

ADVERTISER OFFICE, LEBANON, PENN. This establishment is now supplied with an extensive assortment of JOB PRINTING...

DENTISTRY

C. B. Wagner, DENTIST. INSERTS Artificial Teeth on Gold, Silver, Vulcanite...

GEORGE CLARK, Surgeon Dentist, OFFICE C. Henry's New Building, opposite the Lebanon Hotel...

JOHN P. BOWMAN, Surgeon Dentist, 42 ROOMS over Mr. Adams' Hat Store, Cumberland St., Lebanon, Pa.

JOSIAH FUNCK, Attorney-at-Law, OFFICE, next door to the First National Bank, (also a Deposit Bank) Cumberland street, Lebanon, Pa.

J. HOFFMAN, (Capt. in the 142d Pa. Vol.) Bounty, Back pay AND Pension Agent, OFFICE WITH HON. J. W. KILLINGER, Lebanon, Pa., 1865-66.

REMOVAL. S. T. McADAM, ATTORNEY AT LAW, HAS REMOVED his office to Market Street, opposite the Lebanon Hotel...

ARMY AND NAVY PENSION, BOUNTY, BACK PAY AND BOUNTY LAND AGENCY, BASSLER BOYER, Attorney-at-Law, OFFICE, next door to the Lebanon Valley Bank, opposite the Buck Hotel, Lebanon, Pa.

JOHN BENSON, ATTORNEY AT LAW, OFFICE with A. R. Boughner, Esq., Cumberland Street, nearly opposite the Court House, Lebanon, Pa., 1865.

H. T. BIBIGHAUS, ATTORNEY AT LAW, OFFICE in Stichter's Building, Cumberland Street, nearly opposite the Court House, Lebanon, Pa., 1864-1865.

CYRUS P. MILLER, Attorney-at-Law, OFFICE in Walnut street, nearly opposite the Buck Hotel, and two doors south of Karmann's Hardware Store, Lebanon, Pa., 1864-1865.

BASSLER BOYER, Attorney-at-Law, OFFICE removed to Cumberland street, one door east of the Lebanon Valley Bank, opposite the Buck Hotel, Lebanon, Pa.

A. T. WEIDLE, ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office North West corner of Water and Market Streets, LEBANON, PA.

GRANT WEIDMAN, ATTORNEY AT LAW, OFFICE in Cumberland street, one door east of the Lebanon Hotel, in the office late of his father, Capt. John Weidman, dec'd.

REMOVAL. A. STANLEY ULRICH, ATTORNEY AT LAW, HAS REMOVED his office to the building, one door east of Leander's Store, opposite the Washington Hotel, Lebanon, Pa.

L. R. DEEG'S LIQUOR STORE, Market Square, opposite the Market House, Lebanon, Pa. THE undersigned respectfully informs the public...

THE COPARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE EXISTING between C. W. RANK and W. R. RANK, in the Wholesale Tobacco Business, under the firm of LOWER & RANK, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

H. W. RANK, of the late firm of Lower & RANK, will continue the business as heretofore, and all persons indebted to the late firm will be satisfied by either of the partners at No. 140 North Third St., Philadelphia, July 1, 1864.

George Hoffmann, LEBANON COUNTY TRANSPORTATION LINE, By Lebanon Valley Railroad.

REMOVAL. W. M. SNYDER, TAILORING, WOULD respectfully inform the citizens of Lebanon and vicinity, that he has removed his Tailoring Establishment to the room lately occupied by Dr. F. F. Schenck, in Walnut street, three doors south of Dr. Hollinger's Hotel, next door to John D. Krause's store, where he will make up the most fashionable and elegant clothing...

COOPERING. THIS subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has commenced the COOPERING Business at the corner of Market and Walnut streets, opposite a square south of the First Reformed Church, Tubers, Hides, Barrels, Hoopheads, Casks, or anything in like kind, made on reasonable terms. He solicits the patronage of the public, feeling confident that his work will compare favorably in workmanship and price with any other.

NOTICE. THIS is to notify all Carpenters and Cabinet makers that all bills for work done by the Directors of the Poor for poor persons dying within a circle of five miles of the Poor House, as well as all persons who will be furnished with Coffins free of expense on application to the Street at the Poor House.

PRIVATE SALE. THE subscriber offers at Private Sale a TWO STORY FRAME DWELLING, situated on a lot of GROUND, (being lot No. 1 in the subdivision of Lebanon, Pa., by the late Wm. R. RANK, and sold to the North-Western part of said Borough, for particulars apply to JOSEPH H. UHLER, Lebanon, Pa., 1865.

