and three stand of colors. The rebel loss in killed, wounded and missing was over three hundred, while our loss was about twenty. Longstreet then accepted General Burnside's offer for a cessation of hostilities to enable the rebels to attend to their wounded. The wounded soldiers were exchanged for loyal soldiers wounded in previous engagements, and the rebel dead sent through our lines. Col. Russ, commanding the assault party, Col. McElroy and Lieut. Col. Thomas, of the enemy, were killed.

THE DEVIL'S COFFEE MILLS IN THE ARMY.

B. F. Taylor, the chatty correspondent of the Chicago Journal with the Army of the Cumberland, writes on the 9th:

Did you ever see one of the Devil's coffee mills? Well, I saw ten of them to-day, like the immortal backbirds, "all in a row." I refer, of course, to the "Union Repeating Gun" invented by a man who once bailed from Illinois, but now dates from Dixie, an implement that might do tremendous execution in skirmishing were it not as liable to get out of order as a lady's watch. Imagine a big rifle mounted upon a light pair of wheels, and swung easily upon an arc of a circle by a lever under the gunner's left arm, so as to sweep the range like a broom. Imagine a coffee mill hopper where the lock ought to be, and a crank to match. Then, here is a little copper box fitting the hopper. You fill it with a dozen or twenty cartridges, clap it into the hopper, and the thing is ready for business. The gunner seats himself comfortably behind the gun, elevates or depresses it with a touch, and takes sight. Before his face, as he did, and attached to the gun barrel, is a steel shield about the shape of an overgrown shovel, and inclined a little toward the miller, so that a shot aimed affectionately at his head glanced up and flies harmlessly away. Through the centre of this shield is a narrow slit—a la monitor turret—which enables him to take sight.

FOSTER RECALLED BY LONGSTREET.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4.

The Commercial has a special dispatch from Cumberland Gap, dated yesterday, stating that fighting was going on, on Wednesday, at Walker's Ford, twenty miles from the Gap, between General Foster's and Longstreet's cavalry. In attempting to cross the Clinch river, General Foster was met by the enemy and repulsed with the loss of fifty men. They captured four pieces of artillery.

A BATTLE WAS Fought at Ringgold, Georgia, between part of the forces under Gen. Grant, commanded by Hooker, and the rebels under Bragg, the day after the latter's defeat at Mission Ridge. Hooker was obliged to withdraw, with a pretty heavy loss. The 7th Ohio lost all its officers, and the regiment came out of the battle under command of a Lieutenant. Our forces afterwards reformed, when the rebels withdrew. Our officers decided not to pursue.

LATER.

From Chattanooga semi-official accounts of General Hooker's repulse at Ringgold represent his loss at five hundred. The Federal army is now intrenching on the eastern slope of Mission Ridge, their pickets being posted two miles in advance along the western bank of the Chickamauga. The Federal retreat from Ringgold, seven miles to the Chickamauga, was quite precipitate, and closely followed up by the enemy, who now picket the eastern bank of the stream. General Bragg's headquarters are at Ringgold, and his army is massed in that neighborhood. Everything is quiet at Chattanooga.

From Knoxville we receive nothing definite. General Longstreet does not appear yet to have raised the siege; for if he had, we certainly should have intelligence of it from General Burnside. There is no communication between Cumberland Gap and Knoxville yet. General Foster is idle on the Clinch river, twenty miles from the gap, where he has but a handful of cavalry. He makes no attempt to advance any farther. A Federal force of three thousand is said to have left Chattanooga to aid Burnside, though the route taken is not very evident. The Confederates are represented to be in strong force at Loudon, twenty-three miles west of Knoxville, and at Kingston, ten miles northwest of Loudon. Cannonading has been heard in that direction; so that it would seem the expedition had marched over the Cumberland Mountains, and was in conflict with the enemy. No progress appears to have been made by the expedition beyond Loudon, the Confederates having there a strong line of defence, formed by the Tennessee river. We can find no reliable intelligence of Longstreet's retreat. The numerous rumors to that effect are evidently manufactured at Cincinnati.

General Meade's army is at Brandy Station, with an outpost of cavalry at Culpeper. On Friday afternoon a light division of the enemy crossed the Rapidan at a point above Racon Ford. General Meade will not be able to drive them across, his line not being advanced sufficiently to do it, and the Confederates left being already posted on the north bank of the Rapidan. This crossing of the enemy indicates nothing beyond an adjustment of their position, however. There is no certainty yet as to Meade's successor, though it appears to be decided that he shall be removed.

SCENE IN THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce writes to that paper as follows:

"The present war is waged for freedom, as the radical papers and orators of the day are always telling us. I would not doubt anything they say for the world, but a sight that I witnessed yesterday from the City Hall had a tendency to shake my confidence in the aforesaid proposition. I saw a company of black soldiers strutting about the sidewalk, smoking, looking impudent, swearing about the "copperheads," and talking lovingly about "Stanton," while on the other side of the street a dozen white conscripts, with gyves upon their wrists were being marched to the tented field under a strong guard of glistening bayonets.

