THE CORNER CAPITAL ANSWER. "A professor of uni-versit Minowedge" had a prince, who suddenly came in upon the pretender, and put his wisdom to the test: So thous knowest all things? said the king "then tell me to morrow morning these three things only, or thou shalt lose thy head.

First-how many baskets of earth there are in yonder mountain ? Secondly - how much is the king worth ? And thirdly, what is the king thinking of at Dried Apples and Peaches, Berns, Onions, &c. The time: the time.

measure, and in his apartments rolled upon the carpet in agony, for he knew that The must die on the morrow. His servant learned the trouble and offered to appear before the king and take his chance of an-• swering the questions.

The next morning, the servant, clothed in his master's robes, presented himself to his majosty, who was deceived by this appearance and the king proceeded : "Tell me, now, how many baskets of earth are in yonder mountain?,"

"That depends upon circumstances. tains one will hold it; If half as large, two if a quarter, four: and so on."

The king had to be satisfied and pro ceeded. Now tell me how much the king is worth ?"

"Weil your majesty, the king of Heav en and Earth was sold for thirty pieces of silver, and I conclude you are worth one where "piece." This was so witty an escape, that the king laughed and went on : "Now once more, tell me what I am thinking of ?" "You are now thinking that you are talking with the professor, whereas it is only his servant." Well done," said the king, "you shall have your reward, and your master shall not lose his head."

WHY THE DYING NEVER WEEP. The leadon why the dying never weep is because the manufactories of life have stopped forever; the human system has run down forever; every gland of the system has ceased uits functions. In almost all diseases the liver is the first manufactory that stops work; one by one others fol. sion, and all the fountains of life are at length dried up; there is no secretion anywhere. So the eye in death weeps not; not that all affectoin is dead to the heart, but because there is not a tear-drop in it, any more than there is moisture on the lip.