VOL. 16--NO. 42. LEBANON, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1865. WHOLE NO. 824

BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR COFFEE

Whitely tried Coffee of all the various brands. Remember "BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR" - at the head of the list. It is not like others that are "SOLD EVERYWHERE."

George L. Browning

No. 20 Market Street, Camden, N. J. This coffee is not composed of poisonous drugs, it contains nothing deleterious; many persons use this coffee and it does not make them sick.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscriptions Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three tenths per cent. interest, per annum, known as the

SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN

These Notes are issued under date of August 16th, 1864, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent. Gold Bearing Bonds.

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent., including gold interest from Nov., which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, at current rates, including interest, about ten per cent. per annum, besides its exemption from State and municipal taxation, which is not true of any other property.

Wistar's Balm of Wild Cherry

ONE OF THE OLDEST AND MOST RELIABLE REMEDIES IN THE WORLD FOR Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

Wistar's Balm of Wild Cherry

General has the use of this remedy become, and so popular in every where, that it is necessary to repeat its virtues to the public as a valuable remedy in the abundant and voluntary testimony of the many who from long suffering, settled diseases, have by its use been restored to pristine vigor and health.

FARMERS TAKE NOTICE!

Still continue to manufacture those MANURES, which for the last seven or eight years have given such general satisfaction to those who have used them; and we refer to the

TASKER & CLARK

Super Phosphate of Lime, made from finely ground Bones, Peruvian Guano, and other foreign ingredients, and sold at the low price of $40 per ton of 2000 lbs. Also the MEAT AND BONE COMPOST, made from refuse Meat, Bone and other offal from the Slaughter House - Price $40 per ton.

TAILORING REMOVAL

W. M. SNYDER, WOULD respectfully inform the citizens of Lebanon and vicinity, that he has removed his Tailoring Establishment to the room lately occupied by Dr. F. F. Schenck, in Walnut street, three doors south of Dr. Hollinger's Hotel, next door to John D. Krause's store, where he will make up the most fashionable and elegant clothing...

LEBANON TOBACCO FACTORY

MISSOURI TOBACCO FACTORY, for the manufacture of Plug Tobacco. Our stock is Missouri leaf, made up by Missouri hands, and our machinery is of the latest and most efficient character. We shall determinedly adhere to the policy of making and selling only and dealers, merchants and consumers, with the privilege of having directly from the manufacturer, thus saving to themselves the intermediate profits which are so often exacted by the public and his old customers to give him a call. Terms cash. Lebanon, March 25, 1866.

GOOD AND PURE ARTICLE OF TOBACCO

FOR RENT

TWO ROOMS on the second floor of Frank's Building adjoining the Advertiser's Office, are offered for Rent for the month of April. These rooms are well located on an office or mechanical business. Apply to F. FUNCK, Lebanon, Feb. 15, 1865.

The Phoenix Pectoral WILL CURE YOUR COUGH

ADOLPHUS REINOEHL, CHARLES H. MELLY. A Friendly Invitation. To all dealers or purchasers of LUMBER & COAL

LUMBER YARD OF REINOEHL & MELLY

AT THE UNION CANAL, on the East and West sides of Market Street, North Lebanon Borough. THE subscribers take pleasure in informing the citizens of Lebanon and surrounding country, that they are daily receiving additional supplies of the

Administrators' Notice

NOTICE is hereby given that Letters of Administration on the Estate of ELIZABETH STICKLER, dec'd, late of the township of Millbrook, Lebanon County, Pa., have been granted to the undersigned, of the township, county and State aforesaid. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned, who will present them without delay.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing between Samuel Stewart, Adolphus Reinoehl, Charles H. Melly, trading in the lumber and coal business, in North Lebanon Borough, under the firm of Reinoehl, Melly & Co., and one of the said partners, Samuel Stewart, who has since the withdrawal of Samuel Stewart, the business will be continued at the old stand, by Adolphus Reinoehl and Charles H. Melly, under the firm of Reinoehl & Melly. The books of the old firm will be closed on the 1st of April, 1865, and all debts or having claims, are requested to call and make settlement.

PRIVATE SALE OF A Brickyard & Building Lots

THE subscriber offers at private sale, a valuable tract of land in North Lebanon Borough, on the line of North Lebanon Borough, on Pine Street, containing about 2 ACRES. This tract is expected to be a valuable one, and is offered for sale at a low price. For particulars apply to HENRY ARNOLD, Lebanon, Feb. 8, 1865.