Now if the people of this country, the solid yeomanry everywhere, enjoy this kind of spectacle, no reasonable spectator should have the audacity to object. But to my mind it is not funny. What one of the white warriors remarked, in passing, I will not repeat, because it was both wicked and distasteful."

DEATH OF GEN. SIGEL'S FATHER.

Moritz Sigel, the father of General Sigel, died at Illenau-by-Achern, Grand Duchy of Baden, on the 17th of August last, after an illness of three days. He was born in Bruchsal, in the same Duchy, in 1786, so that more than the allotted three score years and ten were meted out to him.

He studied law at Heidelberg; married in 1818; was appointed Judge; and was a firm adherent through life to the liberal school, in the politics of his country.

A lot of mention was on the table, and the gentleman opposite to it took the carver in hand: "Shall I cut it saddlewise?" quoth he. "You had better cut it bridewise," replied his neighbor; "for then we shall all stand a better chance to get a bit into our mouths!"

The Net Bonnet.—Le Beau Monde describes as follows a new fashion in ladies' bonnets: Perhaps one of the most remarkable bonnets which have been brought under the observation of the fashionable world is that shape which has been published within the last two or three weeks, and which the inventor calls the "vestile," (in English the net shape). The application of this name will be felt true, when we say that in each case a fancy and decorated net is attached to the bonnet, in the place of the curtain, and so conveniently that the hair can be immediately placed in it, and released upon taking the bonnet off. Doubtless this bonnet has been suggested by the flowing styles of wearing the hair which are coming into fashion, and which are inconvenient for door wear.

The editors of the Scientific American have received from California a piece of the wood of a tree thirty feet in diameter, the annual signs upon which indicate the age of the tree to be six thousand and three hundred years. Adam, had he gone to California when a little boy might have played marbles under that tree.

Stupidity of Verdict.—The following story of "twelve gentlemen of the jury" in England, who sat upon the case of a man found dead in a sand pit, surpasses, in the stupid fatuity of the jurors, anything which American records could present: "They first returned a verdict of manslaughter. The coroner recapitulated the testimony adduced, and sent them back. They re-entered the court with "We find that the deceased was still born." For a third time they were dismissed, with Lord Campbell's well-known formula, "Gentlemen, you will retire to consider your verdict;—this man was found dead in a sand pit." So they avoided technicalities, and came soundly to the conclusion, "that the said Robert Trejaney is dead, and died of sand!"

Death of Mrs. Jane M. Pierce.—Mrs. Jane M. Pierce, wife of ex-President Pierce, died at Andover, New Hampshire, on the 2d instant, in the 57th year of her age. This estimable Christian lady has been in feeble health for many years. She bore her sufferings with resignation and patience, and by her gentleness endeared herself to all who enjoyed her intimacy.

The municipal election in the city of New York on Tuesday, resulted in a sweeping Democratic victory. Mr. C. Godfrey Gunther, Democrat, is elected Mayor, by a plurality of 6,454 over Boody, Tammany and Mc-

DECLINE OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.

Parallelism in Ancient and Modern History a Voice of Warning.—Julius Caesar told the Roman Senate, when they objected to the plunder of the Treasury as being unlawful, that "Arms and Laws did not flourish together." [That was military necessity.]

History says, "The liberty of the people had become extinct. The spirit of Republicanism had departed, and a military despotism had usurped its place. Here and there a spark of patriotism might be kindled in the breast of some individual, but it was soon smothered." (As by Wooly-heads.)

Augustus Caesar made a new arrangement (suspension of habeas corpus) by dividing his army of 400,000 men, and stationing them under generals of his own appointment, who were dictators each in his own province. He had a body-guard of his cohorts, a thousand men each, which number was soon doubled.

Caligula wished the people had but one neck, that he might dispatch them at one blow. (Stanton.)

Nero caused the city of Rome to be set on fire and blamed it upon the Christians; then played the actor when it was burning. (Seward.)

Domitian was frivolous and blasphemous, delighting to be called "God and Lord." (Butler and the rest.)

Caracalla extended Roman citizenship to all men [negroes] in all provinces, in order to increase the taxes. Gibbon estimates the tax in the time of Augustus at $100,000,000, which Caracalla doubled. (Chase.)

Gallienus amused himself in Rome, holding mock triumphs, smiling and making witty speeches, while the barbarians were committing disasters all around him. (Lincoln.)

Under Tiberias conspicuous virtue was a mark for vengeance. (Vallandigham.) Even a mother's mourning for her slaughtered sons, was a crime deserving death. (Curtin.)

He was cruel and dissipated. The people became disaffected with his expensive amusements (balls) and his prodigality. (Greenbacks.)

Finally, Pertinax was assassinated and the Guards offered the Roman Empire to the highest bidder. (After a while.)

John Jones, Bag, father of the Hon. J. Glancy Jones, died at Morgantown on Sunday last, at the advanced age of 86 years. He was a native of Cæsarcon township, Berks county, and served as a private in the war of 1812. He received a classical education, and studied law, but never practiced. He was a son of Col. Jonathan Jones, a soldier of the Revolutionary War, who fought at Ticonderoga in the 11th Pennsylvania Line of the Continental Army.

John M. Cannaday, Democrat, has been elected to Congress, as a delegate from Idaho Territory, by a considerable majority.
