Choice Poetry.

Why don't I enlist? Ah, you see, I have reasons that are well; But there is my neighbor, young O, Who by he stays no person can tell!

But I have a farm and a house, And cattle and sheep on the hill; How can I turn from profit and loss? To think of a sick nation's ill?

But I have a farm and a house, And cattle and sheep on the hill; How can I turn from profit and loss? To think of a sick nation's ill?

But I have a farm and a house, And cattle and sheep on the hill; How can I turn from profit and loss? To think of a sick nation's ill?

But I have a farm and a house, And cattle and sheep on the hill; How can I turn from profit and loss? To think of a sick nation's ill?