Wistar's Balm of Wild Cherry

ONE OF THE OLDEST AND MOST RELIABLE REMEDIES IN THE WORLD FOR Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

Wistar's Balm of Wild Cherry

General has the use of this remedy become, and so popular in every where, that it is necessary to repeat its virtues to the public as a valuable remedy in the abundant and voluntary testimony of the many who from long suffering, settled diseases, have by its use been restored to pristine vigor and health.

FASHIONABLE TAILORING

MICHAEL HOFFMAN, respectfully informs the Citizens of Lebanon, that he has REMOVED his TAILORING Business to Cumberland Street, two doors east of the Lebanon Hotel, where all persons who wish garments made up in the most fashionable style and best manner, are invited to call on him. He has also a large stock of Tailors' Trimmings, and is prepared to make up the most fashionable and elegant clothing, in the most skillful manner. He has also a large stock of Tailors' Trimmings, and is prepared to make up the most fashionable and elegant clothing, in the most skillful manner.

Blanket Shaws, CLOTH WOODEN CLOTHING

THE subscriber would respectfully inform his friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform her friends, and the public in general, that she has, in connection with her Tailoring Business, taken the agency for

Miscellaneous

BLITZ OUTDONE. "Once upon a time" as the "story tellers" have it, we were sailing down the great "father of waters," the Mississippi, in the beautiful steamer "Goddess of Liberty," bound from St. Louis to New Orleans. We had on board the usual variety of passengers; but for some unexplainable cause an unusual degree of monotony prevailed. "Tis true, the card-players were at work, with their accustomed energy; and little groups of passengers were earnestly engaged upon the quiet game of checkers, or draughts, while one little circle only was engaged in that old, but now popular game of chess. A large number of passengers were sitting in the forward saloon, gazing listlessly at each other, apparently in satisfaction.

Being of an active temperament, and fond of excitement, we could not suffer ennui upon such an occasion to get the upper hand of us, so with a view to kicking up some kind of a rumpus, for our own sake and the relief of the passengers generally, we walked boldly into the captain's office, and laid the whole matter before the distinguished commander.

"We have no music on board," the captain remarked, or we might wake the passengers up with a little "hop on the light fantastic."

"Well," we replied (looking earnestly over the list in the passenger roll) "we must have some excitement for the passage is really wearisome."

Just at that moment, our eyes fell upon a name distinguished in the annals of diabolism - no less a personage than the celebrated wizard and ventriloquist, Signor Blitz. Here was indeed reason for crying "Bureka," and forthwith, we proceeded in search of the mysterious wizard. In a few moments, the Signor was found, quivering in his state-room, the whole difficulty eloquently (the occasion called for the eloquence) laid before him. Blitz consented to create a little harmless fun, as he termed it; but the sequel proved it more funny than harmless. But, without anticipating the wizard entered the stow-away's apartment and providing himself with a few slices of bread and obtaining some of his little animated assistances, he announced himself prepared; but remarked that we were to select the person for on that selection depends the fun. We entered the forward saloon noiselessly, arm in arm, and advanced toward the quiet, sleepy-looking passengers, who were collected together without aim or object. While running our eyes rapidly around the saloon in search of a victim, our attention was attracted towards a young man dressed in a deep suit of black, who was deeply absorbed in a book, which he was attentively perusing.

We "nudged" the Signor; pointed significantly at the young man, and received from the former an affirmative answer, by a quiet movement of the head. The Signor picked up a stool, seated himself unceremoniously between the young stranger, and the end of the table near by. This movement arrested the attention of the stranger who looked up inquiringly.

"You seem to be much interested in your book sir," the Signor remarked.

"Yes, sir," he replied, "a good book is to me preferable to a good dinner."

Signor - "That depends upon the length of time you have fasted. By the way I did not see you at the dinner table?"

"Stranger - "O, sir, I preferred my book."

Signor - "One dollar is high for a single meal, I commend your economy."

Stranger (indignantly), I eat when hungry, whatever the price!"

Signor - "I spoke of economy, because I observed some provisions in your hat!"

Stranger (in an offended tone.) - "Provisions with me; I always eat at the public table, and pay for it too!"

The whole attention of the passengers was now centered upon the speakers, and considerable interest manifested by the company in the peculiar subject under discussion.

Signor (lifting the young gent's hat from his side, and passing it under the eyes of the entire group.) - "I do not wish to offend you, sir, but I see here quite a supply of provisions!"

This created not a little merriment at the expense of the stranger, which soon increased to a laugh, as the wizard drew aside slices of the stale bread from the young man's hat.

The stranger bit his lips in confusion and fixed his gaze upon the Signor; then, with a smile, got up from his seat, and moved towards the state-room.

