How Dogs Get Mad.—Nine-tenths of the people are in ignorance in regard to the promonition of madness in dogs. One of the earliest signs of madness in dogs, and one which should always arouse attention on the part of those in charge of dogs, is a sullenness combined with fidgetness. When it means rabies (madness,) the dog retires to his bed for several hours, and may be seen curled up, his face buried between his paws and his breast. He shows no disposition to bite, and will answer to the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call, but he answers slowly and sultage to the properties in the call to the properties in the call to the properties in the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these to tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these to tivity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these to tivit which it cleanses the blood and cures these to this when place ports in the which it cleanses the blood and cures these to the place prove the sick, for the public have been frauds upon the sick, for the public have been fraud the call, but he answers slowly and sullenly. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEE-WEED TONIC

Mandrake Pills.

Tis true that "Consumption can be cured;" but when this fact is asserted, it is proper to add that if the disease has reached its very last stage, a cure is almost or quite impossible. There is no creative power in medicines. When the lungs have been destroyed by disease, no human art can restore them or create them anew. When lizards have lost their tails, and lobsters have parted with their claws, nature favors these animals by refitting them with new members; but the case is different with man. The destruction of any of his members is final; they are not to be recovered by any natural or artificial contrivances.—Three undisputed facts show how important it is for consumptive persons to avail themselves of the means of cure, before decomposition of the lungs has advanced so far as to make recovery hopeless.

It can be proved by unimpachable evidence that SCHENGE'S PULMONIC SYRUP has cured more persons suffering with diseases of the lungs, than any other medicine. This proparation has been before the public for more than twenty years, during which time many hypothetical "cures for consumption" have acquired temporary credit, which in most cases was of very short duration, but Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup has maintained its popularity, endured the test of innumerable trials, and triumphed over all opposition, It now enjoys an established reputation, and its claims to public favor, and confidence admit of no dispute.

ITS OPERATION.

It now enjoys an established reputation, and its claims to public favor, and confidence admit of no dispute.

ITS OPERATION.

This medicine heals abscesses and tubercles on the lungs, prevents the unhealthy secretions of the broadist the control of the lungs, prevents the unhealthy secretions of the broadist those, and removes from them those accumulations of morbid matter which cause oppression of the breast, difficulty of breathing, &c. It also soothes those irritations of the respiratory organs which produce coughs, and which if neglected, are very apt to terminate in consumption. In connection with the Pulmonic Syrup, and to assist the operation thereof SCHENCK'S SEE-WEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS

Are sometimes prescribed. In certain cases these medicines are useful and powerful anxiliaries. They give tone to the stomad, and strength to the whole system; they inote the liver to healthy, action, correct the vitlated file and parify the blood, and thus remove that scronlogs condition of the body which prepares the way, for consumption, liver complaint and other dangerous disorders.

Bach medicine is accompanied by printed directions, in four different languages—Buglish, French, German and Spanish.

Consumptive should understand that the great danger is in delay. Their disease is a perilous one, and it admits of no parleying or dilatory movements. If you neglect to apply for relief until all the resources of nature are exhausted—until the lungs are completely wasted away—it is too much to expect that any medicine can help you. Dr. Schenck is acquainted with all the phase of Pulmonary diseases; for many years his attention has been confined to this branch of medical practice, and he has examined more lungs than all the physicians in Philadelphia taken together. It is time is completely occupied, day and night, in the examination of diseased lungs, in giving advice, and in traveling from one city to another to attend to his numerous patients; and he has suites of rooms in several different cities expressly for t and the extent of Pulmonary disease in all its variations.

In almost every square of Philadelphia there are persons who have been cured of Consumption in its several stages by the use of Dr. Schenck's medicines. Blany persons have been restored to health by these medicines after being combed to their beds, reduced to mere skeletons, and troubled with cough, night sweets, hertic fever, and all the other indications of an advanced stage of the disease. It cannot be doubted that many lives have been saved by a timely resort to those remedies. It is true that, in all cases where ourseance effected, the patient must have some lungs remaining, for if, as was intimated above, the lungs have been destroyed by the disease, a cure is not to be expected. But thousands of VICTIMS OF CONSUMPTION have descended to their graves who might have been

be expected. But thousands of VICTIMS OF CONSUMPTION have descended to their graves who might have been cured if they had come to Dr. Schonck in time and placed themselves under his directions. It is a common error, and often a fatal one, to obtain from "regular op hiscians" and others some medicine to allay the cough, until such medicine loses its effect—and then the patient sinks and dies. It is not denied that some who take Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup die also. Perhaps they commence too late. It was stated at the outset that this medicine cannot create new lungs. That is a work which belongs not to human art, but to Divine Omnipotence. All that Dr. Schenck claims for his medicines is their ability to regulate and invigorate the whole system to ripen the abscesses and facilitate the discharge of the morbid matter, to relax the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes and to dialodge from those tubes the rough phiegm or purulent matter which obstructs them, and produces serious diseases of the organs of respiration.

him, and have your lungs examined. He will inform you, without reserve, whether he can cure you or not.

