H. V. NORTHIMER, EDITOR.

LEHIGHTON, PA.

SATURDAY MORNING JUNE 13, 1874.

A special Washington dispatch to the N. Y. Evening Post, dated June 6th, says: It is understood that there is to be a thorough overhauling of all the papers in the Treasury Department relating to the Syndicate business, with a view to ascertaining the truth of some serious charges which have been made. It is also understood that a suit has been begun by the silent partners of Henry Clews & Co. in the Syndicate and foreign fiscal agency business, to compel them to account for the profits of the same; and persons who claim to be familiar with the history of the matter say that there will be disclosures of a startling character as to the means employed to effect the removal of Baring Bros., and the appointment of Jay Cooke & Co. and Henry Clews & Co. as the United States fiscal agents abroad. Some very high officers are said to be implicated, and if the exposure is made it will be another national scandal, and lead to a Congressional investigation.

Woman in the Pulpit.

The subject of woman in the pulpit which came up before the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at St. Louis, last week, was finally disposed of in the adoption, by a vote of 211 to 84, of a resolution declaring that "the Assembly expresses no opinion as to the Scriptural view of woman's right to speak or pray in the social prayer-meetings, and commits the whole subject to the discretion of the pastors and elders of the churches." The only doubt involved in this is as to whether woman's preaching in the pulpit on Sunday is embraced in this resolution. In any event, we think in committing the subject to the discretion of the respective churches interested, giving each church perfect liberty to follow its own inclination, the Assembly has acted wisely. This is a great step forward. Now, where a stupid minister is settled over a congregation, we suggest that a lively entertaining woman preacher be called as associate. The effect, we doubt not, would be magical upon the congregation and beneficial upon the Rev. Dr. Dull. Any way we rejoice to know that every facility is to be afforded for the salvation of sinners, even through the foolishness of woman's preaching.—Christian at Work.

Philadelphia Letter.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6, 1874.

THE CENTENNIAL.

It is now finally settled that Congress will not appropriate a dollar to this object, and the people of Pennsylvania have therefore determined themselves to make the Centennial a success. The National Commission is to be continued, and the money contributed by our people is to be spent in paying the mileage, hotel expenses and refreshment bills of the members comprising this Commission, whenever their duties to the Centennial require their august presence in Philadelphia. They have fastened upon us a large number of persons in lucrative positions, and our money must pay their large salaries. Even some of the States that voted solid against an appropriation by Congress, have the principal and most important offices, and these Commissioners have the assurance to inform and instruct us how the money of Pennsylvania shall be spent. Connecticut voted against us, and while she has subscribed for six shares, making the grand amount of $60, she sent two Commissioners, and Idaho, after having subscribed for one share, favored us with the presence of her Commissioner. The mileage of these gentlemen, not to mention their expenses in this city, must be paid from the Centennial funds.

Is it surprising that our people will not take any more of the stock, and will not contribute money to the cause? They are opposed to strangers and even enemies to their interests, holding the important positions, directing all the workings of the Centennial, and being paid from the funds furnished by Philadelphia. We should insist upon these persons going home, and none but our friends ought to manage the affairs. Common decency would suggest their immediate departure, but they still abide with us, realizing, perhaps, how pleasant it is to receive a large salary for their inadequate services.

THE SALVAGE SUIT.

Captain Brady, after having assumed command of the steamship Pennsylvania, when she had been disabled in a terrible storm on her return trip from Liverpool, has seen proper to decline the gift of the company for his valuable services on that occasion, and he brought an action of salvage for damages. If this suit is decided in his favor, he will make a handsome fortune out of the speculation.

The case has been several weeks before the United States Commissioner, and the testimony of the third officer, Mr. Rivers, is very damaging, if not fatal to Brady's claim. Mr. Rivers was the only person who had the right to take the command, and he was entirely competent for the occasion. The crew had chosen Brady as their commander, and Mr. Rivers wisely refrained from coming in collision with him, because he feared that a mutiny would result, and this would have been the total wrecking of the vessel.

If Captain Brady obtains salvage, the large amount to be paid will probably destroy the company, and American steamships will be once more driven from the ocean. It is currently reported that New York is backing Brady in this suit, as they are jealous of Philadelphia, and they wish to ruin his shipping interests.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The directors of this company have unanimously elected Col. Scott, as he is commonly called, Tom—Scott to the presidency, in place of the late J. Edgar Thomson. This is a wise selection, and one must increase the confidence of all persons in stability of the company. The stock has been for some time selling below par, but this is due to the speculation of brokers, who wish to make money from the fears of outsiders. There are two parties in the Board of Directors, technically called Bulls and Bears. The former are for keeping up stocks, and the latter for knocking them down. The Bears have managed to get and keep the Pennsylvania Railroad low down, but in a short time the stock must advance, particularly when Col. Scott is now president of the company. The road is doing a very large business, and it was never in a more prosperous condition.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS.

There should be a law against these marriages. In England a widower may not marry his deceased wife's sister, and yet cousins are permitted to intermarry at libitum. Victoria was married to her first cousin, and among the nobility such alliances are very common.