"Frightened?" says one of the lookers-on, smiling at the sudden disappearance of the stranger.

Stranger (emerging from the state-room.) - "No, not frightened, exactly. I merely put away my book because there is going to be some fun aboard, and when there's fun about I want to be counted, in for that's my forte."

Looker-on (enthusiastically), "good bravo, bravo! Go it, little 'un, you're a whole lot for him!"

The stranger had barely finished his remarks, when a loud yelping and snapping was heard at his heels, the passengers began to scatter think-

Miscellaneous

BLITZ OUTDONE. "Once upon a time" as the "story tellers" have it, we were sailing down the great "father of waters," the Mississippi, in the beautiful steamer "Goddess of Liberty," bound from St. Louis to New Orleans. We had on board the usual variety of passengers; but for some unexplainable cause an unusual degree of monotony prevailed. "Tis true, the card-players were at work, with their accustomed energy; and little groups of passengers were earnestly engaged upon the quiet game of checkers, or draughts, while one little circle only was engaged in that old, but now popular game of chess. A large number of passengers were sitting in the forward saloon, gazing listlessly at each other, apparently in satisfaction.

Being of an active temperament, and fond of excitement, we could not suffer ennui upon such an occasion to get the upper hand of us, so with a view to kicking up some kind of a rumpus, for our own sake and the relief of the passengers generally, we walked boldly into the captain's office, and laid the whole matter before the distinguished commander.

"We have no music on board," the captain remarked, or we might wake the passengers up with a little "hop on the light fantastic."

"Well," we replied (looking earnestly over the list in the passenger roll) "we must have some excitement for the passage is really wearisome."

Just at that moment, our eyes fell upon a name distinguished in the annals of diabolism - no less a personage than the celebrated wizard and ventriloquist, Signor Blitz. Here was indeed reason for crying "Bureka," and forthwith, we proceeded in search of the mysterious wizard. In a few moments, the Signor was found, quivering in his state-room, the whole difficulty eloquently (the occasion called for the eloquence) laid before him. Blitz consented to create a little harmless fun, as he termed it; but the sequel proved it more funny than harmless. But, without anticipating the wizard entered the stow-away's apartment and providing himself with a few slices of bread and obtaining some of his little animated assistances, he announced himself prepared; but remarked that we were to select the person for on that selection depends the fun. We entered the forward saloon noiselessly, arm in arm, and advanced toward the quiet, sleepy-looking passengers, who were collected together without aim or object. While running our eyes rapidly around the saloon in search of a victim, our attention was attracted towards a young man dressed in a deep suit of black, who was deeply absorbed in a book, which he was attentively perusing.

We "nudged" the Signor; pointed significantly at the young man, and received from the former an affirmative answer, by a quiet movement of the head. The Signor picked up a stool, seated himself unceremoniously between the young stranger, and the end of the table near by. This movement arrested the attention of the stranger who looked up inquiringly.

"You seem to be much interested in your book sir," the Signor remarked.

"Yes, sir," he replied, "a good book is to me preferable to a good dinner."

Signor - "That depends upon the length of time you have fasted. By the way I did not see you at the dinner table?"

"Stranger - "O, sir, I preferred my book."

Signor - "One dollar is high for a single meal, I commend your economy."

Stranger (indignantly), I eat when hungry, whatever the price!"

Signor - "I spoke of economy, because I observed some provisions in your hat!"

Stranger (in an offended tone.) - "Provisions with me; I always eat at the public table, and pay for it too!"

The whole attention of the passengers was now centered upon the speakers, and considerable interest manifested by the company in the peculiar subject under discussion.

Signor (lifting the young gent's hat from his side, and passing it under the eyes of the entire group.) - "I do not wish to offend you, sir, but I see here quite a supply of provisions!"

This created not a little merriment at the expense of the stranger, which soon increased to a laugh, as the wizard drew aside slices of the stale bread from the young man's hat.

The stranger bit his lips in confusion and fixed his gaze upon the Signor; then, with a smile, got up from his seat, and moved towards the state-room.

"Frightened?" says one of the lookers-on, smiling at the sudden disappearance of the stranger.

Stranger (emerging from the state-room.) - "No, not frightened, exactly. I merely put away my book because there is going to be some fun aboard, and when there's fun about I want to be counted, in for that's my forte."

Looker-on (enthusiastically), "good bravo, bravo! Go it, little 'un, you're a whole lot for him!"