The following persons are ready to testify that they have been cured by the use of Dr. Schenck's medicines. The list might be greatly extended if it were deemed necessary, but physicians and patients who may desire to have a mountain of ovidence, may be gratified by calling at Dr. Schenck's Office; No. 39 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Green of Tacony, eight miles above Philadelphia, was confined to bed with Consumption in its last stage; his family and neighbors were expecting his death daily. He procured Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, less with a hope of saving his life than to relieve his sufferings by lo sening the tough phiegm which so obstructed his breathing that it required constant fanning to prevent suffocation. On examination, Dr. Schenck found one of his lungs very much diseased from top to bottom, and a large cavity in the centre. The other lung was nearly sound. He would have died within a few days without the help of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, for many consumptives die in the same way with nearly one lung sound, though their lives might be saved by the use of this medicine. Mr. Green reports that his health is now excellent, in fact, that he is as well as ever. He gave Dr. Schenck a certificate of these facts, confirmed by some of his neighbors, and the Odd Fellow's Lodge, at Holmesburg, Pa., of which he is a member.

Mrs. Leibert, No. 1009 Parish street, Philadelphin, was also pronounced by her physicians to be in the last stage of Consumption. She was confined to her bed; she had a violent cough, bleeding from the lungs, &c. Her liver was also extensively diseased. She was recommended to try Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Thomas L. Janeway. She did try it and she is now well. She gave a certificate, confirmed by Dr. Janeway, and she is willing at all times te give inquirers any additional information in relation to her case.

Dr. Schenck cured two persons at St. J sumption.

Mrs. Homans No. 930 Race street, was cured of Bronchial Consumption, by Schench's Pulmonic Syrup. She was very low indeed, and nobody believed that she could live a month. She is now well, and quite a fleshy woman. Mrs. Homans has recommended many others to use this medicine, numbers of whom have been cared.

others to use this medicine, numbers of whom have been cured.

Mr. Charles G. Johnson of Bristol, Pa., was also cured of Consumption by Dr. Schenck's Syrap. Almost every person in that place will testify that he was a walking skeleton. Drs. Philips, Malons and Dorrance all gave him up as incurable. While in Dr. Schenck's office, the other stay, he informed a gentleman that he could span has thigh with his thursh and finger. He now weights 200 pounds. He certifies that after taking ene dozen bottles of the Syrup, an internal abscess broke, and he spit up a large quantity of matter so offensive that no one could stay in the room.

Mrs. Cavis, No. 1029 Hunter street, Philadelphia, was cured of Consumption by the same means. Both of her lungs were diseased, and in such a case a cure is very rarely effected. By the advice of her physician, she removed to a rural location, (Woodbury, N. J.,) where she remained for several months, but continued to get worse. She came back to Philadeldhia with the expectation of a speedy death. At this time she commencest the nee of Dr. Schenck's Medicines, and was cured. She is now a fine rosy ooking woman.

and was cared. She is now a fine rosy coking woman.

Mr. Edward Hooper, of the firm of Hooper & Townsend, No. 1230 Batterwood street, Philadelphia, was cared of Consumption by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

Mr. Leonard, of the firm of Williard & Leonard, Looking Glass Manufacturers, No. 10 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, was far gone in Consumption.—

He has been taking Dr. Schenck's Medicine, and is now almost well.

Mr. E. T. Frambes, No. 227 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, was cured of Consumption and hermorrhage of the lungs. About two years ago, on a summer's day, while walking in Branklin square, he was taken with bleeding from the lungs, and threw up about haif a gallon of blood. He was removed to M. Brewser's drug store, and from thence to his home. A physician was sent for, who prescribed secundem artem but the patient continued to grow weaker and weaker, discharging a quart of blood daily. Finally he sent for Dr. Schenck, and was cused. He is now a stout and healthy man.

Mrs. Robinson, Eleventh and Spring Garden streets, was cured of Consumption by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.