We cannot understand why the marriage of a man with his deceased wife's sister is worse than the marriage of blood cousins. First cousins—children of sisters or brothers, or of brother and sister—are as nearly related as the children of the second generation can be. According to the statistics in this country, a large proportion of the deaf and dumb, the blind, the idiotic, are the offspring of married cousins. Surely, the world is large enough to make a selection of a partner for life, without being obliged to confine ourselves to suit a narrow circle as that of our own blood relations. It would be far better for humanity, if the marriage of cousins were prohibited by law, and so much misery would not then be entailed upon our race.

DEATH FROM EATING HAM.

A person recently died in this city from eating uncooked ham. His sufferings were of the most excruciating kind, and he was literally devoured by worms. A powerful microscope revealed in the ham hundreds of trichinae, which were sporting around like immense box constrictors. We advise all persons not to eat meat of any kind unless it has been previously cooked, as there is always more or less danger from the presence of these noxious vermin.

DEATH OF PROMINENT MEN.

This week two gentlemen died, who were engaged in almost identical pursuits. Richard Norris was the celebrated builder of locomotives, and A. Whitney owned an extensive establishment of car wheels. These two men died within twenty-four hours of each other, and their places of business had been for many years almost in the same neighborhood. It is seldom that such a singular coincidence occurs. Norris was the first, and only man who made a locomotive run up and down an incline plane with perfect safety. When the Columbia Railroad was built, there was an incline plane near the Schuylkill, and over it Norris exhibited a locomotive that actually ran down and stopped on the plane at the pleasure of the engineer.

Yours truly, MODOC.

Philadelphia Markets.

Friday Evening, June 5th.

The financial question assumes a varying phase with each succeeding day. Yesterday the inflationists seemed to be buoyant over the fact that a satisfactory compromise was to be effected by the conference committee while advices from Washington to-day show that such a compromise is hopeless, and a feeling of depression exists in consequence. The President is reported to be extremely reticent on the subject, and it appears he is determined to stand on his late veto message, and anything opposed to the spirit of that act will meet his positive disapproval. So everything is at sea again, and daylight is not yet breaking in on the vexatious question. In the meantime the business of the country is adapting itself to the likelihood of a do nothing policy on the part of Congress; and while trade is unmistakably dull, the warm period is sufficient excuse for it. The financial views of Secretary Bristow are not yet known, but it is altogether likely that he is in full accord with the President. Affairs on Third street are assuming a more settled shape, and a more confident feeling is gaining ground.

There was no material change to notice in the money market to-day, and first-class borrowers have no difficulty in obtaining all the funds they require. Call loans rule at 4 to 5 per cent. Prime mercantile paper ranges from 5 to 6 per cent. per annum.

Pennsylvania Railroad dividend script sold at 101 1/4, an advance of 1/4. Pennsylvania Railroad share were the most active on the list. About 13,000 shares Pennsylvania Railroad sold at 48 1/2 to 49, closing at 48 1/2—an advance of 1/4. Reading sold at 56 1/2 to 56 3/4. Lehigh Valley at 60 1/2 to 61, no change. Catawissa preferred at 41, no change; and Oil Creek at 5, no change.

Wheat generally has been very quiet during the past week, and prices of most of the leading articles are weak and unsettled.

The Flour market continues very dull, though the aggregate business is larger than for several days past. The demand is principally to supply the wants of home consumers. Superfine, $4 75 to 5 50; extra, $5 75 to 6 25; Spring Wheat, extra family, $6 75 to 7 50; and higher grades at $8 75 to 10 25.

The receipts and offerings of Wheat, although moderate, are in excess of the demand, and prices are lower. Sales of 30,000 bushels common and choice red at $1 40 to 1 50, amber at $1 45 to 1 58; white at $1 55 to 1 65; No. 1 spring at $1 58 to 1 40; No. 2 spring at $1 35, and white spring at $1 45.

Corn is lower. Sales of 80,000 bushels yellow at 78 to 82c, closing at 82c; and western mixed at the same figures.

Oats are dull and lower. Sales of 75,000 bushels white at 62 1/2 to 63c, and black mixed at 60 to 62c.

Rye comes in slowly, and may be quoted at 98c.

In Cloverseed very little doing, and we quote the article nominal at 8 to 10c. Timothy sells as wanted at $2.90 per bushel.

The Butter market is higher. The demand is equal to the supply. Bradford county fresh pails 35c; New York State fresh pails and tubs 33 to 35c; Michigan choice tubs 50 to 58c; Western and Pennsylvania Roll 22 to 24c.

Lard is firm; sales of western and kettle rendered at 11 1/2 to 11 3/4c. Eggs are firm at 17 to 19c.

"WE And Our Neighbors,"

Is the latest and rarest work by Harriet Beecher Stowe

Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I," and other powerful stories, each the literary sensation of its period; and this story promises a like genuine and wholesome sensation. It bears directly on social topics of interest, embracing the romance of youthful companionships, the brightness of happy home-life, the spicy complications of neighborhood associations, and such follies and profound domestic miseries as have led to the widespread Temperance movement of the day.

Mrs. Stowe is now in the prime of that genius which wrote "Uncle Tom's," ripened by years of study and observation. Her novels are immensely popular, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone outselling by hundreds of thousands any edition of any original work ever published—save the Bible. Her book two years ago, "My wife and I," outdid every contemporary. Such a pure and ennobling story as "We and Our Neighbors" should be read in every home. This new Serial is now running exclusively in the