The stranger had barely finished his remarks, when a loud yelping and snapping was heard at his heels, the passengers began to scatter think-

Miscellaneous

BLITZ OUTDONE. "Once upon a time" as the "story tellers" have it, we were sailing down the great "father of waters," the Mississippi, in the beautiful steamer "Goddess of Liberty," bound from St. Louis to New Orleans. We had on board the usual variety of passengers; but for some unexplainable cause an unusual degree of monotony prevailed. "Tis true, the card-players were at work, with their accustomed energy; and little groups of passengers were earnestly engaged upon the quiet game of checkers, or draughts, while one little circle only was engaged in that old, but now popular game of chess. A large number of passengers were sitting in the forward saloon, gazing listlessly at each other, apparently in satisfaction.

Being of an active temperament, and fond of excitement, we could not suffer ennui upon such an occasion to get the upper hand of us, so with a view to kicking up some kind of a rumpus, for our own sake and the relief of the passengers generally, we walked boldly into the captain's office, and laid the whole matter before the distinguished commander.

"We have no music on board," the captain remarked, or we might wake the passengers up with a little "hop on the light fantastic."

"Well," we replied (looking earnestly over the list in the passenger roll) "we must have some excitement for the passage is really wearisome."

Just at that moment, our eyes fell upon a name distinguished in the annals of diabolism - no less a personage than the celebrated wizard and ventriloquist, Signor Blitz. Here was indeed reason for crying "Bureka," and forthwith, we proceeded in search of the mysterious wizard. In a few moments, the Signor was found, quivering in his state-room, the whole difficulty eloquently (the occasion called for the eloquence) laid before him. Blitz consented to create a little harmless fun, as he termed it; but the sequel proved it more funny than harmless. But, without anticipating the wizard entered the stow-away's apartment and providing himself with a few slices of bread and obtaining some of his little animated assistances, he announced himself prepared; but remarked that we were to select the person for on that selection depends the fun. We entered the forward saloon noiselessly, arm in arm, and advanced toward the quiet, sleepy-looking passengers, who were collected together without aim or object. While running our eyes rapidly around the saloon in search of a victim, our attention was attracted towards a young man dressed in a deep suit of black, who was deeply absorbed in a book, which he was attentively perusing.

We "nudged" the Signor; pointed significantly at the young man, and received from the former an affirmative answer, by a quiet movement of the head. The Signor picked up a stool, seated himself unceremoniously between the young stranger, and the end of the table near by. This movement arrested the attention of the stranger who looked up inquiringly.

"You seem to be much interested in your book sir," the Signor remarked.

"Yes, sir," he replied, "a good book is to me preferable to a good dinner."

Signor - "That depends upon the length of time you have fasted. By the way I did not see you at the dinner table?"

"Stranger - "O, sir, I preferred my book."

Signor - "One dollar is high for a single meal, I commend your economy."

Stranger (indignantly), I eat when hungry, whatever the price!"

Signor - "I spoke of economy, because I observed some provisions in your hat!"

Stranger (in an offended tone.) - "Provisions with me; I always eat at the public table, and pay for it too!"

The whole attention of the passengers was now centered upon the speakers, and considerable interest manifested by the company in the peculiar subject under discussion.

Signor (lifting the young gent's hat from his side, and passing it under the eyes of the entire group.) - "I do not wish to offend you, sir, but I see here quite a supply of provisions!"

This created not a little merriment at the expense of the stranger, which soon increased to a laugh, as the wizard drew aside slices of the stale bread from the young man's hat.

The stranger bit his lips in confusion and fixed his gaze upon the Signor; then, with a smile, got up from his seat, and moved towards the state-room.

"Frightened?" says one of the lookers-on, smiling at the sudden disappearance of the stranger.

Stranger (emerging from the state-room.) - "No, not frightened, exactly. I merely put away my book because there is going to be some fun aboard, and when there's fun about I want to be counted, in for that's my forte."

Looker-on (enthusiastically), "good bravo, bravo! Go it, little 'un, you're a whole lot for him!"

The stranger had barely finished his remarks, when a loud yelping and snapping was heard at his heels, the passengers began to scatter think-

A FAMILY PAPER FOR TOWN AND COUNTRY. IS PRINTED AND PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY WM. M. BRIDGES, 24 Story of Funk's New Building, Cumberland St. At One Dollar and Fifty Cents a Year. ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at the usual rates. 25 CENTS PER LINE FOR ONE SQUARE. RATES OF POSTAGE. In Lebanon County, postage free. In Pennsylvania, 2 cents per copy. Out of this State, 6 cents per copy. If the postage is not paid in advance, rates are double.

BURNING OF THE U. S. TRANSPORT STEAMER GENERAL LYON, OFF HATARAS.

Over Five Hundred Lives Lost. (From