

[Written for THE CARBON ADVOCATE.]
To the Memory of Albert Bauman.
BY REDLAW.
Loved friend, like some bright streamlet In its course, Thy life flowed on to meet the sea of death.
Whose chilling waves brought thee no keen remorse,
No cry for mercy with thy latest breath.
For thou wert true and steadfast to thy creed—
O noble heart at peace with all mankind; Exemplified through life in every deed, No heavy claims of guilt thy soul could bind.
Death claimed thee when thy star of life grew bright With radiant hope, while o'er the cloudless sky
No shadow came, foretelling that the night Of long and undisturbed repose was nigh—A last farewell. O sympathetic soul Ere yet the eternal God proclaimed thee free; Thy never swerving faith discerned the goal, Throned on the shores of immortality.
O rest in peace! and as the years roll on, Thy memory still within the grieving heart,
With latent power and prophetic tone,
Will to the mourners life a hope impart.
A hope of life beyond the waves of time,
The never-dying splendor of whose light Shall guide us on to where thy virtues shine, Like some bright star triumphant o'er the night.

St. Nicholas for September opens very seasonably with "The Gentle Angler," a paper on Isaac Walton, and we soon come upon a story about hunting antelopes in the West. Among other reasonable things is a very funny, illustrated poem, called "The Cheated Mosquitoes." The serial stories, "Fast Friends," by J. T. Trowbridge, and "What Might Have Been Expected," by Frank R. Stockton, draw near their conclusions, and the interest of both stories naturally increases. "The Pony Express" is a well-written article, hand-somerly illustrated, showing how messages and letters were carried before railroads and steamboats monopolized the business. Cella Thaxter comes to the defense of the birds in a poem called "The Kittiwakes," and Mrs. Dodge, in some lively verses, tells how Mother Pussy taught her children. There is a handsome illustrated article on "Old Dutch Times in New York," by Col.
T. W. Higginson, and a loving account of the author of "Robinson Crusoe," by Donald G. Mitchell. Lucretia P.
Hale has one of her quaint "Petterkin" concoits, in which that inimitable family have some of their queer experiences.
There is a lavishly illustrated account of the adventures of a certain "Jim Crow," and a poem, curiously illustrated by James C. Beard, in which the verses and a lot of fishes, in company with a little boy and a mermaid, swim bravely about, all over two pages. Sarah O. Jewett contributes a capital story for girls, and there is a romantic tale, "Little Ben and the Sunshin," by Kale Bloede. The departments at the end of the numbers are crammed as usual with wise bits of fun and funny bits of wisdom. Address, Scribner & Co., New York.

—A Nevada paper says: "There was no regular trial in the case of John Flanders yesterday. He had an interview in the woods with a few friends, however, and it is perfectly certain that John won't burgle any more." —"How is business now?" inquired one Nashville merchant of another.
"Dull, fearful dull," was the reply.
"The fact is, nobody buys anything just now but provisions and whiskey—the bare necessities of life, as it were."
—"Quite a hall-storm last night," remarked a guest to a California landlord, as he came down stairs the other morning. "No. Only a few of the boys shooting at a Chinaman, and the balls rattling against the house." —A little boy being asked "What is the chief end of man?" replied:
"The end what's got the head on."

MERCHANT TAILORING.
When in the course of wear and tear of every day life it becomes necessary to dissolve our connection with the suits that have done us so much services in keeping us warm and free from exposure, there is one place where we can find consolation and a friend indeed in our distress. Yes, a place where we can safely put our trust—where there is no need of fear that we shall be cheated, unsuited or unsatisfied—where the fabric is strong and the manufacture superb—where the prices are just and and the style all that can be desired.
There is a charm about an easy, glove-fitting, elastic suit, that is seen and observed by all men. "Where did you get that superb suit of clothes?" "Where did you secure such a splendid fitting garment?" is often asked. There are many tailors, and a number of them are undoubtedly fair samples of the genus homo and also a credit to the craft; but how generally tailors fall in the fitting of garments to the human form; how often a good piece of goods is spoiled in the fit; how sadly and dejectedly many men wander about the streets, feeling the shame the tailor has caused him, in allowing a poor job to go out of his shop, and he the wearer of it! Perhaps his lady love has even jilted him in consequence of his forlorn appearance.
—"Dress makes the man."
The want of it the follow:
Not that a man is less a man for wearing plain clothes, but when he is "dressed up" he should indeed be dressed, not having his clothes hang like bags around him, and wrinkled and distorted in all sorts of shapes, but that he should be clad in fitting garments. Taste should be shown both in the colors and make-up of his suit. Many high priced goods are at such outlandish colors and styles that a man's character is judged by his foolishly selecting those odd goods. A man is known by the company he keeps, and if he insists upon fraternizing with ill-looking and ill-fitting clothes, he will not make his "mark," as a man of taste, that's positive. To be looked upon as possessing the requisite attainments of a tasty gentleman, he must select cloths of suitable colors for his clothing and have them made up in first-class style by Laury & Peters, (post office building), Lehighton, Pa., who have a splendid stock to select from, and where you will obtain that symmetry of fit so necessary to the adornment of the person. Call and examine the most beautiful assortment of cloths, cassimeres and vestings, ever brought into Lehighton, and leave your measure with Laury & Peters. March 14, 1874.

$1000 REWARD for an incurable case of Catarrh. After having suffered, deluged, gargled, hawked, spit and gagged to your entire satisfaction in your useless endeavors to get relief from catarrh, use Briggs' Astringent according to directions. The fifth mass of mucous will be immediately expelled, and the inflamed surface soothed, the eye sparkles with delight, the head feels natural again; hope revives, for a cure is sure to follow the use of this agreeable, scientific and reliable remedy.

Coughs! MUCH has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

Corns! THE excruciating pain produced by corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Improving Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' corn and Bunion remedies are so mild or potent compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and justify merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing agent; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of corned corns, bunions, and all other painful sores, the largest and severest blisters, the most extensive callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of chilblains or frost-bites. The Astringent for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unequalled by any other known. Ask for Briggs' Remedies. Take no other.

Piles! IT'S ALL VERY WELL, those not troubled to think it is notting in this world. For this reason, the unfortunate suffer very little sympathy.
The remedy of Topical is not to be named, but the torture endured by millions who are troubled with internal bleeding, external and itching piles, and other ailments. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

Corns! ARE THE MOST PLENtiful kind of grain in the world.
Every one has a supply, from the three year old child to the grand old man, a healthy, stylish, handsome young lady who daily promotes, fashionable, respectable, middle aged and old maid, dressed up to appear young and gay; dancers, with their partners, and inventible walking sticks; the clergyman, merchant, clerk, artisan and mechanic of all ages and stations, have a full supply of corns, bunions, bad nails, and other objections of the feet, all of which are banished and cured by the use of Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies, Astringent and Curative. Sold by
