The Post Office was closed from Friday evening until Sunday morning, when it was re-opened for two hours, in respect to the memory of the President whose remains were being taken through the state.

On Wednesday business was generally suspended in this place. All the bells of the town were tolled from twelve to three o'clock, and flags and buildings draped in mourning. Appropriate services were held in St. John's Reformed and Salem's Lutheran Churches, at the same hours, in respect to President Lincoln, whose obsequies were then taking place at Washington. Services suitable for the occasion were also held in the other Churches on Sunday. The Churches are all appropriately decorated.

On Friday business was suspended by many persons in this place, and on Saturday the suspension was general, a token of respect to President Lincoln, whose remains were being taken through our State.

A great many of our citizens visited Harrisburg on Saturday morning to see the remains of President Lincoln. Business in town was also pretty generally suspended during the day. On Saturday noon the remains were taken from Harrisburg to Philadelphia, and placed in Independence Hall where they remained over Sunday.

Horse stealing is carried on to an alarming extent in some of the neighboring counties. There appear to be organized gangs engaged in the business, and under the circumstances we advise all our people to keep their stock of this kind under lock and key. After the horse is stolen it is too late to lock the door.

The reports last week that Booth, the murderer of the President, was in the neighborhood of Reading, were all groundless.

For many years there were not so many people in Lebanon as on Monday a week. It was Easter and a fine day which brought many; Court brought many more, and anxiety to learn particulars regarding the death of President Lincoln contributed to still swell the number.

Rev. Mr. Gotwald, Pastor of Zion's Lutheran Congregation of this place, has received and accepted a call from a congregation in Dayton, Ohio.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CIRCUS.—On Wednesday of next week, Stone & Rosston's Combination Circus will visit this place, for the purpose of exhibiting their novel performances. We learn from our exchanges, that the corps of performers attached to this establishment, includes those of the highest order of talent, and that the horses and ponies are unsurpassed in point of beauty, and are disciplined to a degree truly astonishing. A troupe of Iroquois Indians and the celebrated Gymnast, Signor Ferdinand, are also included in this great combination of talent.

A daily paper tells ladies how to make "an extemporized trellis." Instead of throwing away an old hoop-spring, suspend it in your garden across a pole four feet high. Plant the seeds of the Madia vine, morning glory, nasturium, or the like, and in a very little while, over this rejected trellis, creeps a mass of beautiful and living bloom. Nothing more suitable for the purpose could be made.

DEPLORABLE PROCEEDINGS.—We learn that on Friday last a portion of the citizens of Palmyra, this county, were subjected to a series of outrages on the part of a number of men, mounted on horseback from Union Deposit, Dauphin county, which receive, as they deserve, the reprobation of all good citizens. A man named Hollingworth, Postmaster at Union Deposit, and paymaster at the Corel, together with several men named Ray and Spangler, also connected with the military camp for government horses there, were the parties perpetrating the outrages. Their visit to Palmyra was inaugurated with threats of death and destruction of property to all who would not hang crape to their doors and windows within 10 minutes, professing to have authority from the government for their proceedings. They then entered the store of John J. Brightbill, and asking for the proprietor, arrested him with "you are my prisoner," and ordered him to get ready to proceed to Harrisburg under arrest; ordered the customers from the store, telling them that the government ordered the arrest of the proprietor and the use of the Store. They continued through the village entering houses, frightening and threatening men, women and children, (no doubt being fully armed,) when meeting Mr. Aaron Segner, a quiet and respectable citizen, they attacked him without provocation, charging him with being "a d—d copperhead." After abusing him roundly they ordered him to mount one of their horses at the risk of his life, and upon his refusing they seized him by the throat, dragged him on the street, struck him in the face, and threatened to kill him.—They also attacked Mr. Writmer, the principal of the Academy, dispersed his school, and caused him to close it.

All the people thus maltreated are good and upright citizens; spoke no harmful language, mourned the death of President Lincoln in sincerity and truth.—But they were Democrats. If such things continue to be permitted, or are allowed to go unpunished, mob-law and violence may soon be expected to be the rule, and not the exception.

We also learn that the same party, previous to reaching Palmyra, visited Derry, and among other outrages, obliged Peter Swanger, under threats, to purchase $8 worth of crape to hang round his house and person; a Mr. Lentz was also abused; and a Mr. Zuber was shamefully maltreated, and his life and property threatened.

As good citizens, we understand, that the persons upon whom these outrages were committed, not only at the instance of their friends, but also of some of the opposition party, intend appealing to the law, for a redress of their grievances and protection in the future, and hence under the circumstances we speak as mildly of the outrages as possible.

On the outside we publish what is said to be the most correct account of the assassination of President Lincoln that has yet been given to the public. It differs in many respects from the reports heretofore given.

This Court, which was in session in this place last week, took appropriate notice of the death of Mr. Lincoln. A minute, expressive of the sentiments inspired by the occasion, was reported and entered on the records. The Court was also ordered to be draped in mourning for a period of six months, and the Court House bell to be tolled during the obsequies on Wednesday.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Saturday, a mason, named Fay, was at work repairing a railroad bridge between Port Carbon and St. Clair, when he perceived two trains coming in opposite directions. He immediately slipped down through the trellis work of the bridge, but seems to have lost his presence of mind, and clasped both arms around one of the rails. The wheels of one train cut off one of his hands at the wrist and on the other side his arm near the shoulder. He dropped into the water below, from which he was soon taken and his wounds dressed.—He is now doing as well as can be expected from the nature of his injuries.

A supply of fresh and reliable Sorghum, or Chinese Sugar Cane Seed, for making molasses, just received, and for sale at Dr. George Ross' Drug Store, opposite the Court House.

At the earnest solicitation of a number of our citizens, Major A. R. Calhoun has consented to pay us another visit, on Friday and Saturday evening, the 28th and 29th inst. It is unnecessary to say that the Major is a fine speaker, and that he was fully evinced by his lecture on "Prison Life in the Land of the Chivalry," delivered in the Court House on the 18th inst. The paintings by Russell Smith are magnificent, and every precaution will be taken to make the Stereoscopic a complete success. The proceeds of the lectures will be devoted to the benefit of our disabled and wounded soldiers.

Dr. D. B. Bucher has opened a new Wine and Liquor Store at his residence in Cumberland Street, in this borough. See his advertisement.

An explosion occurred at Weimer's Machine Works, on Monday afternoon, while casting, which scattered the molten iron about in every direction, burning number of hands. Mr. Bright, the master moulder, is burned quite severely. The explosion caused an alarm of fire, which brought out the Fire Companies.
