The Carbon Adrocate.

H. V. MORTHIMER, EDITOR. LEBIGUTON, PA.:

SATURDAY MORNING APRIL 25, 1874.

The House Committeen Public Lands have agreed to recommend the passage of a bill providing that all lands heretofore granted by Congress to railroad companies shall be subject to local taxation the same as similar property of individuals.

The lower house of Congress, on the 13th, by a vote of 178 to 41, passed a bill authorizing publishers to exchange their publications free of charge-and also subscribers in counties where newspapers are published, to recieve them without the payment of postage.

The Philadelphia Board of Trade Monday night adopted resolutions asking the President to veto the Currency bill, now before him. A memorial was also ordered to be sent to Congress stating that the, system of moleties and employment of spies and informers as a part of the customs department has culminated in a league for the deliberate plunder of legitimate commerce, which, if continued, must end in utter anarchy of mercantile interests.

"At a meeting of the Philadelphia Conferance of Baptist Ministers held Monday a series of resolutions were adopted. Among them was the following: "We unwaveringly affirm as ever of old that the immersion of the believer in water, in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, alone is baptism. That baptism is essential to membership in the Scriptural Church and to a proper participation in the Lord's Supper, and we have no right, even by implication, to invite or in any way encourage any persons to come to the table who have not this Scriptural qualification .""

Bismarck is using every means he can think of to prevent emigration from Germany to the United States. Allardt, emigration agent in Saxony for the State of Michigan, is annoyed by the police, acting under orders from Berlin, and many obstacles are put in his way. Silly rumors are also circulated among the peasantry; one being to the effect that the American crown had been offered to Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia, who would enforce a military system here similar to that of Germany. The long and severe military service is a terror to the German peasantry, and a great incentive to emigration. If they could be persuaded that they would have to endure it here many of them would of course stay at home.

The Frontispiece of St. Nicholas for May is a very large and remarkably fine engraving illustrating a passage in Goethe's Poem, "Johanna Sebus." Indeed, this number contains many engravings of unusual excellence: Miss. Hallock has two, one of which is a specimen of her very best work on wood; Miss. Ledyard has two Eytinge and Sheppard each has a capital piece of character drawing; there is a beautiful little thing copied from Michelet, and a picture from one of Hendschell's graceful and dainty sketches. There is even a drawing from a native Japanese artist. The literary contents this month alternate very fairly between the practical and the imaginative. The Departments are all good as usual especially Jack-in-the Pulpit, in which there is a pre-eminently funny story of a lowspirited turtle. The Riddle Box contanis one of the best puzzles of the day, an every-day song, writen in the "Language of the Restless Imps." Many of our readers are aware of the fact that, in this country, seasons of financial distress have been almost always followed by a precious revival of religion. In such times men have seen and felt the uncertain nature of worldly possessions, and the need of more substantial riches, and have instinctively turned their hearts to the claims of their immortal souls. All who have attentively read the papers during the past six months must have observed that everywhere in this land the churches have been reaping a rich harvest of souls, and that many thousands have been added to her communion; and the nation to-day is much the better for it. This is one of the redeeming features of the distress through which we have passed. Many are now rejoicing in having found treasures infinitely better than gold and silver, bonds and stocks: treasures that are enduring. Whilst the commercial horizon was dark, and men's hearts were failing them through fear, the All-wise Ruter of nations. from behind the clouds, looked in mercy upon our troubled land, and a brighter sky opened to the vision of thousands. Let us rejoice that now both church and state are entering upon a brightened future.

April 22nd, says: "The messages of the President vetoing the Senate Currency bill was a surprise to almost everybody, as geptlemen in high official positions apart from the Cabinat had uniformly expressed full belief that the bill would meet his approval. The Cabinet council to-day was confined altogether to a discussion of the bill, the President clearly stating the conclusions at which be had arrived, which it is understood were shared by a majority of the members. The utmost secrecy was observed by the officials at the Executive Mansion regarding the fisal action on the bill, the doors of the secretary's and clerk's office being locked during the copying of the message. The message reached the Senate chamber twenty minutes past two, and was immediately read in presence of a full attendance of Senators. The inflationists were visibly excited, and after the reading was completed gathered in groups, earnestly discussing the question. When the news of the veto reached the House groups were also gathered there; the friends of the bill in that branch, as those in the Senate, openly avowed their dissapointment at the resul'. Some of the opponents of the bill said they would have been satisfied if the President had signed it."

After a long, cold, heavy rain, the sky is again bright, and the air is baimy and genial. Thus is it with life, alternate lights and shadows cover it from its begining to its termination.

The Spring trade in grain is opening unnsually brisk, and the shipments will probably exceed those of any preceding year. There are so many vessels lying in the stream waiting to be loaded, that the elevator is obliged to be run day and night. Thirty-two large vessels have been loaded with grain this month, being nearly three times as many as received their cargoes from this port dur-ing the same time last year.

ing the same time last year. The Spring exhibition of the Penn-sylvanta Horticultural Society, com-mences this week. A grand display of ornamental plants is promised. The society was never more alive and enter-prising than it is to-day, and never is Horticultural Hall more attractive, than when filled with its rare and certify when filled with its rare and costly plants in bloom, and its profusion of roses. The floral treasures of a hundred green-houses and conservatories, ar-ranged with artisticskill and interspersed with hanging baskets, rustic vases, statuary, &c., make a scone of rare interest and beauty. The report of Ex-Fire Marshal Clark, which has just been made, presents the following figures: "The whole number of fires during the past year was 859, an increase of 256 over those reported the previous year. Of the 859 fires, 39 were attended by suspicious circum-stances, indicating design in their stances, indicating design in their origin, 69 were caused by the explosion of coal oil or fluid lamps, 38 were as-cribable to defective flues, 126 to care-lesaness, 40 to spontaneous combustion, 31 to fire-works, 69 to overheated stoves and furnaces, 20 to pickers and dry rooms, 78 to the carcless use of pipes and matches, and 15 to starks trom stacks of saw and planing mills. The Marshal traces many fires to the eating of matches by rats and mice, who pick of matches by fats and mice, who pick them up from the floors where they are carelessly dropped, carry them into their retreats, and by grawing them, produce ignition. He also gives it as his opinion that the passage of a law prohibiting the manufacture of matches other than these which insite when other than those which ignite when struck on specially prepared surfaces, would save many thousands of dollars of property yearly. At a meeting of Faculty of Jefferson
