The Wrong Passenger.

Rumor has it that a certain knight of the quill from a certain port (not a seaport, however), last week being determined to invest some loose change he had in his pockets in a sleighride over the Beautiful Snow we talk so much about but see so little of this winter. called at a certain house in the aforesaid locality, to invite a gentle cherub of the family to share its pleasures with him, in return for sundry pieces of music she had favored him with on other occasions. She was told he had her consent, but it so happened that the maiden had turned her thoughts from Paradise some time ago, the wherefore of which the gallant youth could not understand. So, to give him another gentle reminder that he was not wanted there, she induced another young lady to take her place in the proposed ride, and when he brought his team to the door, he took what he supposed was the angel of his heart and started off; but he thought it was Em-barrassing all the time that she did not talk until he was some distance out of town, when, to his astonishment, he found he had the wrong girl. We did not learn whether he kept on to his original destination or not, but it is safe to say he returned a sadder if not a wiser man.

ing were read and approved. An essay was read by Miss Weaver, subject, "Improvement." The progress of education was noted; the teacher of lifty years ago and the teacher of to-day were contrasted; the Interest manifested in schools was considered.

An essay was read by Miss Hellman, subject, "Should only practical studies be taught in common schools?" The essayist believes that most of the teacher's time should be devoted to the teaching of practical studies, but that some attention should be given to branches which may not seem to yield immediate benefit. The same views were sustained in the discussion which followed the essay. A lecture on the "Theory and Practice of Teaching" was given by Mr. Kessler; The teacher should study his pupils; he should understand their nature and teach in accordance with it. Love, in most cases, should enable him to govern the school.

CORRESPONDENCE

DEAR SIR: In your issue of the 3rd

To the Editor of THE CARBON ADVOCATE:

inst., there appeared a correspondence beaded "Dots from Parryville," by one "Harpocrates." To the last item of that correspondence, with your kind permission. I would respectfully reply. The gentleman who sent the communication, especially that part of it which relates to the "trio of ladies from Parryville," has certainly been "hard up" for news, or he would not have been so hasty as to pen to your spicy little "Advocate" an item apparently so unimportant. He speaks of an occurrence which he would intimate as laughable, as though it had actually transpired, and yet he admits that his only authority for the facts in the case is Madam Rumor. Methinks that he is related to the old lady. At all events, the whole affair seems to bear the marks of tinkering, which fact leads me to wonder whether "Harpocrates" is not a tin-Smith, or some other kind of a Smith! The gentleman is evidently unacquainted with the ladies of Parryville, or he would not be gul ty of such an intimation as he has made, viz: that the ladies of Parryville are not equestrienne. And then again, such a funny way of putting it! Says he, " While one proceeded to turn the horse the other two attempted to turn the carriage" !! As though the turning of the horse did not necessitate the turning of the carriage ! It is really a novel thing to hear such a rendering of turning horses. The who affair has the appearance of a mere " get up," and bears the impress of a joke rather than a stern reality. I cannot for a moment suppose that "Harpocrates" is in earnest in what he says, and hence trust that be will not harp upon so trivial and uncertain a matter again, but rather that he may imitate the wisdom of Hippocrates, and for the future place his Harp upon the willow.

Respectfully,
Whit Poon-Will. Parryville, Jan. 12.

Town Hall. To the Editor of THE CARBON ADVOCATE:

SIR . I thank you for the privilege of saying a few words on the above subject, as intimated in your last issue. To begin with then, allow me to say that I heartily agree with all you have said upon the subject, and I find that every man with whom I have spoken so agrees with you. The only fault I find with what you said is, that you did not say more and say it strenger. The fact that we should have been at so much expense in building so good a school-house, and, before it is finished, have an attempt made by a single individual to monopolize any part of it for his own benefit to the exclusion of the many, when all alike are paying for it, is simply outrageous. If the School Board have any shadow of right to rent the hall for private purposes, or if there is money to be made by so doing, let them treat with the immediate parties themselves and make all the money they can-they need it. We want no speculating with public property in Lehighton-there has been enough of that sort of thing all over the country already.

But the very spirit and intent of the School law denies any such right to any School Board. I am informed that our School Board have assumed this right, and actually passed a resolution to this effect. Gentlemen, you have done wrong, and the taxpayers won't stand it "no how you can fix it." I have also been informed that Dr. Reber moved this action of the school Board. At first I was somewhat surprised at this, but when it is considered what a delicate position he was placed in, he cannot be much blamed-he had a hall of his own to rent, and if he had shown the least coolness towards the proposition he would have appeared as acting from personal motives. Yes, the Dr. was excusable, and the Board to blame for entertaining the motion.

In this connection, Mr. Editor, allow me to be a tittle personal. It seems to 1 nov 6 '73-tf me that whenever the School Board has seen fit to take any action that happened to meet with the disas proval of the community, Dr. Reber has had to shoulder the lion's share of the blame. Whether this is right and just I know not, I only know that if I could say that I had done as much to improve the schools of our borough as he has done, I should feel very proad - odium thrown in. If this generation does not appreciate his labors the next will. This is simple lustice.

Allow me to conclude with the hope that our hall will never be anything else but a public one.

TAXPAYER. Lehighton, January 13.

No curative agent has had such wide spread sale or given such universal satisfactson. It is a purely vegetable compound, and perfectly safe in unskillful hands.

After thirty years trial, it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability, recom-mended it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsur-passed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standa d Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Astham, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most be an invaluable medicine.
